See sec. 20 of banking act (sec. 635, infra).

See schedule of statutory offenses under other titles "Banks," preceding this act.

The banking business can be regulated, and it is not only the legislature's power, but its duty, to regulate the business so as to reduce failures to a minimum. The purpose of statutes making it a crime to receive deposits when a bank is known to be insolvent is not only to protect innocent depositors, but to deter bank officers from so conducting a bank as to endanger its solvency. The legislature as an exercise of police power can impose a penalty for the conduct of business by an insolvent bank. The act of March 29, 1907, making it a crime to receive bank deposits knowing the bank to be insolvent, is not unconstitutional, as being a special law for the punishment of offenses. Neither is the law objectionable as class legislation. Ex Parte Pittman, 31 Nev. 43, 22 L. R. A. (N. S.) 266, 99 P. 700.

A receipt of a deposit by the receiving teller of a private bank is the receipt by the private banker, because he is the principal and the teller the agent, and the deposit is the banker's private property. A deposit received by an incorporated bank is the property of the corporation. The president and receiving teller of an incorporated bank acting within the scope of their authority are agents of the corporation, and not of each other, and though the president has larger powers than the teller, and may direct his acts, the president is in no sense the principal, but his acts, within the scope of his powers, are the acts of the corporation. An indictment alleging that accused was the president of an incorporated state bank engaged in the general banking business, and that he feloniously, by and through the receiving teller, received a deposit knowing that the bank was insolvent, does not charge accused directly with receiving the deposit within the act of March 29, 1907 (Stats. 1907, p. 414, c. 189), penalizing every officer of any bank who receives any deposits knowing that the bank is insolvent; and the indictment does not charge accused with the offense under the doctrine of agency, since the actual receipt of the deposit was by the receiving teller, and the receipt in law was by the bank. The act of March 29, 1907 (Stats. 1907, p. 414, c. 189), penalizing every officer of any bank who "receives any deposits" knowing that the bank is insolvent, does not penalize the act of assent to the reception of a deposit, and, where a receiving teller of an insolvent incorporated bank received a deposit, the president, though knowing of the insolvency cannot be punished on the theory that he assented to the reception of the deposit; the word "receives" involving an affirmative act, and does not include an assent to the reception involving only a mere passive acquiescence. Ex Parte Rickey, 31 Nev. 82 (135 A. S. 651, 100 P. 134).

Under an indictment for assenting to the receipt of deposits by an officer of an incorporated bank, contrary to act of March 13, 1909 (Stats. 1909, c. 92), which by section 1 makes it a crime for any bank officer to receive or to assent to the receipt of deposits knowing the bank to be insolvent, and by section 2 provides that any bank officer having authority to close the bank or to prevent the receipt of deposits, who does not exercise such authority when the bank is known to be insolvent, shall be deemed to have assented to the receipt of deposits, and making the failure of such bank within thirty days after the receipt of any deposits prima facie evidence of such officer's knowledge of its insolvency, the presumption of knowledge of insolvency, by its terms applies only to such officers as have power to close the bank or to prevent deposits.

Unless specially authorized by the board of directors, the president or a director of a bank is not legally authorized to close the bank or to prevent the receipt of deposits by the bank. The title of the act of March 13, 1909 (Stats. 1909, c. 92), in addition to referring to the offenses declared, states that its purpose is to establish a rule of evidence in connection therewith. Section 2 makes the failure of a bank within thirty days after the receipt of deposits prima facie evidence of the officers' knowledge of its insolvency, and in a previous part it is provided that any officer having authority to close the bank or to prevent the receipt of deposits, who does not exercise such authority, shall be "deemed" to have assented to the receipt of deposits. Held, that only the part of the section relating to the knowledge imputed from the bank's failure is evidential in character, while the word "deemed," as used in the section, means "adjudged," in the sense of constituting a crime, instead of a rule of evidence. There is nothing in the act of March 13, 1909 (Stats. 1909, c. 92), which by section 1 penalizes the receipt or the assent to the receipt of deposits by a bank officer, who knows the bank to be insolvent, and by section 2 provides that a bank officer having authority to close the bank or to prevent the receipt of deposits, and failing to exercise such authority, is deemed guilty of assenting to the receipt of deposits, which makes an officer of an incorporated bank criminally liable simply because he is such officer with knowledge of the bank's insolvency, or because deposits are being received for the bank by some other officer. Ex Parte Smith, 33 Nev. — (111 P. 930).

6725. Idem—Failure to prevent receipt of deposits.

SEC. 460. If any officer, director, cashier or manager of any incorporated bank, having authority to close any banking institution or to prevent the reception of deposits therein, shall not exercise such authority and prevent the receipt of deposits therein when he knows such bank is insolvent or in failing circumstances, he shall be deemed to have assented to the reception of any deposits received therein, and the failure, suspension or involuntary liquidation of any such bank or banking corporation within thirty days from and after the time of receiving any deposit therein shall be prima facie evidence of knowledge on the part of such officer, director, cashier or manager that such bank was insolvent or in failing circumstances at the time such deposit was received therein; provided, that if any director at any meeting of the directors of any such corporation held during the thirty days next preceding the failure, suspension or involuntary liquidation of any such bank or banking corporation, shall record his vote to receive no more deposits therein or to close such bank, he shall not be deemed to have assented to the reception of any deposit in such bank, within the meaning of this section.

Kerr, Pen. C., 781.

Stolen goods were purchased, paid for, and received in E. County, and were thereafter shipped by him to C. County. It was held that C. County had no jurisdiction of the offense, since the offense of receiving stolen goods is consummated when the goods are received with the unlawful intent specified in the statute, and the subsequent transportation of the goods into another county to reap the fruits of the crime is not an act essential to its consummation, and if the effect of the transportation of the goods to C. County constituted the intent to deprive the owner of the property, the act of receiving was not accompanied by the wrongful intent necessary to constitute the crime. State v. Pray, 30 Nev. 207, 222, 224 (94 P. 218).

6912. Offense committed on or near boundary, jurisdiction.

SEC. 62. When an offense is committed on the boundary of two or more counties, or within five hundred yards thereof, the jurisdiction is in either county.

Kerr, Pen. C., 782.

6913. Offense committed on vessels and cars within state, jurisdiction.

SEC. 63. When an offense is committed in this state, on board a vessel navigating a river, slough, lake, or canal, or lying therein, in the prosecution of her voyage, the jurisdiction is in any county through which the vessel is navigated in the course of her voyage, or in the county where the voyage terminates; and when the offense is committed in this state, on a railroad train, car, stage or other public conveyance, prosecuting its trip, the jurisdiction is in any county through which the train, car, stage or other public conveyance passes in the course of its trip, or in the county where the trip terminates.

Kerr, Pen. C., 783.

6914. Offenses concerning animals ranging in two or more counties, jurisdiction.

SEC. 64. When a public offense concerns any neat cattle, horse, mule or other animal running at large upon any range which extends into more than one county of this state, such offense may be prosecuted in either of said counties, and upon the trial of any such offense, proof that such animal is the property of the owner, or person occupying the said range, and was at the time the offense was committed running at large upon the range, shall be prima facie evidence that said offense was committed within the jurisdiction of the court.

6915. Kidnaping and abduction, jurisdiction.

SEC. 65. The jurisdiction of an indictment for the crime of forcibly taking, or arresting any man, woman, or child in this state and carrying him or her into another county, state or territory; or for forcibly taking or arresting any person or persons whomsoever, with a design to take him or her out of this state, without having established a claim according to the laws of the United States; or for hiring, persuading, enticing, decoying, or seducing by false promises, misrepresentations, and the like, any Negro, mulatto, Indian, or colored person to go out of this state, or to be taken or removed therefrom for the purpose and with the intent to sell such Negro, mulatto, Indian, or colored person into slavery or involuntary servitude, or otherwise to employ him or her for his or her own use, or the use of another, without the free will and consent of such Negro, mulatto, Indian, or colored person, shall be in any county in which the offense is committed, or into or out of which the person upon whom the offense was committed may, in the prosecution of the offense, have been brought, or in which an act shall [be] done by the offender in instigating, procuring, promoting, aiding in, or being accessory to the commission of the offense, or in abetting the parties therein concerned.

Kerr, Pen. C., 784.

6916. Bigamy and incest, jurisdiction.

SEC. 66. When the offense, either of bigamy or incest, is committed in one county and the defendant is apprehended in another, the jurisdiction is in either county.

Kerr, Pen. C., 785.

6917. Property stolen and moved to another county—Jurisdiction.

SEC. 67. When property taken in one county by burglary, robbery, larceny, or embezzlement, has been brought into another, the jurisdiction of the offense is in either county, but if at any time before the conviction of the defendant in the latter, he is indicted in the former county, the sheriff of the latter county must, upon demand, deliver him to the sheriff of the former.

Kerr, Pen. C., 786.

A person charged with larceny of cattle may be indicted and tried for the offense in any county through which he drove them, as well as in the county where they were stolen or into which they were driven. State v. Brown, 8 Nev. 208, 211.

A person stealing goods in one county and carrying them into other counties is considered guilty of the crime and may be indicted and convicted in any of such counties; because every act of the thief in the removal of the property and keeping it from the possession of the owner is, in contemplation of law, an offense. Idem.

If property feloniously taken in one county be removed by the thief into another, the jurisdiction of the offense may be in either; but an indictment in the latter county must allege the offense to have been committed in such county or that the bringing of the property into such county was felonious; and if it do not, it will not be sufficient. Idem.

Venue for crime of receiving stolen goods in county where they are received. State v. Pray, 30 Nev. 206, 221 (94 P. 218).

6918. Accessory, jurisdiction of.

SEC. 68. In the case of an accessory in the commission of a public offense, the jurisdiction is in either the county where the offense of the accessory was committed, or where the principal offense was committed.

Kerr, Pen. C., 791.

Under the act of 1861, 435, it was held: There seems to be an incongruity between section 91 of said act, which requires an accessory before the fact to be tried where his offense is committed, and section 252, which places him on the same plane with the principal, but the former clearly does not apply in a case where the acts of the accessory are done out of the state. State v. Chapman, 6 Nev. 321, 329.

Application of above section discussed. State v. Hamilton, 13 Nev. 390–392.

6919. Conviction or acquittal in another state, bar.

SEC. 69. When an act charged as a public offense is within the jurisdiction of another state, territory or country, as well as of this state, a conviction or acquittal thereof in the former is a bar to the prosecution or indictment therefor in this state.

Kerr, Pen. C., 793.

6920. Conviction in another county, bar.

SEC. 70. When an offense is within the jurisdiction of two or more counties, a conviction or acquittal thereof in one county is a bar to the prosecution or indictment therefor in another.

Kerr, Pen. C., 794.

Kerr, Pen. C., 848.

6966. Person arrested without warrant, duty of officer.

Kerr, Pen. C., 849.

6967. Arrest by telegraph.

SEC. 117. A justice of the supreme court, or a judge of a district court, may, by an indorsement under his hand upon a warrant of arrest, authorize the service thereof by telegraph, and thereafter a telegraphic copy of such warrant may be sent to one or more peace officers and such copy is as effectual in the hands of any officer, and he must proceed in the same manner under it, as though he held an original warrant issued by the magistrate making the indorsement. Every officer causing telegraphic copies of warrants to be sent, must certify as correct and file in the telegraph office from which such copies are sent, a copy of the warrant and indorsement thereon and must return the original with a statement of his action thereunder.

Kerr, Pen. C., 850, 851.
See sec. 4618.

6997. Witness unable to give security may be conditionally examined.

6970. Magistrate to inform defendant of his rights.

SEC. 120. When the defendant is brought before the magistrate upon an arrest, either with or without a warrant, on a charge of having committed a public offense, the magistrate must immediately inform him of the charge against him, and of his right to the aid of counsel at every stage of the proceedings, and before any further proceedings are had.

6971. Defendant must be allowed time to procure counsel.

SEC. 121. He must also allow the defendant reasonable time to send for counsel, and postpone the examination for that purpose, and must, upon the request of the defendant, require a peace officer to take a message to any counsel in the township or city the defendant may name. The officer must, without delay and without fee, perform that duty.

Kerr, Pen. C., 859.
Right of accused to have counsel, secured by State Const., sec. 237; U. S. Const., sec. 178.

6972. Examination, when to proceed.

SEC. 122. If the defendant requires the aid of counsel, the magistrate must immediately after the appearance of counsel, or if, after waiting a reasonable time therefor none appears, proceed to examine the case.

Kerr, Pen. C., 860.
Examination must be prompt. Ex Parte Ah Kee, 22 Nev. 374 (40 P. 879).

6973. Completion and adjournment of an examination.

SEC. 123. The examination must be completed in one session, unless the magistrate for good cause shown, adjourns it. The adjournment cannot be for more than two days at a time, nor for more than six days in all, unless by consent or on motion of the defendant.

Kerr, Pen. C., 861.

6974. When hearing postponed defendant to be committed or admitted to bail.

SEC. 124. If an adjournment is had for any cause, the magistrate must commit the defendant for examination, admit him to bail or discharge him from custody upon the deposit of money as provided in this act, as security for his appearance at the time to which the examination is adjourned.

Kerr, Pen. C., 862.

6975. Form of commitment.

SEC. 125. The commitment for examination is made by an indorsement, signed by the magistrate on the warrant of arrest, to the following effect: "The within named A. B. having been brought before me under this warrant, is committed for examination to the sheriff of the county of....." If the sheriff is not present, the defendant may be committed to the custody of a peace officer.

Kerr, Pen. C., 863.

6976. Depositions to be read and subpenas to be issued.

SEC. 126. At the examination, the magistrate must first read to the defendant the depositions of the witnesses examined on taking the information. He must also issue subpenas, subscribed by him for witnesses within the state, required either by the prosecution or the defense.

Kerr, Pen. C., 864.

6977. Witnesses examined—When stenographer may be employed—Compensation—Testimony may be used on trial—Testimony to be filed.

SEC. 127. The witnesses must be examined in the presence of the defendant, and may be cross-examined in his behalf. If either party so desires, the examination must be by interrogatories direct and cross; provided, by consent of the parties the testimony may be reduced to writing in narrative form. The magistrate, if he deems it necessary for the best interests of justice, and upon the approval of the district attorney, is authorized to employ a stenographer to take down all the testimony and the proceedings on said hearing or examination, and within such time as the court may designate have the same transcribed into long hand or typewritten transcript. The stenographer employed as aforesaid shall be sworn by the magistrate before whom such proceedings are held to take down in shorthand, verbatim, truthfully and correctly such proceedings and testimony and to make a true and correct transcript of the same into long hand or typewritten transcript. When the testimony of each witness is all taken and transcribed, the same must be read over to the witness and corrected as may be desired, and then subscribed by the witness; or if he refuses to sign it, the fact of such refusal, and any reasons assigned therefor must be stated, and the same must be attested by the magistrate. And such testimony so reduced to writing and authenticated according to the provisions of this section must be filed by the examining magistrate with the clerk of the district court of his county and in case such prisoner is subsequently examined upon a writ of habeas corpus, such testimony must be considered as given before such judge or court. The testimony so taken may be used by either party on the trial of the cause, and in all proceedings therein, when the witness is sick, out of the state, dead, or when his personal attendance cannot be had in court. The compensation for the services of a stenographer employed as provided in this section shall be such an amount as shall be approved by the magistrate and district attorney, not exceeding eight dollars per day for reporting and twenty cents per folio for transcribing, to be paid out of the county treasury as other claims against the county are allowed and paid.

Kerr, Pen. C., 865, 869.

State not bound to introduce proceedings on preliminary examination. State v. Guidieri, 26 Nev. 31.

Regarding testimony taken by stenographer on preliminary examination. State v. Gibson, 30 Nev. 353 (96 P. 1057).

This section is not amenable to the objection of being opposed to the United States constitution. The provision of the sixth amendment of the United States constitution (sec. 176, ante) is applicable only to the federal courts, and is in no wise a restriction upon the powers of the states, or applicable to state courts. State v. Jones, 7 Nev. 408.

When a deposition in a criminal case is offered in evidence the offer should be accompanied with proof that it was taken in conformity with the statute; and if the proper objection be made, it should not be admitted without such preliminary proof. Idem.

Where such a deposition was offered by the prosecution, and defendant objected that it was "incompetent evidence" it was held that such objection was too general to reach the point of failure to show that the deposition was taken in a case authorized by the statute. Idem.

In criminal, as well as in civil cases, objections should be so specific that the attention of the court may be directed to the exact point, so that the objection may be obviated if it be of a character which admits of remedy. Idem.

Defendant objected to proceeding with the trial because the testimony given at his preliminary examination had not been reduced to writing. It was held that he could not avail himself of this irregularity without an affirmative showing that he was deprived of this statutory right without his consent. State v. Davis, 14 Nev. 407, 412.

A deposition of a witness taken under this section cannot be used in evidence without proof that at the time of the trial, the witness was "sick, out of the state, dead, or that his personal attendance could not be had in court." State v. Parker, 16 Nev. 79, 82–85.

Testimony stated and held insufficient to show the above-required facts. Idem.

At the trial on an indictment the parol testimony of the committing magistrate and of the clerk who wrote the testimony at the preliminary examination, is admissible to show that the depositions were taken and the examination had in the mode and according to the requirements of the law. State v. Depoister, 21 Nev. 107, 111 (25 P. 1000).

A former act (Stats. 1907, 59) held unconstitutional as repugnant to Const., sec. 275, ante. State v. Gibson, 30 Nev. 353, 354–358 (96 P. 1057).

Said former act cited, State ex rel. Sparks v. State B. & T. Co., 31 Nev. 473 (103 P. 407).

6978. Defendant to be informed of right to make statement.

SEC. 128. When the examination of the witnesses on the part of the people is closed, the magistrate must distinctly inform the defendant that it is his right to make a statement in relation to the charge against him (stating to him the nature thereof); that the statement is designed to enable him, if he sees fit, to answer the charge, and to explain the facts alleged against him; that he is at liberty to waive making a statement, and that his waiver cannot be used against him on the trial.

Cited, State v. Parker, 16 Nev. 83.

The committing magistrate may select clerks to write out the testimony taken on preliminary examination; and where the provisions of the law for taking such testimony have been complied with, the statement then made by defendant is admissible in evidence against him upon the trial of the case. State v. Rover, 13 Nev. 17, 21.

6979. When defendant waives right to make statement, duty of magistrate.

SEC. 129. If the defendant waives his right to make a statement, the magistrate must make a note thereof immediately following the deposition of the witnesses against the defendant, but the fact of his waiver cannot be used against the defendant on the trial.

Cited, State v. Parker, 16 Nev. 83.

6980. Statement of defendant, how taken—Questions to be asked.

SEC. 130. If the defendant chooses to make a statement, the magistrate must proceed to take the same in writing, without oath, and must put to the defendant the following questions only: "What is your name and age? Where were you born? Where do you reside, and how long have you resided there? What is your business or profession? Give any explanation you may think proper of the circumstances appearing against you, and state any facts which you think will tend to your exculpation."

Cited, State v. Parker, 16 Nev. 83.

6981. Answers of defendants to be read and corrected.

SEC. 131. The answer of the defendant to each of the questions must be distinctly read to him as it is taken down. He may thereupon correct or add to his answer, and it must be corrected until it is made conformable to what he declares to be the truth.

6982. Form of authentication of defendant's statement.

SEC. 132. The statement must be reduced to writing by the magistrate, or under his direction, and authenticated in the following form:

1. It must set forth in detail that the defendant was informed of his rights as provided by section 128, and that after being so informed he made the statement.

2. It must contain the questions put to him, and his answers thereto, as provided in sections 130 and 131.

3. It may be signed by the defendant, or he may refuse to sign it; but if he refuses to sign it, his reason therefor must be stated as he gives it.

4. It must be signed and certified by the magistrate.

6983. Defendant's witnesses may testify after statement is made or waived—Defendant may testify, when.

SEC. 133. After the waiver of the defendant to make a statement, or after he has made it, his witnesses, if he produces any, must be sworn and examined. The defendant, if he waives making a statement, upon his own request and not otherwise, may be sworn and examined as a witness and if so sworn and examined, he may be cross-examined.

6984. Examination, exclusion and separation of witnesses.

SEC. 134. The witnesses produced on the part of either the state or the defendant must not be present at the examination of the defendant, and while a witness is under examination the magistrate may exclude all witnesses who have not been examined. He may also cause the witnesses to be kept separate, and to be prevented from conversing with each other until they are all examined.

Kerr, Pen. C., 867.

In the absence of any evidence tending to show that the witnesses were not excluded pending examination of defendant, as provided in this section, the supreme court cannot presume that the justice did not conform to this provision. State v. Rover, 13 Nev. 21.

When an order is made excluding defendant's witnesses from the courtroom, so that neither witness shall hear the other testify, and some of the witnesses come in during the trial, this may discredit such witnesses, and subject them to punishment for contempt. But the defendant himself, not being in fault is entitled to that testimony. State v. Salge, 2 Nev. 321.

6985. Who may attend hearing—Closed doors.

SEC. 135. The magistrate must, also, upon the request of the defendant, exclude from the examination every person except his clerk, the prosecutor and his counsel, the attorney-general, the district attorney of the county, the defendant and his counsel, and the officer having the defendant in his custody.

Kerr, Pen. C., 868.

6986. Defendant to be discharged, when and how.

SEC. 136. If, after hearing the proofs, and the statement of the defendant, if he has made one, it appears either that no public offense has been committed or that there is not sufficient cause to believe the defendant guilty of a public offense, the magistrate must order the defendant to be discharged, by an indorsement on the depositions and statement signed by him, to the following effect: "There being no sufficient cause to believe the within named A. B. guilty of the offense within named, I order him to be discharged."

Kerr, Pen. C., 871.

6987. Defendant, when and how committed.

SEC. 137. If, however, it appears from the examination that a public offense has been committed, and there is sufficient cause to believe the defendant guilty thereof, the magistrate must make or indorse on the depositions and statement, an order signed by him to the following effect: "It appearing to me by the within depositions and statement (if any), that the offense therein named (or any other offense according to the fact, stating generally the nature thereof) has been committed, and that there is sufficient cause to believe the within named A. B. guilty thereof, I order that he be held to answer the same."

Kerr, Pen. C., 872.

In order to justify a magistrate in holding accused, the evidence need not show guilt beyond a reasonable doubt. In re Kelly, 28 Nev. 491 (83 P. 223).

6988. When offense not bailable, form of commitment.

SEC. 138. If the offense is not bailable, the following words must be added to the indorsement: "And he is hereby committed to the sheriff of the county of....."

Kerr, Pen. C., 873.

Regarding cases which are not bailable, see Const., sec. 236.

6989. When offense bailable, form—Minimum bail for felony.

SEC. 139. If the offense is bailable, and bail is taken by the magistrate, the following words, or words to the same effect, must be added to the indorsement: "And I have admitted him to bail to answer by the undertaking hereto annexed"; provided, that if the offense charged constitutes a felony, no bail can be accepted in a less sum than five hundred dollars.

Kerr, Pen. C., 874.

6990. When offense bailable, bail not given, form of commitment.

SEC. 140. If the offense is bailable, and the defendant is admitted to bail, but bail has not been taken, the following words, or words to the same effect, must be added to the indorsement mentioned in section 137: "And that he be admitted to bail in the sum of.....dollars, and is committed to the sheriff of the county of.....until he give such bail."

Kerr, Pen. C., 875.

6991. Commitment, how made and by whom delivered.

SEC. 141. If the magistrate orders that the defendant be committed, he must make out a commitment, signed by him, with his name of office, and deliver it, with the defendant, to the officer to whom he is committed, or, if that officer is not present, to a peace officer, who must deliver the defendant into the proper custody, together with the commitment.

Kerr, Pen. C., 876.

Testimony held sufficient to authorize commitment. Ex Parte Willoughby, 14 Nev. 451.

6992. Commitment, form of.

SEC. 142. The commitment must be to the following effect:

County of.....(as the case may be).

The State of Nevada to the sheriff of the county of.....:

An order having been this day made by me, that A. B. be held to answer upon a charge of (stating briefly the nature of the offense, and giving as near as may be the time when and the place where the same was committed), you are commanded to receive him into your custody and detain him until he is legally discharged.

Dated this.....day of.....', 19....

Kerr, Pen. C., 877.

A recognizance which gives the name of the offense for which the principal is held, sufficiently complies with the statutory provision of "briefly stating the nature of the offense." State v. Birchim, 9 Nev. 95, 99, 100; State v. O'Keefe, 32 Nev. 331 (108 P. 2).

The reasons for setting forth the particulars of the offense in a commitment do not exist in the case of a recognizance, and therefore the construction requiring such particularity given to the words quoted above is not applicable to the same words as used in the statutory form of recognizances. Idem.

A commitment which recites that petitioner has been held to answer the charge of murder by being accessory before the fact to the killing of P. L. Traver "at Metallic City, Esmeralda County, State of Nevada, on or about the fifth day of January," satisfies the requirement of the statute. Ex Parte Willoughby, 14 Nev. 451, 453.

6993. Undertaking of witness, when and how taken.

SEC. 143. On holding the defendant to answer, the magistrate may take from each of the material witnesses examined before him on the part of the state a written undertaking, to the effect that he will appear and testify at the court to which the deposition and statements are to be sent, or that he will forfeit the sum which may be ordered by the court.

Kerr, Pen. C., 878.

This section does not make the taking of a recognizance a condition precedent to the admission of a deposition. State v. Parker, 16 Nev. 79, 82.

6994. Appearance of witness, security for, when and how required.

SEC. 144. When the magistrate is satisfied by proof, on oath, that there is reason to believe that any such witness will not appear and testify unless security is required, he may order the witness to enter into a written undertaking, with sureties, in such sum as he may deem proper, for his appearance as specified in the preceding section.

Kerr, Pen. C., 879.

6995. Infants and married women may be required to furnish sureties.

SEC. 145. Infants and married women, who are material witnesses against the defendant, may be required to procure sureties for their appearance, as provided in the preceding section.

Kerr, Pen. C., 880.

6996. Witnesses may be committed who refuse to give bond.

SEC. 146. If a witness, required to enter into an undertaking to appear and testify, either with or without sureties, refuses compliance with the order for that purpose, the magistrate must commit him to prison until he complies or is legally discharged.

Kerr, Pen. C., 881.

6997. Witness unable to give security may be conditionally examined.

SEC. 147. When, however, it satisfactorily appears by the examination on oath of the witness, or any other person, that the witness is unable to procure sureties, or if either the state or defendant demands the deposition of the witness to be taken, he or she may forthwith conditionally be examined on behalf of the party requiring the deposition to be taken; such examination must be by question and answer, and must be reduced to writing by the magistrate, or under his direction in the presence of the defendant and the counsel for the state. When the examination is completed the deposition must be read over to the witness, and corrected in any particular desired, signed by the witness, certified by the magistrate, and transmitted to the clerk of the district court of the proper county, the witness thereupon must be discharged; provided, when both parties consent thereto the deposition may be taken in narrative form. This section does not apply to the prosecutor, or to an accomplice in the commission of the offense charged.

Kerr, Pen. C., 882.

Cited, State v. Parker, 16 Nev. 84.

See State v. Jones, under sec. 127 of this act.

6998. When defendant discharged or held to answer, duty of magistrate.

SEC. 148. When a magistrate has discharged a defendant, or has held him to answer, he must return, without delay, to the clerk of the court at which defendant is required to appear, the warrant, if any, the depositions, the statement of the defendant, if he has made one, and all undertakings of bail, for the appearance of witnesses taken by him.

Kerr, Pen. C., 883.

State not bound to introduce record of preliminary examination. State v. Guilieri, 26 Nev. 31 (26 P. 49).

CHAPTER 14

PROSECUTION BY INDICTMENT OR ACCUSATION

6999. What prosecutions must be by indictment.

SEC. 149. All public offenses triable in the district courts must be prosecuted by indictment, except as provided in the next section.

Kerr, Pen. C., 888.

Const., art. 1, sec. 8, provides that no person shall be tried for infamous crime except upon the presentment or indictment of a grand jury (sec. 237, ante).

An amendment allowing prosecutions upon the information of the attorney-general and district attorneys has been favored by resolutions passed by the legislatures of 1909 and 1911 and is ready to be voted upon by the people at the general election in November, 1912.

7000. What prosecutions to be by accusation.

SEC. 150. When proceedings are had for the removal of district, county, municipal, or township officers, they may be commenced by accusation, in writing, as provided in sections 44 and 57.

Kerr, Pen. C., 889.

7001. Accusations and indictments must be found in district courts.

SEC. 151. All accusations, and indictments against district, county, municipal, and township officers, must be found in the district court.

Kerr, Pen. C., 890.

FORMATION OF GRAND JURY

7002. Formation prescribed by special statutes.
7003. Who may challenge panel or individual grand juror.
7004. Grounds for challenge to panel.
7005. Grounds for challenge to individual grand juror.
7006. Challenge, how made and tried.
7007. Decision upon challenges.
7008. Effect of allowing challenge of panel.
7009. Effect of allowing challenge to individual grand juror.
7010. Objections can only be taken by challenge.
7011. Foreman, how appointed.
7012. Oath of foreman.
7013. Oath of grand jurors.
7015. Where jury shall deliberate — Discharge of.
7016. Special grand jury.
7017. Order for special grand jury.
7018. Order, how executed.
7019. Special grand jury, how formed.

7002. Formation prescribed by special statutes.

SEC. 152. The formation of grand juries is prescribed by special statutes.

See secs. 4931, 4940; State v. Hartley, 22 Nev. 342 (28 L. R. A. 33, 40 P. 372).

7003. Who may challenge panel or individual grand juror.

SEC. 153. The state, or a person held to answer a charge for a public offense, may challenge the panel of a grand jury, or an individual grand juror.

Kerr, Pen. C., 894.

An indictment found by a grand jury not legally selected is invalid. State v. McNamara, 3 Nev. 71, 75.

7004. Grounds for challenge to panel.

SEC. 154. A challenge to the panel may be interposed for one or more of the following causes only:

1. That the requisite number of ballots was not drawn from the jury box of the county as prescribed by law.

2. That the notice of the drawing of the grand jury was not given as prescribed by law.

3. That the drawing was not had in the presence of the officers or officer designated by law.

Kerr, Pen. C., 895.

See State v. McNamara, under sec. 211 of this act.

Nothing else than what the statute prescribes can disqualify one from acting as a grand juror. State v. Millain, 3 Nev. 409.

A motion to quash an indictment because the grand jurors were not selected according to law, ought to be made before plea. State v. Collyer, 17 Nev. 275, 280 (30 P. 891).

If the plea has been entered and the motion to quash thereafter made in good faith, before the trial commences, the court should allow the plea to be withdrawn and give defendant an opportunity to be heard upon his motion. Idem.

The right of challenge to the panel of the grand jurors is restricted to the three grounds enumerated in the statute, and the fact that these statutory grounds have no application to the present method of selecting a grand jury, does not authorize the court to consider the motion as a challenge to the panel. Idem.

Where defendant had not been held to answer before the finding of an indictment against him, and he moved to set it aside on the ground that no list of names selected as grand jurors for the session at which the indictment was found was certified by the officer making the selection, the motion was properly overruled. State v. Simas, 25 Nev. 442 (62 P. 242).

The statutory grounds of challenge to the panel of a grand jury specified in this section, do not apply to the changed method of drawing grand jurors. State v. Williams, 31 Nev. 360, 361 (102 P. 974).

7005. Grounds for challenge to individual grand juror.

SEC. 155. A challenge to an individual grand juror may be interposed for one or more of the following causes only:

1. That he is a minor;

2. That he is an alien;

3. That he is insane;

4. That he is a prosecutor upon a charge against the defendant;

5. That he is a witness on the part of the prosecution, and has been served with process or bound by an undertaking as such.

6. That a state of mind exists on his part in reference to the case, or to either party, which will prevent him from acting impartially and without prejudice to the substantial rights of the party challenging; but no person shall be disqualified as a grand juror by reason of having formed or having expressed an opinion upon the matter of cause to be submitted to such jury, founded upon public rumor, statements in public journals, or common notoriety; provided, it satisfactorily appears to the court upon his declaration, under oath, or otherwise, that he will, notwithstanding such an opinion, act impartially and fairly upon the matters to be submitted to him.

Kerr, Pen. C., 896.

A prosecutor is "one who prefers an accusation against a party whom he suspects to be guilty." A party who appears in response to a subpena is not a prosecutor, but only a witness. State v. Millain, 3 Nev. 409, 455–458.

See State v. Simas, under sec. 154 of this act.

7006. Challenge, how made and tried.

SEC. 156. Challenges mentioned in the last three sections may be oral or in writing, and must be entered upon the minutes, and tried by the court in the same manner as challenges in the case of a trial jury which are triable by the court.

Kerr, Pen. C., 897.

Under sec. 181 (Stats. 1861, 435) it was held: The criminal practice act does not require the clerk to make any minutes of peremptory challenges; and if he does make such minutes, they will not be considered as parts of the record or reviewed on appeal, without a bill of exceptions. State v. Baker, 8 Nev. 146, 147.

7007. Decision upon challenges.

SEC. 157. The court must allow or disallow the challenge and the clerk must enter its decision upon the minutes.

Kerr, Pen. C., 898.
Cited, State v. Baker, 8 Nev. 146.

7008. Effect of allowing challenge to panel.

SEC. 158. If a challenge to the panel is allowed, the grand jury are prohibited from inquiring into the charge against the defendant by whom the challenge was interposed. If, notwithstanding, they do so, and find an indictment against him, the court must direct it to be set aside.

Kerr, Pen. C., 899.

7009. Effect of allowing challenge to individual grand juror.

SEC. 159. If a challenge to an individual grand juror is allowed, he cannot be present or take part in the consideration of the charge against the defendant who interposed the challenge, or the deliberations of the grand jury thereon. The grand jury must inform the court of a violation of this section, and it is punishable by the court as a contempt.

Kerr, Pen. C., 900.

7010. Objections can only be taken by challenge.

SEC. 160. A person held to answer for a public offense can take advantage of any objection to the panel or to an individual grand juror in no other mode than by challenge.

Kerr, Pen. C., 901.

7011. Foreman, how appointed.

SEC. 161. From the persons summoned to serve as grand jurors and appearing, the court must appoint a foreman. The court must also appoint a foreman when the person already appointed is excused or discharged before the grand jury is dismissed.

Kerr, Pen. C., 902.

7012. Oath of foreman.

SEC. 162. The following oath must be administered to the foreman of the grand jury:

"You, as foreman of the grand jury, will diligently inquire into, and true presentment make, of all offenses against the State of Nevada committed or triable within this county, of which you shall have or can obtain legal evidence. You will keep your own counsel, and that of your fellows and the government, and will not, except when required in the due course of judicial proceedings, disclose the testimony of any witness examined before you, nor anything which you or any other grand juror may have said, nor the manner in which you or any other grand juror may have voted on any matter before you. You will present no person through malice, hatred, or ill will, nor leave any unpresented through fear, favor, or affection, or for any reward, or the promise or hope thereof; but in all your presentments you will present the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth, according to the best of your skill and understanding, so help you God."

Kerr, Pen. C., 903.

7013. Oath of grand jurors.

SEC. 163. The following oath must be immediately thereupon administered to the other grand jurors present:

"The same oath which your foreman has now taken before you on his part, you, and each of you, shall well and truly observe on your part, so help you God."

Kerr, Pen. C., 904.

7014. Charge to be given by court.

SEC. 164. The grand jury being impaneled and sworn, must be charged by the court. In doing so, the court must give them such information as it may deem proper, or as is required by law, as to their duties, and as to any charges for public offenses returned to the court or likely to come before the grand jury. The court need not, however, charge them respecting violation of any particular statute.

Kerr, Pen. C., 905.

District judges to charge grand juries regarding statutes relating to duties of officers (sec. 4924), and concerning recording of marriages, births and deaths (sec. 4925).

7015. Where jury shall deliberate—Discharge of.

SEC. 165. The grand jury must then retire to a private room and inquire into the offenses cognizable by them. On the completion of the business before them, they must be discharged by the court; but, whether the business is completed or not, they may be discharged by the court after the expiration of one year.

Kerr, Pen. C., 906.

7016. Special grand jury.

SEC. 166. If an offense is committed during the sitting of the court, after the discharge of the grand jury, the court may, in its discretion, direct an order to be entered that the sheriff summon another grand jury.

Kerr, Pen. C., 907.

7017. Order for special grand jury.

SEC. 167. An order must thereupon be made out by the clerk, and directed to the sheriff, requiring him to summon twenty-four persons, qualified to serve as grand jurors, to appear forthwith, or at such time as may be named by the court.

Kerr, Pen. C., 908.

7018. Order, how executed.

Kerr, Pen. C., 909.

7019. Special grand jury, how formed.

SEC. 169. At the time appointed a list must be called over, and the names of those in attendance be written by the clerk on separate ballots and put into a box, from which a grand jury must be drawn.

POWERS AND DUTIES OF GRAND JURY

7020. Powers and duties of grand jury.
7021. Presentment defined.
7022. Indictment defined.
7024. What evidence is receivable by the grand jury.
7025. Not bound to hear evidence for defendant.
7027. Grand juror having knowledge of offense, duties of.
7028. Grand jury, duties of.
7029. Grand jury entitled to enter jails and examine records.
7031. Grand jury proceedings to be secret.
7032. Grand juror, when required to disclose testimony.
7033. Grand jury shall not be questioned for proceedings in jury room—Exceptions.

7020. Powers and duties of grand jury.

SEC. 170. The grand jury must inquire into all public offenses committed and triable within the jurisdiction of the court, and present them to the court, either by presentment or indictment.

Kerr, Pen. C., 915.

The grand jury is authorized to indict a person accused of crime, notwithstanding the case may be pending on preliminary examination before a justice of the peace. Knight v. District Court, 32 Nev. 346 (108 P. 358).

7021. Presentment defined.

SEC. 171. A presentment is an informal statement in writing, by the grand jury, representing to the court that a public offense has been committed, which is triable within the district, and that there is reasonable ground for believing that a particular individual, named or described, has committed it.

Kerr, Pen. C., 916.

7022. Indictment defined.

SEC. 172. An indictment is an accusation in writing, presented by a grand jury to a competent court, charging a person with a public offense.

Kerr, Pen. C., 917.

A presentment at common law was a mere informal statement of a grand jury (not prepared by the law officer of the court) calling attention to the existence of some violation of law which the jury might think needed correction. State v. Millain, 3 Nev. 439.

An indictment is a "written accusation of one or more persons, of a crime or misdemeanor, presented to, and preferred upon oath or affirmation by a grand jury legally convoked." Idem.

An indictment should not be quashed merely because the grand jury received some illegal or incompetent testimony. If there is any legal testimony to sustain it, it should not be set aside. State v. Logan, 1 Nev. 510, 515, 516.

Though the law declares that the grand jury shall receive none but legal evidence in support of an indictment, yet it does not follow that the admission of incompetent testimony will authorize the district court to set it aside. Idem.

If there be nothing to support the bill but evidence clearly incompetent and which would not be admissible at the trial, as the testimony of a person rendered incompetent by conviction of an infamous crime, the indictment may be set aside on motion before plea. Idem.

But to authorize the setting aside of an indictment, even where there is no competent evidence to support it, that fact must appear by proof, independent of the testimony of the grand jurors who found the bill, for it is inadmissible for them to show that the indictment was found without testimony or upon insufficient testimony. Idem.

7023. Foreman to administer oaths to witnesses.

SEC. 173. The foreman may administer an oath to any witness appearing before the grand jury.

Kerr, Pen. C., 918.

7024. What evidence is receivable by the grand jury.

SEC. 174. In the investigation of a charge, for the purpose of either presentment or indictment, the grand jury can receive no other evidence than such as is given by witnesses produced and sworn before them, or furnished by legal documentary evidence, or the deposition of witnesses taken as provided in this act. The grand jury can receive none but legal evidence, and the best evidence in degree, to the exclusion of hearsay or secondary evidence.

Kerr, Pen. C., 919.

7025. Not bound to hear evidence for defendant.

SEC. 175. The grand jury is not bound to hear evidence for the defendant; it is their duty, however, to weigh all evidence submitted to them, and when they have reason to believe that other evidence within their reach will explain away the charge, they must order such evidence to be produced, and for that purpose may require the district attorney to issue process for the witnesses.

Kerr, Pen. C., 920.

7026. Degree of evidence to warrant indictment.

SEC. 176. The grand jury ought to find an indictment when all the evidence before them, taken together, is such as, in their judgment, would, if unexplained and uncontradicted, warrant a conviction by the trial jury.

Kerr, Pen. C., 921.

7027. Grand juror having knowledge of offense, duties of.

SEC. 177. If a member of the grand jury knows or has reason to believe that a public offense has been committed, which is triable within the jurisdiction of this court, he must declare the same to his fellow jurors, who shall thereupon investigate the same.

Kerr, Pen. C., 922.

7028. Grand jury, duties of.

SEC. 178. The grand jury must inquire into the case of every person imprisoned in the jail of the county, on a criminal charge, and not indicted; into the condition and management of the public prisons within the county; and into the wilful and corrupt misconduct in office of public officers of every description within the county.

Kerr, Pen. C., 923.

7029. Grand jury entitled to enter jails and examine records.

SEC. 179. The grand jury shall be entitled to free access, at all reasonable times, to all public prisons and to the examination without charge, of all public records within its district.

Kerr, Pen. C., 924.

Cited, State ex rel. N. T. G. & T. Co. v. Grimes, 29 Nev. 60.

7030. Grand jury to be advised by court and district attorney—Who allowed in jury room.

SEC. 180. The grand jury may, at all reasonable times, ask the advice of the court, or any member thereof, and of the district attorney. Unless his advice be asked, no member of the court shall be permitted to be present during the session of the grand jury. The district attorney shall be allowed, at all times, to appear before the grand jury, on his request, for the purpose of giving information or advice relative to any matter cognizable by them, and may interrogate witnesses before them when they shall deem it necessary. Except the district attorney, no person shall be permitted to be present before the grand jury besides the witness actually under examination, and no person shall be permitted to be present during the expression of their opinions or the giving of their votes upon any matter before them.

Kerr, Pen. C., 925.

7031. Grand jury proceedings to be secret.

SEC. 181. Every member of the grand jury shall keep secret whatever he himself, or any other grand juror may have said, or in what manner he or any other grand juror may have voted in a matter before them.

Kerr, Pen. C., 926.

Regarding penalty for divulging secrets of grand jury by grand juror or others, see sec. 6374.

Grand jurors may be called to testify against a witness who is indicted for perjury, to prove what was sworn to before them, or to show that the indictment is not found by the requisite number; but the testimony of no grand juror can be received to impeach or affect the findings of his fellows. State v. Logan, 1 Nev. 510.

The testimony of grand jurors is not admissible to impeach their acts in finding an indictment. State v. Hamilton, 13 Nev. 389.

7032. Grand juror, when required to disclose testimony.

SEC. 182. A member of the grand jury may, however, be required by any court to disclose the testimony of a witness examined before the grand jury for the purpose of ascertaining whether it is consistent with that given by the witness before the court, or to disclose the testimony given before them by any person upon a charge against him for perjury in giving his testimony, or upon his trial therefor.

Kerr, Pen. C., 926.

See citations under sec. 181 of this act.

7033. Grand juror shall not be questioned for proceedings in jury room—Exceptions.

SEC. 183. No grand juror shall be questioned for anything he may say or vote he may give during any session of the grand jury, relative to a matter legally pending before the jury, except for a perjury of which he may have been guilty in making an accusation or giving testimony to his fellow jurors.

Kerr, Pen. C., 927.

7037. Bench warrant on presentment.
7038. Presentment, clerk to issue bench warrant, when.
7039. Presentment, form of bench warrant.
7040. Presentment, bench warrant, how executed.
7041. Presentment, proceedings on arrest.

7034. Presentment, how found.

SEC. 184. A presentment cannot be found without the concurrence of at least twelve grand jurors. When so found it must be signed by the foreman.

See secs. 6854, 6894, 6999.

7035. Presentment, how presented and filed.

SEC. 185. The presentment, when found, must be presented by the foreman in the presence of the grand jury to the court and must be filed by the clerk thereof.

7036. Presentment, finding thereof not to be disclosed.

SEC. 186. No grand juror, district attorney, clerk, judge or other officer or person shall disclose the fact of a presentment having been made for a felony until the defendant shall have been arrested. But this prohibition shall not extend to disclosure by the issuing or in the execution of a warrant to arrest the defendant.

7037. Bench warrant on presentment.

SEC. 187. If the court deems that the facts stated in the presentment constitute a public offense, triable within the county, it shall direct the clerk to issue a bench warrant for the arrest of the defendant.

7038. Presentment, clerk to issue bench warrant, when.

SEC. 188. The clerk, on the application of the district attorney, may accordingly, at any time after the order, whether the court is sitting or not, issue a bench warrant, under the signature and the seal of the court, into one or more districts.

7039. Presentment, form of bench warrant.

SEC. 189. The bench warrant upon presentment shall be substantially in the following form:

County of..... The State of Nevada to any sheriff, constable, marshal or policeman in the state: A presentment having been made on the.....day of....., 19...., to the district court of the district of ....., charging C. D. with the crime of.....(designating it generally), you are therefore commanded forthwith to arrest the above-named C. D. and take him before E. F., a magistrate of this district; or in case of his absence or inability to act, before the nearest or most accessible magistrate of this district. Given under my hand, with the seal of said court affixed, this.....day of....., A. D. 19.... By order of court.

7040. Presentment, bench warrant, how executed.

SEC. 190. The bench warrant may be served in any district, and the officer serving it must proceed thereon in all respects as upon a warrant of arrest on a complaint, except when served in another district it need not be indorsed by a magistrate of that district.

7041. Presentment, proceedings on arrest.

SEC. 191. The magistrate, when the defendant is brought before him, shall proceed to examine the charge contained in the presentment and hold the defendant to answer the same, or discharge him thereupon in the same manner in all respects as upon a warrant of arrest on complaint.

See secs. 6940, et seq.

THE INDICTMENT—FINDING AND PRESENTMENT OF

7042. Indictment must be found by twelve jurors—Indorsement.
7043. Indictment, failure to find, duty of grand jury.
7044. Indictment, dismissal does not bar further indictment.
7045. Indictment, names of witnesses to be inserted.
7046. Indictment, how presented and filed.
7047. Indictment against defendant not in custody, procedure.

7042. Indictment must be found by twelve jurors—Indorsement.

SEC. 192. An indictment cannot be found without the concurrence of at least twelve grand jurors. When so found it shall be indorsed: "A true bill," and the indorsement shall be signed by the foreman of the grand jury.

Kerr, Pen. C., 940.

Cited, State v. Hartley, 22 Nev. 253, 254 (28 L. R. A. 33, 40 P. 372).

An objection that indictment has not been found, indorsed or presented as prescribed by law, is not a ground of demurrer, but must be taken by a motion to set aside an indictment before pleading to it. State v. Harris, 12 Nev. 414, 419.

When the people adopted the provisions of the bill of rights (Const., sec. 237, ante), they had in view a grand jury as it existed under the common law and the statutes at the time the constitution was adopted. State v. Hartley, 22 Nev. 342, 353, 354 (28 L. R. A. 33, 40 P. 372).

Twelve qualified grand jurors are a legal body and may return an indictment. State v. Casey, 33 Nev. — (117 P. 5).

7043. Indictment, failure to find, duty of grand jury.

SEC. 193. If twelve grand jurors do not concur in finding an indictment against a defendant who has been held to answer, the deposition and statement, if any, transmitted to them shall be returned to the court with the indorsement signed by the foreman to the effect that the charge is dismissed.

Kerr, Pen. C., 941.

See State v. Hartley, and State v. Harris, under sec. 257 of this act.

7044. Indictment, dismissal does not bar further indictment.

SEC. 194. The dismissal of the charge shall not, however, prevent the same charge from being again submitted to a grand jury or as often as the court shall so direct. But, without such direction, it shall not be again submitted.

Kerr, Pen. C., 942.

Upon a review of the statutory provisions, it was held that the failure of the respective grand juries to find an indictment was not a bar to further prosecution. Ex Parte Job, 17 Nev. 184, 186 (30 P. 699).

An order resubmitting the case "to the same or another grand jury," is not void for uncertainty. Idem.

See State v. Harris, under sec. 257 of this act.

7045. Indictment, names of witnesses to be inserted.

SEC. 195. When an indictment is found the names of the witnesses examined before the grand jury shall be inserted at the foot of the indictment, or indorsed thereon before it is presented to the court.

Kerr, Pen. C., 943.

See State v. Harris, under sec. 192 of this act.

The names of witnesses whose depositions are read before the grand jury must be inserted at the foot of, or indorsed upon, the indictment. State v. Hamilton, 13 Nev. 388.

7046. Indictment, how presented and filed.

SEC. 196. An indictment, when found by the grand jury, shall be presented by their foreman, in their presence, to the court and shall be filed with the clerk and remain in his office as a public record.

Kerr, Pen. C., 944.

7047. Indictment against defendant not in custody, procedure.

SEC. 197. When an indictment has been found against a defendant, not in custody, the same proceedings shall be had as are prescribed in sections 227 and 234, both inclusive, against a defendant who fails to appear for arraignment.

Kerr, Pen. C., 945.

7069. Pleading in indictment for selling or possessing lewd and obscene books.
7070. Indictment against several.
7071. Distinction between principal and accessory abrogated.
7072. Accessory after the fact, indictment and punishment.
7073. Indictment for compounding and concealing offenses.

7048. Pleadings, forms and rules of.

SEC. 198. All the forms of pleadings in criminal actions and the rules by which the sufficiency of the pleadings is to be determined shall be those which are prescribed by this act.

Kerr, Pen. C., 948.

The legislature has absolute power over the subject of criminal proceedings, and may prescribe such forms of proceedings and indictment as it sees fit, except in those particulars where its power is restrained by some clause in the state or national constitution. State v. Millain, 3 Nev. 410, 462.

7049. Indictment, first pleading.

SEC. 199. The first pleading on the part of the state is the indictment.

Kerr, Pen. C., 949.

7050. Indictment, to contain what.

SEC. 200. The indictment must contain the title of the action, specifying the name of the court to which the indictment is presented and the names of the parties, and a statement of the acts constituting the offense, in ordinary and concise language and in such manner as to enable a person of common understanding to know what is intended.

Kerr, Pen. C., 950.

It cannot be said that an indictment which charges "an assault with a deadly weapon with intent to kill," does not charge the statutory offense of "an assault with intent to kill," merely because it describes the means or instrument of the assault. State v. Rigg, 10 Nev. 284, 288.

It is not necessary to include in an indictment a formal statement of the crime of which the defendant is accused according to the statutory designation; a statement of the acts constituting the offense is sufficient. Idem.

It is not necessary in charging an assault to allege a present ability to kill or inflict injury. Idem.

As a general rule the question whether a particular weapon is deadly or not is one of law for the court and not of fact for the jury. Idem.

An indictment which specifically accuses the defendant "of the crime of murder" instead of using the general words "of a felony" is unobjectionable. State v. Harris, 12 Nev. 414, 418.

The words "contrary to the form of the statute" are not essential in an indictment for murder, which is a common-law offense. Idem.

Cited, Ex Parte Curnow, 21 Nev. 41 (24 P. 430).

The crime must be directly and positively charged and not argumentatively. State v. Logan, 1 Nev. 110, 113–115.

The want of a direct allegation of anything material to the description of the subject, nature or manner of the offense cannot be supplied by any intendment, or implication whatever. Idem.

An indictment should charge a statutory offense in the words of the statute creating it or words of similar import. Idem.

Cited, State v. Salge, 2 Nev. 323; State v. Ah Chew, 16 Nev. 54.

In an indictment against a county treasurer for embezzlement, it is sufficient to allege and prove the felonious conversion to his own use of any money that came into his possession or was under his control by virtue of his office, without specifying with certainty the particular kind of funds embezzled, or the particular time when the money was received. State v. Carrick, 16 Nev. 120, 124.

Cited, State v. Charlie Hing, 16 Nev. 308; State v. McKiernan, 17 Nev. 227 (30 P. 831).

An indictment for an overt attempt to escape from state prison, which alleges that the prisoner, while lawfully confined in the state prison under the judgment of a competent court for the crime of burglary, did make an overt attempt to escape therefrom, and did unlawfully, forcibly and feloniously break out of the cell in said prison in which he was confined and out of the building in which said cell was and is, contains a sufficient statement of facts to show the commission of the crime charged. State v. Angelo, 18 Nev. 425, 426 (4 P. 1080).

Where an indictment for burglary charged that defendant broke into a certain room occupied by a certain company in a particular building, it was not necessary to allege the ownership of the building, since the allegation that the defendant entered the room occupied by the prosecutor sufficiently laid the ownership of the premises entered in the company. State v. Simas, 25 Nev. 432, 443 (62 P. 242).

A defective description of the grand jury in the body of the indictment may be cured by the title and preamble. State v. Buralli, 27 Nev. 41, 48 (71 P. 532).

7051. Indictment, form of, signed by district attorney.

SEC. 201. The indictment may be substantially in the following form:

State of Nevada, County of..... The State of Nevada, plaintiff, against A. B., defendant (or John Doe, whose real name is unknown). Defendant A. B., above named, is accused by the grand jury of the county of....., of a felony (or of the crime of murder or other name of crime), committed as follows: The said A. B., on the ..... day of ....., A. D. 19...., or thereabouts, at the county of....., State of Nevada, without authority of law and with malice aforethought, killed Richard Roe, by shooting with a pistol (or with a gun or other weapon, according to the facts)."

If the offense be an assault with an intent to commit murder, the statement may be as follows: "The said A. B., on the.....day of....., A. D. 19...., in the county of....., without authority of law, and with malice aforethought, did shoot the said Richard Roe with a pistol with the intention of killing him."

If the offense be a misdemeanor, it may be designated by the name or style by which the offense is usually defined or known, or simply as a misdemeanor, and the facts constituting the offense may be stated in a manner similar to the examples above stated. The indictment must be signed by the district attorney.

Kerr, Pen. C., 951.

"The said Paul Lovelace did in the night-time of the 11th day of May, 1904, or in the night-time of some day thereabouts to the said 11th day of May, 1904," etc., would sufficiently comply with the statute to constitute the charge of burglary. The authorities show that courts should give a liberal interpretation of indictments to uphold the same rather than a rigid interpretation. State v. Lovelace, 29 Nev. 43, 46 (83 P. 330).

That the mere grammatical, punctuational, rhetorical or linguistic error does not always vitiate, is fully sustained by decisions of courts and text-writers. Idem.

When questioned for the first time on appeal, an indictment will be held sufficient unless it is so defective that by no construction within the reasonable limits of the language used can it be said to charge the offense for which defendant was convicted. State v. Hughes, 31 Nev. 270, 273 (102 P. 562).

The phrase "in pursuance of" means in accordance with; in prosecution or fulfillment of"; and an indictment alleging that defendant assaulted prosecutor with a deadly weapon, and "in pursuance of said assault" attempted to rob him, etc., means "in fulfillment of," rendering the indictment sufficient to charge an assault with intent to rob. Idem.

In an indictment alleging that defendant assaulted the prosecutor and attempted to feloniously rob him, the word "feloniously" means "done with intent to commit" the crime. Idem.

See State v. Logan, and State v. Salge, under sec. 200 of this act.

That part of the indictment which first charges that defendant has committed a certain crime is merely formal and if the body of the indictment sufficiently shows the offense charged, and the facts constituting the offense, it will be held good, notwithstanding any defects in the first clause. State v. Anderson, 3 Nev. 254, 256, 258.

The first clause in the indictment may charge that the defendant has committed a certain crime (giving its technical name, if it has one) or it may simply charge that he has committed a felony, or has committed a misdemeanor, as the case may be.

It is not indispensable in this clause to give the name or description of the offense charged, nor when the name and description is given is it necessary to say whether it is a felony or a misdemeanor. Idem.

The omission of the word "necessary" from the body of the indictment where the offense is charged is not a fatal defect. To say a weapon is not drawn in self-defense is a broader and stronger expression than to say it is not done in necessary self-defense. The latter is included within the former expression. Idem.

It is not necessary to use the exact words of the statute in defining a statutory offense. Words of similar import will suffice. Idem.

The short form of indictment used in this case held to conform to the requirements of the statute. State v. Millain, 3 Nev. 409, 436–440.

A clause in the constitution of the United States (sec. 175, ante) does not restrict the state legislature in prescribing the form of the indictment. It only requires that a grand jury should in some form express its approval of the prosecution before a party can be put on trial for such offense. Idem.

Any indictment which is good to sustain the simple charge of murder is equally good to sustain a conviction of a higher crime of murder in the first degree. Idem.

The form of indictment given in Stats. 1867, 126, is insufficient in so far as it omits the venue. State v. Chamberlain, 6 Nev. 257, 260.

An allegation of the county wherein a crime was committed is as material in an indictment as any fact constituting the body of the offense. Idem.

The section of the criminal statute giving the form of an indictment and omitting the venue therefrom is controlled by the next section, which requires a statement of all essential facts. Idem.

An indictment which omits to state the venue cannot be amended in that respect. Idem.

The power of the legislature to mold and fashion the form of an indictment is plenary; its substance, however, cannot be dispensed with. State v. O'Flaherty, 7 Nev. 153.

A defendant in a criminal action is entitled to have the essential and material facts charged against him found by a grand jury. Idem.

Where an indictment charged that on a certain day defendant, without authority of law and with malice aforethought did shoot at one N. with a pistol loaded with powder and leaden bullets with intent to kill him, etc., it was held that the technical word "assault" should have been employed and an intent to murder stated, but the statutory form of indictment having been followed and no objection before judgment made, the indictment should be held sufficient. Idem.

The words "shoot at" in an indictment imply that the person shot at was within range and distance; and where such "shooting at" a person with loaded pistol with intent to kill him is charged, it is permissible and necessary to prove the preparation and efficiency of the weapon, and other circumstances evidencing the ability of defendant. Idem.

An allegation in an indictment that a shooting at another person with a loaded pistol was "without authority of law and with malice aforethought, and with intent to kill him," is sufficient as an allegation of an intent to murder. Idem.

Cited, State v. Silver, 9 Nev. 228.

An indictment is not insufficient on account of containing more than the statute demands, if there be nothing in it to perplex a person of ordinary understanding or injure the defendant. State v. Pierce, 8 Nev. 291.

An indictment for murder which fails to show that the death occurred within a year and a day after the perpetration of the act which produced it fails to state the requisite facts to constitute a complete offense. State v. Huff, 11 Nev. 17, 29.

The indictment charges: "That on the 23d day of February, 1876, or thereabouts, in the county of Storey, without authority of law, and with malice aforethought, with a deadly weapon, to wit, a knife, the said O., then and there being armed, did, without authority of law and with malice aforethought, make an assault in and upon one W., with intent to kill him, the said W.," etc. It was held that the time when the offense was committed is alleged with sufficient certainty. State v. O'Connor, 11 Nev. 416, 421.

The words "and before the finding of this indictment," after the date alleged, though proper, need not necessarily be inserted in an indictment. Idem.

The indictment clearly charges an assault with a knife—a deadly weapon, with intent to kill. Idem.

An indictment for murder, charging that defendant killed the deceased "by then and there shooting him," is sufficient, without stating the character of the weapon used in the commission of the offense. State v. McLane, 15 Nev. 345, 352.

See State v. Carrick, under sec. 200 of this act.

The sufficiency of an indictment must be determined with reference to the crime charged, and if the indictment is good for the crime of "an assault with intent to kill" it is sufficient to sustain a conviction of "an assault with a deadly weapon with intent to inflict bodily injury." The graver charge includes the less. State v. Collyer, 17 Nev. 275, 286 (30 P. 891).

In an indictment for assault with intent to kill, it is not necessary to allege in direct terms that the instrument used was a deadly weapon. Idem.

The means of affecting the criminal intent, or the circumstances evincing the design with which the assault was made, are matters of evidence and need not be set forth in the indictment. Idem.

When there is any doubt as to whether the instrument used in committing the assault was a deadly weapon, it is a question for the court and jury to decide. Idem.

See State v. Carrick, State v. Rigg, and State v. Simas, under sec. 200 of this act.

Courts should give a liberal interpretation to indictments to uphold the same, rather than a rigid interpretation. State v. Lovelace, 29 Nev. 43, 48 (83 P. 330).

An indictment charging that accused feloniously and with malice aforethought killed a human being by striking, cutting and stabbing, by means of which he died, being in substantial conformity to the form prescribed by this section, is not open to the objection that it does not charge accused with murder, or aver that the acts were done with intent to kill. State v. Johnny, 29 Nev. 203, 216 (87 P. 3).

Indictment held sufficient under this section. State v. Luhano, 31 Nev. 278, 279 (102 P. 260).

7052. Indictment, must be direct, to contain what.

SEC. 202. The indictment must be direct and contain, as it regards:

1. The parties charged;

2. The offense charged;

3. The particular facts of the offense charged so far as necessary to constitute a complete offense, but the evidence tending to prove the charge need not be stated.

It shall not be necessary to set forth in the indictment the character of the weapon used, nor that any weapon was used in the commission of the offense, unless the using of such weapon is a necessary ingredient in the commission of the offense.

In order to sustain a conviction of murder in the first degree, it is not essential that the indictment should state the words "wilfully, deliberately and premeditatedly," in addition to the words "unlawfully and with malice aforethought." State v. Thompson, 12 Nev. 140, 145.

On indictment for murder charging that defendant killed deceased "by then and there shooting him" is sufficient, without stating the character of the weapon used in the commission of the offense. State v. McLane, 15 Nev. 352, 354.

SEC. 203. When a defendant is indicted by a fictitious or erroneous name, and in any stage of the proceedings his true name is discovered, it shall be inserted in the subsequent proceedings and reference shall be made to the fact of his being indicted by the name mentioned in the indictment.

Kerr, Pen. C., 953.

7054. Indictment, to charge only one offense.

SEC. 204. The indictment shall charge but one offense, but it may set forth that offense in different forms under different counts.

Kerr, Pen. C., 954.
See secs. 7097, 7105.

Where indictment for robbery contained two counts, the only difference being that one charged the property taken as that of Wells, Fargo & Co., and the other as that of their messenger in custody thereof at the time, it was held authorized under this section and not amenable to the objection of charging more than one offense. State v. Chapman, 6 Nev. 320, 325.

If an offense is set forth in different counts, it must be done in such a way as to show clearly upon the face of the indictment that the matters and things set forth in the different counts are descriptive of one and the same transaction. State v. Malim, 14 Nev. 288, 290.

An indictment for embezzlement contained two counts, each identical as to the time, place, names of persons and description of property. It was held that the indictment charged but one offense. Idem.

An indictment for burglary with intent to steal certain goods, which after stating the burglary goes on to allege the stealing of the goods, is not objectionable as charging two separate and distinct offenses. State v. Ah Sam, 7 Nev. 127.

An objection to an indictment that charges more than one offense should be taken by special demurrer. State v. Johnson, 9 Nev. 175.

An indictment charging defendant with stealing and driving away particularly described cattle of four different owners, charges but one larceny, and is not duplicitous so as to require the state to elect on which count it stands. State v. Douglas, 26 Nev. 202 (99 A. S. 688, 65 P. 802).

7055. Indictment, time, how stated in.

SEC. 205. The precise time at which an offense was committed need not be stated in the indictment, but it may be alleged to have been committed at any time before the finding of the same, except when the time is a material ingredient of the offense.

Kerr, Pen. C., 955.

An indictment for murder which fails to show that the death occurred within a year and a day after the perpetration of the act which produced it, fails to state the requisite facts to constitute a complete offense. State v. Huff, 11 Nev. 17, 20.

When it is alleged that the defendant, on a certain day and year, etc., "killed" the deceased, it is to be implied that the act which produced the death and the death occurred on the same day. Idem.

See State v. O'Connor, under sec. 201 of this act.

7056. Indictment, error in describing person injured, effect.

SEC. 206. When an offense involves the commission of, or an attempt to commit private injury, and is described with sufficient certainty in other respects to identify the act, an erroneous allegation as to the person injured, or intended to be injured, shall not be deemed to be material.

Kerr, Pen. C., 956.

Above section given in instructions and held proper under circumstances calling for instruction upon the point. State v. Cleavland, 6 Nev. 181, 185.

7057. Indictment, construction of words used.

SEC. 207. The words used in an indictment shall be construed in the usual acceptance in common language, except such words and phrases as are defined by law, and these shall be construed according to their legal meaning.

Kerr, Pen. C., 957.

Where it was objected to an indictment for grand larceny of certain "silver-bearing ore" that the property alleged to have been stolen savored of the realty, it was held that as "ore" in its usual acceptation meant something severed from the realty, there was a sufficient statement of facts in the indictment showing it to be personal property. State v. Berryman, 8 Nev. 262, 270.

The words "silver-bearing ore," as used in an indictment charging grand larceny of it, means a portion of the vein matter, which has been extracted and separated from the mass of waste rock and earth and implies severance from the freehold. Idem.

Cited, State v. O'Connor, 11 Nev. 421; State v. Lovelace, 29 Nev. 46, 47 (83 P. 330); State v. Hughes, 31 Nev. 273 (102 P. 562).

7058. Indictment—Words of statute need not be strictly followed.

See State v. Anderson, under sec. 201 of this act.

An indictment should charge a statutory offense in the words of the statute creating it, or in words of a similar import. People v. Logan, 1 Nev. 110.

7059. Indictment, when sufficient.

SEC. 209. The indictment shall be sufficient if it can be understood therefrom:

1. That it is entitled in a court having authority to receive it, though the name of the court be not accurately set forth.

2. That it was found by a grand jury of the district in which the court was held.

3. That the defendant is named; or if his name cannot be discovered, that he be described by a fictitious name, with a statement that he has refused to discover his real name.

4. That the offense was committed at some place within the jurisdiction of the court.

5. That the offense was committed at some time prior to the finding of the indictment.

6. That the act or omission charged as the offense is clearly and distinctly set forth in ordinary and concise language, without repetition, and in such a manner as to enable a person of common understanding to know what is intended.

7. That the act or omission charged as the offense is stated with such a degree of certainty as to enable the court to pronounce judgment upon a conviction according to the right of the case.

The indictment sufficiently alleged that the acts complained of were done with intent to escape, as the word "feloniously" means "done with intent to commit a crime," and with a design on the part of the accused to commit the felony with which he is charged, and the word "attempt" implies both an intent and an endeavor to accomplish it. State v. Clark, 22 Nev. 145 (104 P. 593).

An indictment for violation of the statute making it an offense to sell liquor to an Indian within the state, averring that "defendant in the town of Tonopah, Nye County, Nevada," sold liquor to an Indian, is sufficient without specific averment that the Indian was at the time within the state; this section warranting the reading of the quoted words to apply to the entire transaction constituting or necessary to constitute the offense. State v. Niblett, 31 Nev. 246 (102 P. 229).

7060. Indictment, defect in form not material when not prejudicial—Amendment.

Kerr, Pen. C., 971.
See sec. 6274.

Under sec. 252 of the act of 1861, 462, it was held, one may be principal in the crime of arson who does not himself apply the torch; if he be present and abetting, he is a principal. State v. Squaires, 2 Nev. 227, 234.

It is not essential to the conviction of accessories before the fact that the prosecution first prove the guilt of the principal; it is only necessary in such case to show that a crime has been committed, and that defendant, if present, aided and assisted, or if not present, advised or encouraged it. State v. Jones, 7 Nev. 409.

A person may be indicted for having, with the knowledge of the commission of a public offense, taken money or property of another, or a gratuity, or a reward, or an engagement, or understanding, express or implied, to compound or conceal the offense or to abstain from a prosecution therefor or to withhold any evidence thereof, though the person guilty of the original offense has not been indicted nor tried.

7084. Defendant, if present, to be committed, if not bench warrant to issue.
7085. Defendant must be informed of right to counsel.
7086. Arraignment, how made.

7088. Time given defendant to answer indictment.

7074. Arraignment of the defendant.

SEC. 224. When the indictment is filed, the defendant must be arraigned thereon before the court in which it is found unless the cause is transferred to some other county for trial.

Kerr, Pen. C., 976.

7075. Arraignment, defendant must appear personally, when.

SEC. 225. If the indictment be for a felony, the defendant must be personally present; but if for a misdemeanor, his personal appearance is unnecessary and he may appear upon arraignment by counsel.

Kerr, Pen. C., 977.

7076. Arraignment, officer to bring defendant before court, when.

SEC. 226. When a defendant's personal appearance is necessary, if he is in custody, the court may direct the officer in whose custody he is to bring him before it to be arraigned, and the officer must do so accordingly.

Kerr, Pen. C., 978.

7077. Failure of defendant discharged on bail to appear for arraignment—Bench warrant, when may issue.

SEC. 227. If the defendant has been discharged on bail, or has deposited money instead thereof, and does not appear to be arraigned when his personal attendance is necessary, the court, in addition to the forfeiture of the recognizance, or of the money deposited, may direct the clerk to issue a bench warrant for his arrest. If the defendant is indicted without having been previously charged or held to answer, the court may also direct the clerk to issue a bench warrant for his arrest.

Kerr, Pen. C., 979.

7078. Idem—Bench warrant issued by clerk.

SEC. 228. The clerk, on the application of the district attorney, may accordingly, at any time after the order, whether the court is sitting or not, issue a bench warrant into one or more counties.

Kerr, Pen. C., 980.
Cited, State v. Clark, 32 Nev. 145 (104 P. 593).

7079. Bench warrant, form of.

SEC. 229. The bench warrant upon the indictment shall be substantially in the following form:

7080. Arrest under bench warrant—Bail.

SEC. 230. The defendant, when arrested under a warrant for an offense not bailable, must be held in custody by the sheriff of the county in which the information is filed or the indictment is found, unless admitted to bail after an examination upon a writ of habeas corpus; but if the offense is bailable, there must be added to the body of the bench warrant a direction to the following effect: "Or, if he requires it, that you take him before any magistrate in that county, or in the county in which you arrest him, that he may give bail to answer to the information or indictment"; and the court, upon directing it to issue, must fix the amount of bail, and an indorsement must be made thereon and signed by the clerk, to the following effect: "The defendant is to be admitted to bail in the sum of.....dollars."

Kerr, Pen. C., 982.

Cited, Ex Parte Finlen, 20 Nev. 141, 150 (18 P. 827).

7081. How bench warrant may be served.

SEC. 231. The bench warrant may be served in any county, in the same manner as a warrant of arrest, except that when served in another county it need not be indorsed by a magistrate of that county.

Kerr, Pen. C., 983.

7082. When defendant arrested on bench warrant in another county—Magistrate of that county to admit to bail—Amount—Sureties.

SEC. 232. If the offense charged in the bench warrant is bailable, and the defendant is arrested in another county, the officer must, upon being required by the defendant, take him before the most convenient magistrate in that or any adjoining county, who must admit the defendant to bail in the amount fixed in the bench warrant and take bail from him accordingly, naming therein a time, not more than ten days after the time of taking such bail, for the defendant to appear before the court in which the bench warrant was issued; or, in case the court is not in session at the time so fixed for the defendant to appear, for the defendant to appear before the court in which the bench warrant was issued at the first time it is in session thereafter. The qualification and justification of the sureties shall be as required in the chapter on bail.

7083. Increase of bail, ordering defendant into custody, when.

SEC. 233. When the indictment is for a felony, and the defendant before the finding thereof has given bail for his appearance to answer the charge, the court to which the indictment is presented, or in which it is pending, may order the defendant to be committed to actual custody, unless he gives bail in an increased amount, to be specified in the order.

Kerr, Pen. C., 985.

7084. Defendant, if present, to be committed, if not, bench warrant to issue.

SEC. 234. If such order is made and the defendant is present, he must be forthwith committed. If he is not present, a bench warrant must be issued and proceeded upon in the manner provided in this act.

Kerr, Pen. C., 986.

7085. Defendant must be informed of right to counsel.

SEC. 235. If the defendant appears for arraignment without counsel, he must be informed by the court that it is his right to have counsel before being arraigned, and must be asked if he desires the aid of counsel. If he desires and is unable to employ counsel, the court must assign counsel to defend him.

Kerr, Pen. C., 987.
Guaranty of right to have counsel, U. S. Const., sec. 178; State Const., sec. 237.

7086. Arraignment, how made.

SEC. 236. The arraignment must be made by the court, or by the clerk or district attorney under its direction, and consists in reading the indictment to the defendant and delivering to him a copy thereof, and of the indorsements thereon, including the list of witnesses indorsed on it, and asking him whether he pleads guilty or not guilty to the indictment.

Kerr, Pen. C., 988.

7087. When defendant does not declare his true name, proceedings.

SEC. 237. When the defendant is arraigned, he must be informed that if the name by which he is indicted is not his true name, he must then declare his true name, or be proceeded against by the name in the indictment. If he gives no other name, the court may proceed accordingly; but if he alleges that another name is his true name, the court must direct an entry thereof in the minutes of the arraignment, and the subsequent proceedings on the indictment may be had against him by that name, referring also to the name by which he was first charged in the indictment.

Kerr, P. C., 989.

A defendant in a criminal case should be indicted by his true name when known; but if unknown, he may be indicted by any name that is sufficient to identify him; and when arraigned, if he do not give his true name upon request, he cannot complain of being tried by the name specified in the indictment, or the name given upon arraignment, although subsequently found not to be the true name. State v. Burns, 8 Nev. 251, 256.

7088. Time given defendant to answer indictment.

SEC. 238. If, on the arraignment, the defendant requires it, he must be allowed a reasonable time, not less than one day, to answer the indictment.

Kerr, Pen. C., 990.

7089. Defendant may answer, demur, or plead to the indictment.

SEC. 239. The defendant may, in answer to the arraignment, move to set aside, demur, or plead to the indictment.

A motion to set aside an indictment must be made before demurrer or plea. If not so made, it will be deemed to have been waived. State v. Hamilton, 13 Nev. 286.

SETTING ASIDE THE INDICTMENT

7090. Grounds for setting aside indictment.
7091. Objection to indictment, when deemed waived.
7092. Motion, when heard—If denied or granted, what proceedings to be had.
7093. Motion to set aside indictment—Case resubmitted.
7094. Order no bar to further prosecution.

7090. Grounds for setting aside indictment.

SEC. 240. The indictment must be set aside by the court in which the defendant is arraigned, upon his motion, in any of the following cases:

1. Where it is not found, indorsed, and presented as prescribed in this act.

2. When the names of the witnesses examined before the grand jury, or whose depositions may have been read before them, are not inserted at the foot of the indictment, or indorsed thereon.

3. When a person is permitted to be present during the session of the grand jury, when the charge embraced in the indictment is under consideration, except as provided in section 180.

4. When the defendant had not been held to answer before the finding of the indictment, on any ground which would have been good ground for challenge, either to the panel or to any individual grand juror.

Kerr, Pen. C., 995.

See State v. Hamilton, under sec. 239 of this act.

Cited, State v. McNamara, 3 Nev. 75.

Where the defendant had the privilege after indictment was found, under the ruling of the court as well as by virtue of the provisions of this section to move to set aside the indictment on any ground which would have been good ground of challenge either to the panel or any individual grand juror, and refused to exercise the privilege, it was held that he was not in a position to complain of the ruling of the court in refusing to set aside the indictment. State v. Larkin, 11 Nev. 314, 325.

Where a defendant had not been held to answer before the finding of an indictment, and he moved to set it aside on the ground that several members of the grand jury were not shown to be qualified grand jurors, the motion was properly overruled, since the ground of the motion was not a statutory ground of challenge to an individual grand juror. State v. Simas, 25 Nev. 432, 442 (62 P. 242).

Where accused, in support of his motion to quash the indictment for the nonresidence of a grand juror, presented an affidavit on information and belief averring that fact, he could not complain of the presentation by the state of an affidavit of the juror averring his residence and the disposition by the court of the motion on the affidavits, and accused, if desiring the presence of the grand juror, should have subpenaed him, or taken his testimony by deposition. State v. Casey, 33 Nev. — (117 P. 5).

The admission of hearsay or secondary evidence may be taken advantage of on motion to set aside the indictment under this section. State v. Logan, 1 Nev. 515.

An objection to an indictment that it does not show that it was found by a grand jury having the proper authority must be raised on motion to set it aside. State v. Roderigas, 7 Nev. 328, 333.

The point that an indictment fails to show that it was found by a proper grand jury, cannot be raised under a general demurrer that the facts charged do not constitute a public offense. Idem.

An objection that an indictment has not been found, indorsed or presented as prescribed by law, is not a ground of demurrer, but must be taken by motion to set aside the indictment before pleading to it. State v. Harris, 12 Nev. 414, 419, 420.

Likewise an objection that the indictment was not signed by the district attorney. Idem.

A motion to quash an indictment because the grand jurors were not selected according to law, ought to be made before plea. State v. Collyer, 17 Nev. 275, 280 (30 P. 891).

Cited, State v. Simas, 25 Nev. 442 (62 P. 242).

7091. Objection to indictment, when deemed waived.

SEC. 241. If the motion to set aside the indictment is not made, the defendant is precluded from afterward taking the objections mentioned in the last section.

Kerr, Pen. C., 996.

See State v. Hamilton, under sec. 239 of this act.

Objection to indictment must be taken by motion to set aside, or by special demurrer, and if not so raised or taken, it is waived. State v. Roderigas, 7 Nev. 328, 333.

7092. Motion, when heard—If denied or granted, what proceedings to be had.

SEC. 242. The motion must be heard at the time it is made, unless for good cause the court postpones the hearing to another time. If the motion is denied, the defendant must immediately answer the indictment, either by demurring or pleading thereto. If the motion is granted, the court must order that the defendant, if in custody, be discharged therefrom; or, if admitted to bail, that his bail be exonerated; or, if he has deposited money instead of bail, that the same be refunded to him, unless it directs that the case be resubmitted to the same or another grand jury; provided, that after such order of resubmission the defendant may be examined before a magistrate, and discharged or committed by him, as in other cases, if before indictment filed he has not been examined and committed by a magistrate.

Kerr, Pen. C., 997.

See State v. Hamilton, under sec. 239 of this act.

The failure of respective grand juries to find an indictment is not a bar to further prosecution. Ex Parte Job, 17 Nev. 185, 186 (30 P. 699).

7093. Motion to set aside indictment—Custody—Case resubmitted.

SEC. 243. If the court directs that the case be resubmitted, the defendant, if already in custody, must so remain unless he is admitted to bail; or if already admitted to bail, or money has been deposited instead thereof, the bail or money shall be answerable for the appearance of the defendant to answer a new indictment; and, unless a new indictment is found before the next grand jury of the district is discharged, the court must, on the discharge of such grand jury, make the order prescribed by the preceding section.

Kerr, Pen. C., 998.

7094. Order no bar to further prosecution.

SEC. 244. An order to set aside an indictment, as provided in this act, is no bar to a further prosecution for the same offense.

Kerr, Pen. C., 999.

DEMURRER

7095. Pleadings of defendant, designation of.
7096. Demurrer or plea, when put in.
7098. Form of demurrer to indictment.
7099. Hearing of the demurrer.
7100. Judgment on demurrer.
7101. Demurrer allowed, bar to another prosecution, when.
7102. Demurrer sustained, case not directed to be resubmitted, effect.
7103. Case resubmitted, proceeding.
7104. Proceedings if demurrer disallowed.
7105. Objections, how taken.

7095. Pleading of defendant, designation of.

SEC. 245. The pleading on the part of the defendant is either a demurrer or a plea.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1002.

7096. Demurrer or plea, when put in.

SEC. 246. Both the demurrer and the plea must be put in, in open court, either at the time of the arraignment or at such other time as may be allowed to the defendant for that purpose.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1003.

7097. Grounds for demurrer to indictment.

SEC. 247. The defendant may demur to the indictment, when it appears upon the face thereof:

1. That the grand jury by which it was found had no legal authority to inquire into the offense charged, for the reason of its not being within the local jurisdiction of the court.

2. That it does not substantially conform to the requirements of sections 200 and 201.

3. That more than one offense is charged in the indictment.

4. That the facts stated do not constitute a public offense.

5. That the indictment contains matter, which, if true, would constitute a legal justification or excuse of the offense charged, or other legal bar to the prosecution.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1004.

The point that an indictment fails to show that it was found by a proper grand jury cannot be raised under a general demurrer that the facts charged do not constitute a public offense. State v. Roderigas, 7 Nev. 328, 333.

When in an indictment for murder, otherwise sufficient, it was substantially charged that defendant with malice aforethought struck deceased, thereby giving him a mortal wound of which he died, and it was objected on general demurrer that the killing was not charged in positive and direct terms, but only argumentatively, it was held, that though such indictment might be held defective on special objection, it was aided on general demurrer. State v. Harkin, 7 Nev. 378, 384.

Objections to the form of an indictment for defects apparent upon its face cannot be taken advantage of for the first time on appeal. State v. O'Flaherty, 7 Nev. 154, 158.

An objection to an indictment that it charges more than one offense should be taken by special demurrer. State v. Johnson, 9 Nev. 175, 179.

Cited, State v. Thompson, 12 Nev. 143.

An objection that indictment has not been found, indorsed or presented as prescribed by law, is not a ground of demurrer. State v. Harris, 12 Nev. 414, 419.

Likewise an objection that the indictment was not signed by the district attorney. Idem.

A defect in an indictment for murder, which by failing to show that the death occurred within a year and a day, is waived by the failure of the defendant to demur to the indictment. State v. Huff, 11 Nev. 17, 20.

An order of the court sustaining a demurrer to one count cannot be treated as an amendment to the indictment. State v. McKiernan, 17 Nev. 224, 229 (30 P. 831).

7098. Form of demurrer to indictment.

SEC. 248. The demurrer must be in writing, signed by either the defendant or his counsel, and filed. It must distinctly specify the grounds of objection to the indictment, or it must be disregarded.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1005.

It seems that a demurrer to an indictment "that it charges two separate and distinct offenses" is objectionable, for the reason that it does not distinctly specify the grounds of objection as contemplated by this section. State v. Ah Sam, 7 Nev. 127, 129.

See State v. Harkin, and State v. Roderigas, under sec. 247 of this act.

7099. Hearing of the demurrer.

SEC. 249. Upon the demurrer being filed, the argument upon the objections presented thereby shall be heard either immediately or at such time as the court may appoint.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1006.

7100. Judgment on demurrer.

SEC. 250. Upon considering the demurrer, the court must give judgment either allowing or disallowing it, and an order to that effect must be entered in the minutes.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1007.

An appeal in criminal cases may be taken from an order of the district court allowing a demurrer, though final judgment be not entered. People v. Logan, 1 Nev. 110, 114, 115.

7101. Demurrer allowed, bar to another prosecution, when.

SEC. 251. If the demurrer is allowed, the judgment is final upon the indictment demurred to, and is a bar to another prosecution for the same offense, unless the court, being of the opinion that the objection on which the demurrer is allowed may be avoided in a new indictment, directs the case to be submitted to the same or another grand jury; provided, that after such order or resubmission, the defendant may be examined before a magistrate, and discharged or committed by him, as in other cases.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1008.

An order resubmitting the case "to the same or another grand jury" was not void for uncertainty. Ex Parte Job, 17 Nev. 184, 186, 188 (30 P. 699).

7102. Demurrer sustained, case not directed to be resubmitted, effect.

SEC. 252. If the court does not direct the case to be resubmitted, the defendant, if in custody, must be discharged, or if admitted to bail, his bail must be exonerated, or if he has deposited money instead of bail, the money must be refunded to him.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1009.

7103. Case resubmitted, proceeding.

SEC. 253. If the court direct that the case be resubmitted the same proceedings must be had thereon as are prescribed in section 243.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1010.

7104. Proceedings if demurrer is disallowed.

SEC. 254. If the demurrer is disallowed, the court must permit the defendant, at his election, to plead, which he must do forthwith, or at such time as the court may direct. If he does not plead, judgment may be pronounced against him.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1011.

7105. Objections, how taken.

SEC. 255. When the objections mentioned in section 247 appear upon the face of the indictment, they can only be taken advantage of by demurrer, except that the objection to the jurisdiction of the court over the subject of the indictment, or that the facts stated do not constitute a public offense, may be taken at the trial under the plea of not guilty, and in arrest of judgment.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1012.
See secs. 7054, 7097, 7469.
See State v. O'Flaherty, under sec. 247 of this act.

Section 7054 states that the indictment shall charge but one offense, which may be set forth in different forms; and section 7097 provides that the defendant may demur on the ground "that more than one offense is charged in the indictment." Section 7105 provides that objections which may be taken by demurrer under section 7097, including the objection that the indictment charges more than one offense, can be taken advantage of only by demurrer, except an objection to the jurisdiction of the court, or that the facts stated do not constitute a public offense, and the decisions hold that the objection that the indictment charges more than one offense is waived unless taken by demurrer.

Section 7219 provides that in all cases the defendant may be found guilty of any offense the commission of which is necessarily included in that which is charged in the indictment, or of any attempt to commit the offense charged. These statutory provisions were not referred to in the opinion in Ex Parte Dela, 25 Nev. 346 (see sec. 6240). In that case, under an indictment charging acts constituting rape on a female under the age of consent, and that by reason of these acts and injuries resulting the girl died, the necessary facts to constitute rape and also to constitute murder resulting therefrom both being detailed in the indictment, and no demurrer being interposed, it was held that a conviction of rape could not be sustained. Apparently the court took the view that rape belongs to a class of offenses different from, and is not included in, murder, although the rape caused the death. But no distinction appears to have been made as to whether the doctrine should apply further than to cases of murder generally, such as those where the killing is caused by shooting or poison, and does not include any other offense. Whether the same rule ought to relate to indictments which charge all the essential facts of a crime, such as rape, arson, burglary or robbery, and that death resulted from commission of acts constituting one of these felonies, is not stated definitely. Nor did the court in the opinion consider the principle that if an indictment charges more than one offense a conviction upon evidence supporting the allegations of either may be sustained in the absence of a demurrer.

In the decision in the case of State v. Johnson, 9 Nev. 175, it was held that where there "were distinct offenses, and the indictment charged more than one offense, objection should have been taken by special demurrer." In State v. Derst, 10 Nev. 443, it was determined that objections which go to the form and not to the substance of allegations in the indictment are waived by failure to demur.

"On an indictment for rape there may, where there are proper allegations, be a conviction of attempt, simple assault, felonious assault, assault with intent to rape, assault and battery, carnal knowledge of a child or imbecile female. * * * And on an indictment for assault with intent to rape there may be a conviction of simple assault or, where a battery is alleged, of assault and battery." 33 Cyc. 1453, and cases cited.

When questioned for the first time on appeal, or by writ of habeas corpus, an indictment will be held to be sufficient, unless it is so defective that by no construction within the reasonable limits of the language used can it be said to charge the offense for which the defendant was convicted. State v. Hughes, 31 Nev. 270; State v. Raymond, 33 Nev. —, 117 P. 18; Breckenridge v. Lamb, 34 Nev. —; Dimmick v. Tompkins, 194 U. S. 551.

Under an indictment for murder, a defendant may be lawfully convicted of an assault with intent to kill. Ex Parte Curnow, 21 Nev. 33.

The objections to an indictment on the ground that it does not state facts sufficient to constitute a public offense may be taken for the first time in the appellate court, and is not waived by a failure in the district court to make the point on demurrer or on motion in arrest of judgment. State v. Trolson, 21 Nev. 419.

Where the evidence shows the defendant to be guilty of robbery, he cannot complain that he was convicted of an attempt to commit the crime. State v. O'Keefe, 23 Nev. 127.

See State v. Huff, under sec. 247 of this act.

Objections to the form of an indictment for defects apparent upon its face cannot be taken advantage of for the first time on appeal. State v. O'Flaherty, 7 Nev. 154.

An objection to an indictment that it does not show that it was found by a grand jury having proper authority must be raised on motion to set it aside or taken by special demurrer, and if not so raised or taken, it is waived. State v. Roderigas, 7 Nev. 328, 333.

An objection to an indictment that charges more than one offense should be taken by special demurrer. State v. Johnson, 9 Nev. 175, 178.

A motion in arrest of judgment can only be sustained upon the ground that the court has no jurisdiction over the subject of an indictment, or that the facts stated do not constitute a public offense. State v. O'Connor, 11 Nev. 416, 422.

THE PLEA

7106. Pleas, kinds of.
7107. Pleas, how put in, form of.
7108. Plea of guilty, how put in.
7109. Plea of not guilty, puts in issue, what.
7110. Plea of not guilty, evidence presentable under.
7111. Plea of former acquittal, effect of.
7112. What is a former acquittal.
7113. Former acquittal or conviction of higher offense, effect of.
7114. When defendant refuses to plead to indictment, plea of not guilty to be entered.

7106. Pleas, kinds of.

SEC. 256. There are four kinds of pleas to an indictment. A plea of:

1. Guilty.

2. Not guilty.

3. A former judgment of conviction or acquittal of the offense charged, which may be pleaded either with or without plea of not guilty.

4. Once in jeopardy.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1016.

When a prisoner has pleaded "not guilty," it is in the discretion of the court whether or not to allow him to withdraw that plea to interpose another. State v. Salge, 2 Nev. 321.

A prisoner has, however, an absolute right to withdraw that plea to interpose any good defense which has arisen since the last continuance of the case. Idem.

The court properly refused to allow defendant to withdraw his plea of not guilty, to interpose a plea that was not sufficient in law as a defense and besides being defective in form could not, by amendment, be made available. Idem.

Where the defendant interposed a plea of former acquittal in the exact form prescribed by the statute, the court erred in refusing to allow the plea to be entered of record. State v. Johnson, 11 Nev. 273, 276.

It is not for the court to decide in advance that the plea of former acquittal could not be established. That issue was for the jury, subject, of course, to the right of the court to decide upon the competency and relevancy of the evidence offered in support of the plea. Idem.

Although the plea of former jeopardy might have been superfluous, as the facts set out in it might possibly have been given in evidence under the general issue, or if not, then under the plea of former acquittal, it would have been better if the facts disclosed by it amounted to a defense, to allow it to be entered. Idem.

A plea of former conviction or acquittal is a good plea in bar of another indictment for the same offense, but the pendency of another indictment has never been held to constitute matter in abatement. State v. Lambert, 9 Nev. 321, 323.

7107. Pleas, how put in, form of.

SEC. 257. Every plea must be oral, and must be entered upon the minutes of the court in substantially the following form:

1. If the defendant plead guilty: "The defendant pleads that he is guilty of the offense charged in the indictment."

2. If the defendant plead not guilty: "The defendant pleads that he is not guilty of the offense charged in the indictment."

3. If the defendant plead a former acquittal or conviction: "The defendant pleads that he has already been convicted (or acquitted) of the offense charged in the indictment, by the judgment of the court of.....(naming it), rendered at.....(naming the place), on the.....day of....., 19....."

4. If he plead once in jeopardy: "The defendant pleads that he has been once in jeopardy for the offense charged in the indictment (specifying the time, place and court)."

Kerr, Pen. C., 1017.
See State v. Johnson, under sec. 256 of this act.

7108. Plea of guilty, how put in.

SEC. 258. A plea of guilty can be put in by the defendant himself only in open court, unless upon indictment against a corporation, in which case it may be put in by counsel. The court may, at any time before judgment, upon a plea of guilty, permit it to be withdrawn and a plea of not guilty substituted.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1018.

7109. Plea of not guilty, puts in issue, what.

SEC. 259. The plea of not guilty puts in issue every material allegation of the indictment.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1019.

7110. Plea of not guilty, evidence presentable under.

SEC. 260. All matters of fact tending to establish a defense, other than that specified in the third subdivision of section 256, may be given in evidence under the plea of not guilty.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1020.
See State v. Johnson, under sec. 256 of this act.
Cited, Ex Parte Maxwell, 11 Nev. 440.

7111. Plea of former acquittal, effect of.

SEC. 261. If the defendant was formerly acquitted on the ground of a variance between the indictment and the proof, or upon an objection to the form or substance of the indictment, or in order to hold the defendant for a higher offense, without a judgment of acquittal, it is not an acquittal of the same offense.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1021.

7112. What is a former acquittal.

SEC. 262. Whenever the defendant is acquitted on the merits, he is acquitted of the same offense, notwithstanding any defect in form or substance in the indictment on which the trial was had.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1022.

7113. Former acquittal or conviction of higher offense, effect of.

SEC. 263. When the defendant is convicted or acquitted, or has been once placed in jeopardy, upon an indictment, the conviction, acquittal, or jeopardy is a bar to another indictment for the offense charged in the former, or for an attempt to commit the same, or for an offense necessarily included therein, of which he might have been convicted under that indictment.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1023.

When the verdict in a criminal case is so defective that no judgment can be entered upon it, the defendant, who might have had it perfected, is considered as assenting to it, and as waiving any objections to being tried before another jury. State v. Rover, 10 Nev. 388 (21 A. R. 745).

A defendant tried on a criminal charge and found not guilty by a jury, cannot again be put on trial for the same offense. State v. Herrick, 3 Nev. 259.

See State v. Johnson, under sec. 256 of this act.

Whenever the accused has been placed upon trial, upon a valid indictment before a competent court, and a jury duly impaneled, sworn and charged with the case, his jeopardy attaches, and the discharge of the jury before verdict, unless with the consent of the defendant, or the intervention of some unavoidable accident or some overruling necessity, operates as an acquittal. Ex Parte Maxwell, 11 Nev. 428.

The inability of the jury to agree upon a verdict is recognized as creating a necessity that justifies the discharge of the jury. Idem.

Whenever a trial has commenced, whether for misdemeanor or felony, and the judge discovers any imperfection which will render a verdict void or voidable by him, he may stop the trial, and what has been done will be no impediment in the way of any future proceedings. Idem.

When all the facts are agreed upon by counsel and the only question is whether, upon the agreed facts, the defendant had been in jeopardy, it was held that the court did not invade the province of the jury by giving an instruction that there was no evidence to sustain a plea of former jeopardy. State v. Pritchard, 16 Nev. 102.

Where one charged with murder is convicted of involuntary manslaughter, a lower degree of homicide, and on appeal a new trial is granted him because of a mistrial in the first instance or for irregularity or prejudicial error committed against him, the reversal and remanding sets aside the result of the former trial and leaves accused in the same position as if he had never been tried; and he cannot plead former acquittal of crimes of a greater degree than the one of which he was convicted. In re Somers, 31 Nev. 531 (135 A. S. 700, 103 P. 1073).

Under such circumstances, accused is estopped from pleading rights under the constitution (sec. 237, ante). Idem.

7114. When defendant refuses to plead to indictment, plea of not guilty to be entered.

SEC. 264. If the defendant refuses to answer the indictment by demurrer or plea, a plea of not guilty must be entered.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1024.

The entry of a plea of not guilty in behalf of the accused by the clerk, upon the order of a court after defendant's refusal to plead, is equivalent to a plea of not guilty. State v. Williams, 31 Nev. 361 (102 P. 974).

CHAPTER 24

REMOVAL OF ACTION BEFORE TRIAL

7115. Change of venue, grounds for.
7116. Application for removal, how made.
7118. Order of removal, transmission of.
7120. Authority of court to which action is removed—Transmission of original papers.

7115. Change of venue, grounds for.

SEC. 265. A criminal action, prosecuted by indictment, may be removed from the court in which it is pending on application of the defendant or state, on the ground that a fair and impartial trial cannot be had in the county where the indictment is pending.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1033.

The action of the lower court, in granting or refusing a change of venue, is a matter of judicial discretion. If that discretion is abused, it becomes the duty of an appellate court to afford relief. State v. Millain, 3 Nev. 409; State v. McLane, 15 Nev. 345.

Two circumstances should influence a court to grant a change of venue. One, the impossibility of obtaining a fair and impartial jury; the other, such a state of public excitement against the prisoner as would be likely to overawe and intimidate even a fair jury. Idem.

It is proper for a district judge to overrule a motion for a change of venue, on the ground that there exists in the community such a prejudice that the accused cannot obtain an impartial trial, until it can be shown by an examination of a sufficient number of jurors that a fair and impartial jury cannot be obtained. State v. Gray, 19 Nev. 212 (8 P. 456); State v. Millain, supra.

Showing for change of venue—When insufficient. State v. Lawry, 4 Nev. 161; State v. McLane, supra.

Under this section, before amendment, it was held: Where, in the case of a person charged with crime, the prosecution is unable, on account of public prejudice against him, to procure a competent jury, and the prisoner (who alone under the statute has the right) refuses to apply for a change of venue, it is proper to keep the case pending until a jury can be had, and the prisoner cannot complain of the want of a speedy trial. Ex Parte Stanley, 4 Nev. 114.

The fact that threats were made against the prisoner by parties who were not shown to have been either numerous or influential, was not sufficient to show that there was danger of the jury being intimidated. State v. Millain, 3 Nev. 409.

Evidence in a homicide case showing deceased to be a man favorably and widely known in the county and defendant a stranger, the very general and unqualified belief in the county in defendant's guilt and a bitter feeling against him, and the knowledge of the jurors of such feeling and the possession by many of them of qualified opinions as to his guilt which would require evidence to remove, held to show an abuse of discretion in refusing a change of venue, under this section. State v. Dwyer, 29 Nev. 421, 425 (91 P. 305).

To require a change of venue it must appear that the prejudice against accused is so great as to prevent a fair trial, and it is not sufficient merely to show that great prejudice exists against him. State v. Casey, 33 Nev. — (117 P. 5).

Where there was a great feeling against accused in the town where the offense was committed, but that feeling did not permeate the entire county, which contained between four and five thousand possible jurors, and many of the jurors were drawn from portions of the county where the victim of accused was unknown, and where the crime was hardly known of or discussed, the refusal to grant a change of venue on the ground of the prejudice against accused was not erroneous. Idem.

A motion for a change of venue is addressed to the sound discretion of the trial court, and where it is possible to secure an impartial jury, the denial of the motion is within the court's discretion. Idem.

7116. Application for removal, how made.

SEC. 266. The application for removal must be made in open court, and in writing, verified by the affidavit of the defendant or district attorney, and a copy of said affidavit must be served on the adverse party at least one day prior to the hearing of the application; provided, the application may be supported or opposed by other affidavits or other evidence, or other witnesses may be examined in open court. Whenever the affidavit of the defendant shows that he cannot safely appear in person to make such application because popular prejudice is so great as to endanger his personal safety, and such statement is sustained by other testimony, such application may be made by his attorney, and must be heard and determined in the absence of the defendant, notwithstanding the charge then pending against him be a felony, and he has not at the time of such application been arrested or given bail, or been arraigned, or pleaded or demurred to the indictment.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1034.

7117. Court must order change of venue, when.

SEC. 267. If the court is satisfied that the representations of the applicant are true, an order must be made transferring the action to the district court of some convenient county free from a like objection.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1035.
Cited, State v. Millain, 3 Nev. 461.

7118. Order of removal, transmission of.

SEC. 268. The order of removal must be entered on the minutes, and the clerk must immediately make out and transmit to the court to which the action is removed a certified copy of the order of removal, record, pleadings, and proceedings in the action, including the undertakings for the appearance of the defendant and of the witnesses.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1036.

7119. Proceedings on removal when defendant is in custody.

SEC. 269. If the defendant is in custody, the order must direct his removal and he must be forthwith removed by the sheriff of the county where he is imprisoned, to the custody of the sheriff of the county to which the action is removed.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1037.

7120. Authority of court to which action is removed—Transmission of original papers.

SEC. 270. The court to which the action is removed must proceed to trial and judgment therein as if the action had been commenced in such court. If it is necessary to have any of the original pleadings or other papers before such court, the court from which the action is removed must, at any time, on the application of the district attorney or the defendant, order such papers or pleadings to be transmitted by the clerk, a certified copy thereof being retained.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1038.

MODE OF TRIAL

7121. Issue of fact defined.

SEC. 271. An issue of fact arises:

1. Upon a plea of not guilty.
2. Upon a plea of former conviction or acquittal of the same offense.
3. Upon a plea of once in jeopardy.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1041.

The issue on the plea of former acquittal is for the jury. State v. Johnson, 11 Nev. 273, 276.

7122. Issue of fact, how tried.

SEC. 272. Issues of fact must be tried by jury, unless a trial by jury be waived in cases not amounting to felony, by consent of both parties expressed in open court and entered in its minutes. In cases of misdemeanor the jury may consist of twelve, or any number less than twelve upon which the parties may agree in open court.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1042.

See State v. Johnson, under sec. 271 of this act.

When trial is begun. State v. Jackman, 31 Nev. 511 (104 P. 13).

7123. When presence of defendant is necessary on the trial.

SEC. 273. If the prosecution be for a felony, the defendant must be personally present at the trial; but if for misdemeanor, the trial may be had in the absence of defendant; if, however, his presence is necessary for the purpose of identification, the court may, upon application of the district attorney, by an order or warrant, require the personal attendance of the defendant at the trial.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1043.

FORMATION OF TRIAL JURY—CALENDAR

7124. Formation of trial jury.
7125. Calendar to be prepared by clerk.
7126. Idem—Order of disposition of cases.
7127. Defendant entitled to time to prepare for trial.

SEC. 274. Trial juries for criminal actions are formed in the same manner as trial juries in civil actions.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1046.

See sec. 7129.

Juries in civil cases, sec. 5204.

General statutes relating to jurors and juries, secs. 4925–4942.

Jury trial secured by Const., sec. 232.

It is competent for the legislature to point out the mode of impaneling juries, and the forms of the common law in procuring a jury can be changed and made subject to statutory regulations. State v. McClear, 11 Nev. 39.

Cited, State v. Johnson, 12 Nev. 134; State v. Crozier, 12 Nev. 300, 304.

Adjournment of court while jury being impaneled. State v. Jackman, 31 Nev. 511 (104 P. 13).

Vacation of venire. Idem.

7125. Calendar to be prepared by clerk.

SEC. 275. The clerk must prepare a calendar of all criminal actions pending in the court, enumerating them according to the date of the filing of the indictment, specifying, opposite the title of each action, whether such action is for a felony or a misdemeanor, and whether the defendant is in custody or on bail.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1047.

See sec. 4906.

No terms of district court. State v. Jackman, 31 Nev. 511 (104 P. 13).

7126. Idem—Order of disposition of cases.

SEC. 276. The issues on the calendar must be disposed of in the following order, unless for good cause the court shall direct an action to be tried out of its order:

1. Prosecutions for felony, when the defendant is in custody;
2. Prosecutions for misdemeanor, when the defendant is in custody;
3. Prosecutions for felony, when the defendant is on bail;
4. Prosecutions for misdemeanor, when the defendant is on bail.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1048.

7127. Defendant entitled to time to prepare for trial.

SEC. 277. After his plea, the defendant is entitled to at least two days to prepare for his trial.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1049.

CHAPTER 27

POSTPONEMENT OF TRIAL

7128. Postponement, when and how ordered.

SEC. 278. When an action is called for trial, or at any time previous thereto, the court may, upon sufficient cause shown by either party by affidavit, direct the trial to be postponed to another day; but in all cases where a continuance is granted upon the application of either party the court may require, as a condition of granting such continuance, that the party applying therefor consent to taking, forthwith, or at any time to be fixed by the court, of the deposition of any witness summoned by the opposite party whose deposition has not previously been taken. Such deposition must be taken in the same manner that depositions are required to be taken in section 147 of this act. The court also has authority to require all witnesses to enter into undertakings in such sum as the court may order, with or without sureties, to appear and testify on the day to which the case may be continued; provided, that any witness who is unable to procure sureties for his attendance may be discharged on his own recognizance, upon giving his deposition in the manner prescribed in section 147 of this act. All depositions taken in pursuance of any of the provisions of this act may be read in evidence, subject to the legal objections made at the time of taking the same, on the trial of the cause, whenever it shall appear that the personal attendance of the witness could not, with due diligence, be obtained, or when he has left the state, or become of unsound mind, or is too sick or infirm to attend, or is dead.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1052.

Continuance by court on its own motion. State v. Lawry, 4 Nev. 161.

Continuance. When a prisoner makes out a proper case for continuance, on account of the absence of a material witness, it is error to compel him to go to trial on the admission of the district attorney that the witness, if present, would swear to the facts as stated by the defendant. State v. Salge, 2 Nev. 321; State v. McLane, 15 Nev. 373.

Affidavit for continuance in a criminal case, on account of the absence of witnesses, should give assurance of their attendance at the time to which it is proposed to continue, and show the means of affiant's information; and unless such attendance seems probable the continuance should be denied. State v. Rosemurgey, 9 Nev. 308.

Continuance—Absence of witness—Affidavit. Fatally defective when it fails to show that there are not other persons by whom the defendant could prove the same facts that he expected to prove by the absent witness. State v. Marshall, 19 Nev. 240.

Continuance within discretion of court, and unless there is an abuse of its discretion its action will be sustained. State v. Chapman, 6 Nev. 320; State v. Rosemurgey, 9 Nev. 308.

Objection to affidavit for continuance. Cannot be made for first time in supreme court. Idem.

Affidavit should show diligence on part of defense. Idem.

Continuance. Affidavit defective when does not show due diligence to produce witnesses, or that they could be produced at subsequent term. State v. Gray, 19 Nev. 212 (8 P. 456).

When attachment to bring witness in is offered by the court, continuance properly refused if insisted upon. Idem.

Continuance properly refused. Affidavit fails to show testimony of absent witnesses material, or that an effort had been made to procure their attendance. State v. Davis, 14 Nev. 407.

Affidavit for continuance—Material facts to be stated positively. State v. O'Flaherty, 7 Nev. 153.

Practice on refusal of continuance. Idem.

Although the prisoner may not have made out a very clear case for a continuance, still if the court was of opinion that injustice was done the prisoner because of the absence of his witness, it was justified in granting a new trial. State v. Salge, 2 Nev. 321.

This section confers upon the courts the right to continue the trial of a criminal case upon a proper showing by affidavit; but if the fact authorizing a continuance is within the judicial knowledge of the court, such as the impossibility of impaneling a jury at the term, an affidavit is unnecessary. Ex Parte Stanley, 4 Nev. 113, 117.

If the prosecution in a criminal case makes all reasonable efforts to impanel a jury at the first term at which the case is triable, but without success, and it does not appear that a jury could not be had at the next term, there is good cause for a continuance on its motion for the term. Idem.

An affidavit for continuance on the ground of the absence of a witness is fatally defective when it fails to show that there are not other persons by whom the defendant could prove the same facts that he expected to prove by the absent witness. State v. Antone, 19 Nev. 240 (8 P. 672).

CHAPTER 28

CHALLENGING THE JURY

7129. Challenge to juror defined.
7130. Joint defendants to join in challenges.
7131. Jury panel defined.
7132. Challenge to the panel defined.
7133. Idem—Grounds for.
7134. Challenge to panel, when and how taken.
7135. Exception to challenge—Trial of sufficiency of challenge.
7136. If challenge found sufficient—Amendment.
7137. Denial of challenge, how entered—Trial of.
7138. Challenge for bias of officer, how made and tried.
7140. Defendant to be informed of right to challenge.
7141. Challenge to individual jurors.
7142. Idem—When to be taken.
7143. Peremptory challenge defined—How taken.
7144. Idem—Number allowed defendant and state.
7145. Challenge for cause, general or particular.
7146. General causes of challenge.
7147. Particular causes of challenge for bias.
7150. Challenge for implied and actual bias, how taken.
7151. Exception to challenge, denial.
7152. Trial of challenge.
7153. Idem—Juror as witness.
7154. Other witnesses—Rules of evidence.
7155. Idem—Court to allow or disallow challenge.
7158. Peremptory challenges, order of taking.

7129. Challenge to juror defined.

SEC. 279. A challenge is an objection made to the trial jurors, and is of two kinds:

1. To the panel;
2. To an individual juror.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1055.

7130. Joint defendants to join in challenges.

SEC. 280. When several defendants are tried together, they cannot sever their challenges, but must join therein.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1056.

A similar provision in the law of California was held to apply to peremptory challenges, and it follows that no such challenge can be insisted on, as a matter of right, unless all the defendants on trial unite in making it. State v. McLane, 15 Nev. 358, 359.

7131. Jury panel defined.

SEC. 281. The panel is a list of jurors returned by the proper officer to serve at a particular court, or for the trial of a particular action.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1057.

7132. Challenge to the panel defined.

SEC. 282. A challenge to the panel is an objection made to all the jurors returned, and may be taken by either party.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1058.

Challenge to panel, State v. Johnny, 21 Nev. 203 (87 P. 3); State v. Jackman, 31 Nev. 511 (104 P. 13); State v. Williams, 31 Nev. 360 (102 P. 974).

7133. Idem—Grounds for.

SEC. 283. A challenge to the panel can be founded only on a material departure from the forms prescribed by statute in respect to the drawing and return of the jury, or on the intentional omission of the proper officer to summon one or more of the jurors drawn.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1059.

Where the defendant interposed a challenge to the panel under this section, and there is nothing in the record to show that any evidence was offered in support of the challenge, it was held that the challenge should be disallowed, as a matter of course. State v. Rigg, 10 Nev. 284.

Cited, State v. Squaires, 2 Nev. 227, 230.

A challenge to the panel of jurors, upon the ground that one juror expressed actual bias against the prisoner and other jurors expressed themselves in such a manner as to imply bias upon their part, and that the law permitting said jurors to be of the panel, is unconstitutional, cannot be considered as an objection to the panel of jurors. State v. Raymond, 11 Nev. 99, 106.

A challenge in writing to a panel of additional jurors, summoned upon an open venire directed to the sheriff, on the ground "that the deputy sheriff who summoned forty of said jurors was biased against defendant," was held insufficient in failing to state whether it was taken for implied or actual bias. State v. Gray, 19 Nev. 212, 217 (8 P. 456).

When the facts upon which a challenge rests are disputed, the proper course is to submit the question to triers; but if neither of the parties ask for triers to settle the issue of fact and submit the evidence to the judge, and take his determination thereon, the decision will be treated as would the decision of triers—as final—and not subject to exceptions or review upon appeal. Idem.

After reciting the issuance of venire and vacation of order for venire and various orders in reference to the same, it was held that, conceding irregularity, there was not a material departure of the forms provided by statute in respect to the drawing and return of the jury, expressly made grounds for challenge by this section; material departures being only such as affect the substantial rights of a defendant in securing an impartial jury. State v. Jackman, 31 Nev. 512, 519 (104 P. 13).

It is within the discretion of the court to vacate an order under which a venire has issued before the return day thereof. Idem.

7134. Challenge to panel, when and how taken.

SEC. 284. A challenge to the panel must be taken before a juror is sworn, and must be in writing or be noted by the stenographer, if there be one, and must plainly and distinctly state the facts constituting the ground of challenge.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1060.

A challenge to the panel of trial jurors must be in writing, specifically stating the grounds of challenge or other facts on which the challenge is based. State v. Millain, 3 Nev. 411, 459.

Cited, State v. Raymond, 11 Nev. 106; State v. Hamilton, 13 Nev. 389.

The proper practice is to dispose of each challenge in the order named in the statute, if there is no challenge to the panel, or if it is made or overruled, questions appertaining alone to general disqualification should then be asked, and a challenge for that cause interposed or waived; next, questions competent in view of a challenge for implied bias only should be propounded, and a challenge for that cause interposed or waived; and last, the same course should be pursued for actual bias. State v. Davis, 14 Nev. 440 (33 A. R. 563).

7135. Exception to challenge—Trial of sufficiency of challenge.

SEC. 285. If the sufficiency of the facts alleged as ground of the challenge is denied, the adverse party may except to the challenge. The exception need not be in writing, but must be entered on the minutes of the court or of the stenographer, if there be one, and thereupon the court must proceed to try the sufficiency of the challenge, assuming the facts alleged therein to be true.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1061.

Cited, State v. Baker, 8 Nev. 146.

7136. If challenge found sufficient—Amendment.

SEC. 286. If, on the exception, the court finds the challenge sufficient, it may, if justice requires it, permit the party excepting to withdraw his exception and to deny the facts alleged in the challenge. If the exception is allowed, the court may, in like manner, permit an amendment to the challenge.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1062.
Cited, State v. Hartley, 22 Nev. 354 (28 L. R. A. 33, 40 P. 372).

7137. Denial of challenge, how entered—Trial of.

SEC. 287. If the challenge is denied, the denial may be oral and must be entered on the minutes of the court, or be noted by the stenographer, and the court must proceed to try the question of fact, and upon such trial the officers, whether judicial or ministerial, whose irregularity is complained of, as well as any other person, may be examined to prove or disprove the facts alleged as the ground of the challenge.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1063.
Cited, State v. Baker, 8 Nev. 146.

7138. Challenge for bias of officer, how made and tried.

SEC. 288. When the panel is formed from persons whose names are not drawn as jurors, a challenge may be taken to the panel on account of any bias of the officer who summoned them, which would be good ground of challenge to a juror. Such challenge must be made in the same form, and determined in the same manner, as if made to a juror.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1064.
See State v. Gray, under sec. 283 of this act.

7139. Effect of allowing or disallowing challenge to panel.

SEC. 289. If, either upon exception to the challenge or a denial of the facts, the challenge is allowed, the court must discharge the jury, so far as the trial in question is concerned. If it is disallowed, the court must direct the jury to be impaneled.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1065.

7140. Defendant to be informed of right to challenge.

SEC. 290. Before a juror is called, the defendant must be informed by the court, or under its direction, that if he intends to challenge an individual juror, he must do so when the juror appears and before he is sworn.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1066.

See State v. Marx, under sec. 292 of this act.

The bill of exceptions shows that A. and eleven other jurors were examined and passed by both parties, for cause, and were in the box, when inquiry was made of counsel for appellant whether he had any peremptory challenges; that appellant then refused to exercise his right, and thereafter passed his challenge several times, and did so after notice from the court that, in so passing his challenge, he would be considered as having accepted all the jurors then in the box. The state interposed several challenges, and as often as a juror was challenged another name was drawn, thus keeping the panel full. When the state ceased challenging, no challenge had been taken by appellant, and he then challenged A. It was held that the court erred in disallowing this challenge (Hawley, J., dissenting). State v. Pritchard, 15 Nev. 75.

The facts stated in the bill of exceptions did not constitute a waiver on the part of the defendant to interpose a challenge to the juror A. at any time before the jury was sworn (Hawley, J., dissenting). Idem.

7141. Challenge to individual jurors.

SEC. 291. A challenge to an individual juror is either:

1. Peremptory; or,
2. For cause.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1067.

7142. Idem—When to be taken.

SEC. 292. A challenge to an individual juror must be taken when the juror appears and before he is sworn, but the court may, for good cause, permit it to be taken after the juror is sworn and before the jury is completed.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1068.

See State v. Pritchard, under sec. 290 of this act.

The allowance of a peremptory challenge to a juror who has been accepted and sworn is not a matter of right, and refusal to allow it is not error. State v. Anderson, 4 Nev. 265, 275.

Whenever it appears from the examination of a juror upon his voir dire that he is disqualified, the challenge must be interposed before he is sworn; but these provisions have no application to a case where the disqualification or incompetency of the juror is not without any fault of the challenging party, discovered until after the jury is completed. State v. Pritchard, 16 Nev. 102, 113.

The discharge of an incompetent juror after the jury is sworn, does not create a necessity for the discharge of the eleven remaining competent jurors. Idem.

The fact that, after a verdict of guilty has been rendered, the accused ascertains for the first time that before the jury was impaneled a jury had formed and expressed an opinion as to his guilt, is not a ground for a new trial. State v. Marx, 15 Nev. 33, 36.

Under the common law, the statutes and the constitution, the defendant may waive his objections to the qualifications of jurors; and if he fails to challenge before the jury is completed, knowing of the disqualification, he waives his objections, and is estopped from demanding, as a matter of right, a new trial on the ground of such disqualification; and in contemplation of the constitution, he has not in such case constitutional grounds for the objection that he has not been tried by a constitutional jury. State v. Hartley, 22 Nev. 342, 355, 356 (28 L. R. A. 33, 40 P. 372).

7143. Peremptory challenge defined—How taken.

SEC. 293. A peremptory challenge can be taken by either party, and may be oral. It is an objection to a juror for which no reason need be given, but upon which the court must exclude him.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1069.

There is a broad distinction between challenges for bias and peremptory challenges. The former challenges exist as matter of right. The latter is by favor of the legislature only. The number of peremptory challenges has always been regulated by statute. State v. McClear, 11 Nev. 39, 49; State v. Crozier, 12 Nev. 304.

On appeal, a party cannot complain of a ruling of the court in denying his challenge to a juror for cause if it appear that, when the jury was completed, his peremptory challenges had not been exhausted. State v. Hartley, 22 Nev. 342 (28 L. R. A. 33, 40 P. 372).

Cited, State v. Millain, 3 Nev. 459.

7144. Idem—Number allowed defendant and state.

SEC. 294. The defendant and the state shall each be entitled to peremptory challenges as follows:

1. If the offense charged is punishable with death or by imprisonment for life, to the number of eight (8).

2. If the offense charged is other than those above mentioned, to the number of four (4).

Kerr, Pen. C., 1070.

If a juror is challenged for cause, that challenge is overruled, and he is then challenged peremptorily, there does not necessarily arise any inference that the challenging party is thereby injured. An injury could only arise in case the challenging party was compelled to exhaust all his peremptory challenges, and afterwards have an objectionable juror placed on the panel for want of another challenge. State v. Raymond, 11 Nev. 107, 108.

See State v. Pritchard, under sec. 290 of this act.

7145. Challenge for cause, general or particular.

SEC. 295. A challenge for cause may be taken by either party. It is an objection to a particular juror, and is either:

1. General, that the juror is disqualified from serving in any case; or,

2. Particular, that he is disqualified from serving in the action on trial.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1071.

Citizenship of juror. State v. Salge, 1 Nev. 455.

The supreme court cannot review the action of the court below in disallowing a challenge for cause when the party objecting makes no specification as to the nature of the objection upon which he interposes the challenge. The party challenging should specify the grounds of his challenge. State v. Squaires, 2 Nev. 227; State v. Chapman, 6 Nev. 320, 327.

A juror was excused upon the ground that he entertained such conscientious opinions concerning capital punishment as would preclude his finding defendant guilty of offense punishable with death; it was held that the objection to the juror did not go to the general cause of challenge, that he was disqualified from serving in any case, but to the particular cause that he was disqualified from serving on the case on trial. State v. Hing, 16 Nev. 307, 310.

7146. General causes of challenge.

SEC. 296. General causes of challenge are:

1. A conviction for felony;

2. A want of any of the qualifications prescribed by law to render a person a competent juror;

3. Unsoundness of mind, or such defect in the faculties of the mind or the organs of the body as render him incapable of performing the duties of a juror.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1072.

7147. Particular causes of challenge for bias.

SEC. 297. A particular cause of challenge is:

1. For such a bias as, when the existence of the facts is ascertained, in judgment of law, disqualifies the juror, and which is known in this act as implied bias;

2. For the existence of a state of mind on the part of the juror which leads to a just inference, in reference to the case, that he will not act with entire impartiality, which is known in this act as actual bias.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1073.

It is not within the power of the legislature to deprive a citizen accused of crime of the right to challenge a juror for actual bias. State v. McClear, 11 Nev. 44, 45, 67.

The right to challenge for implied bias may, to some extent, be regulated by the legislature, care being always taken to preserve inviolate the right of trial by a jury of twelve impartial men. Idem.

The great purpose of the right to challenge a juror for actual or implied bias, is to secure to the defendant and the state a fair and impartial jury. Idem.

A juror who states that in a case where the punishment is death, he would not find the defendant guilty upon circumstantial evidence is an incompetent juror. State v. Pritchard, 15 Nev. 74; State v. Hing, 16 Nev. 307.

The allowing of challenges by the court for implied bias is not subject to review. State v. Larkin, 11 Nev. 314; State v. Pritchard, 15 Nev. 74; 16 Nev. 101; State v. Hing, 16 Nev. 307.

7148. Challenge for implied bias, grounds for.

SEC. 298. A challenge for implied bias may be taken for all or any of the following causes, and for no other:

1. Consanguinity or affinity within the fourth degree to the person alleged to be injured by the offense charged, or on whose complaint the prosecution shall have been instituted, or to the defendant;

2. Standing in the relation of guardian and ward, attorney and client, master and servant, landlord and tenant, debtor and creditor; or being a member of the family of the defendant, or of the person alleged to be injured by the offense charged, or on whose complaint the prosecution shall have been instituted, or in the employment of any such parties;

3. Being a party adverse to the defendant in a civil action, or having complained against or being accused by him in a criminal prosecution;

4. Having served on the grand jury which found the indictment, or on a coroner's jury which inquired into the death of a person whose death is the subject of the indictment;

5. Having served on a trial jury which has tried another person for the offense charged in the indictment;

6. Having been one of a jury formerly sworn to try the same charge, and whose verdict was set aside, or which was discharged without a verdict, after the case was submitted to it;

7. Having served as a juror in a civil action brought against the defendant for the act charged as an offense;

8. Having formed or expressed an unqualified opinion or belief that the prisoner is guilty or not guilty of the offense charged;

9. If the offense charged is punishable with death, the entertaining of such conscientious opinions as would preclude his finding the defendant guilty; in which case he must neither be permitted nor compelled to serve as a juror;

10. Because he is, or within the year preceding has been, engaged or interested in carrying on any business, calling, or employment the carrying on of which is a violation of law, where the defendant is indicted for a like offense;

11. Because he has been a witness, either for or against the defendant, on the preliminary trial or before the grand jury.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1074.

See State v. McClear, under sec. 297 of this act.

When there is any probability that a juror is disqualified, and the court is unable to determine it by reason of the inability to establish the fact that constitutes such disqualification, it is not required to hazard the regularity of its proceedings by permitting such person to sit as a juror, but may excuse him at any time before he is charged with the case. State v. Kelly, 1 Nev. 224.

"Unqualified opinion or belief" commented on. State v. Millain, 3 Nev. 409, 428–430, 455–460.

When the defendant challenges a juror for implied bias, he must specify the particular grounds upon which he bases his challenge. State v. Raymond, 11 Nev. 99, 106.

A juror who has formed and expressed an opinion that was not unqualified, is not a disqualified juror, especially when he declares that he did not entertain any deliberate or fixed opinion or belief as to the guilt or innocence of the defendant. Idem.

See State v. Hing, under sec. 295 of this act.

A mere suspicion in the mind of a juror that the defendant is guilty does not disqualify him from sitting on a petit jury, especially, if that suspicion mainly arises from the examination to which he is subjected by the prisoner's counsel touching his qualification as a juror. It is only an unqualified opinion that disqualifies. State v. Millain, 3 Nev. 409.

The fact that a juror had formed an unfavorable opinion of defendant's character will not sustain a challenge for implied bias. State v. Davis, 14 Nev. 440.

The allowing of challenges by the court for implied bias is not subject to review (State v. Larkin, 11 Nev. 314, affirmed). State v. Pritchard, 15 Nev. 74, 80.

A juror stated that he had an unqualified opinion that there was a deficiency in the accounts of the defendant, as county treasurer, but had no opinion as to defendant's guilt or innocence. It was held that a challenge to the juror, for implied bias, was properly disallowed. State v. Carrick, 16 Nev. 120.

A juror who states that he would not convict a defendant in a capital case on circumstantial evidence is an incompetent juror. State v. Pritchard, 16 Nev. 101, 108, 113, 126.

If a challenge be made for implied bias, it is properly overruled unless it set forth the ground upon which the challenge is made. State v. Gray, 19 Nev. 212, 218 (8 P. 456); State v. Vaughan, 22 Nev. 285, 296 (39 P. 733).

Where some answers of a jury to questions by defendant's counsel tended to show that a juror had formed an opinion concerning the guilt or innocence of defendant from what he had heard on the street, but he stated that he had not formed any opinion, it was not error not to remove such juror. State v. Simas, 25 Nev. 434 (62 P. 242).

Where a juror testified that he had formed an opinion concerning the guilt or innocence of defendant from what he had read in the newspapers; that he would be wholly governed by the evidence given in the case, and disregard any opinion that he may have formed from newspaper accounts; and that he had no prejudice or bias for or against defendant, and knew of no reason why he could not give him a fair trial, it was not error not to remove such juror. Idem.

The formation or expression of an unqualified opinion, when shown not to have been based on newspaper accounts alone, renders a juror incompetent, though, in response to a question of the court, he says that he can put aside what he has heard and read and give the defendant an impartial trial. State v. Roberts, 27 Nev. 448, 468 (17 P. 598).

The expressing of an unqualified opinion touching the guilt or innocence of the defendant, when such opinion is not based solely on newspaper reports, is a disqualification of a juryman, regardless of what opinion the talesman may actually have at the time of his examination. State v. Dwyer, 29 Nev. 421, 425 (91 P. 305).

In determining the condition of a juror's mind as to his qualifications, all of his examination on voir dire should be considered, and doubts as to his qualification resolved in favor of accused. State v. Casey, 34 Nev. — (117 P. 5).

A challenge to a juror, who on voir dire testified that he entertained an opinion which he could lay aside without any evidence, and that he could determine the case according to the evidence and the instructions, and that he had not expressed any opinion, but that he had at the present time some belief on the guilt or innocence of accused, based on what he had heard, was properly denied. Idem.

A challenge to a juror, who on voir dire admitted that he entertained a prejudice against the defense of hereditary insanity and acute alcoholic insanity and did not believe in their existence, but who stated that if legal insanity was shown by the evidence and the instructions, he would give proper credit to the defense, was properly denied. Idem.

The existence of a mere abstract opinion of a juror, in which no element of malice or of unnecessary prejudice enters, does not form a just ground for the rejection of the juror, though he admits that the defense of insanity, owing to its abuse, raises a feeling of hostility to accused, and where the evidence shows that, notwithstanding his feeling against the defense, the juror will be guided by the testimony, uninfluenced by any bias, he is competent. Idem.

7149. Exemption is privilege, not cause for challenge.

SEC. 299. An exemption from service on a jury is not a cause for challenge, but the privilege of the person exempted.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1075.

Exemption from jury duty, secs. 3356, 4016, 4932, 4941, 4612.

7150. Challenge for implied and actual bias, how taken.

SEC. 300. In a challenge for implied bias, one or more of the causes stated in section 298 must be alleged. In a challenge for actual bias, it must be alleged that the juror is biased against the party challenging him; but no person shall be disqualified as a juror by reason of having formed or expressed an opinion upon the matter or cause to be submitted to such jury, founded upon public rumor, statements in public press, or common notoriety, provided it appears to the court, upon his declaration, under oath or otherwise, that he can and will, notwithstanding such an opinion, act impartially and fairly upon the matters submitted to him. The challenge may be oral, but must be entered in the minutes of the court or of the stenographer.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1076.

Cited, State v. Millain, 3 Nev. 459; State v. Baker, 8 Nev. 146.

When the defendant challenges a juror for implied bias, he must specify the particular grounds upon which he bases his challenge. State v. Raymond, 11 Nev. 99, 106.

Where, on a trial for burglary, a juror was challenged by the defendant "for cause," such challenge was insufficient. State v. Simas, 25 Nev. 434, 450 (62 P. 242).

Challenge to juror and exception. State v. Hartley, 22 Nev. 342 (28 L. R. A. 33, 40 P. 372); State v. Vaughan, 22 Nev. 285 (39 P. 733).

Opinion from reading newspapers. State v. Simas, supra; State v. Roberts, 27 Nev. 499 (77 P. 598); State v. Williams, 28 Nev. 395 (82 P. 353).

7151. Exception to challenge, denial.

SEC. 301. The adverse party may except to the challenge in the same manner as to a challenge to the panel, and the same proceedings must be had thereon as are prescribed in section 285, except that if the challenge is allowed the juror must be excluded. The adverse party may also orally deny the facts alleged as the ground of challenge.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1077.

7152. Trial of challenge.

SEC. 302. If the facts are denied, the challenge must be tried by the court.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1078.

See State v. Gray, under sec. 283 of this act.

7153. Idem—Juror as witness.

SEC. 303. Upon the trial of a challenge to an individual juror, the juror challenged may be examined as a witness to prove or disprove the challenge, and must answer every question pertinent to the inquiry.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1081.

7154. Other witnesses—Rules of evidence.

SEC. 304. Other witnesses may also be examined on either side, and the rules of evidence applicable to the trial of other issues govern the admission or exclusion of evidence on the trial of the challenge.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1082.

7155. Idem—Court to allow or disallow challenge.

SEC. 305. The court must allow or disallow the challenge, and its decision must be entered in the minutes of the court.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1083.

Denial of proper challenge, when not judicial error. State v. Hartley, 22 Nev. 342 (28 L. R. A. 33, 40 P. 372).

Waiver of objections. State v. Hartley, supra.

7156. Order of taking challenges for cause.

SEC. 306. All challenges to an individual juror, except peremptory, must be taken, first by the defendant, and then by the state, and each party must exhaust all his challenges before the other begins.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1086.

See State v. Pritchard, under sec. 290 of this act.

7157. Idem—Order of challenges.

SEC. 307. The challenges of either party for cause need not all be taken at once, but they must be taken separately, in the following order, including in each challenge all the causes of challenge belonging to the same class.

1. To the panel;
2. To an individual juror, for a general disqualification;
3. To an individual juror, for an implied bias;
4. To an individual juror, for an actual bias.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1087.

See State v. Davis, under sec. 284 of this act.

Cited, State v. Pritchard, 15 Nev. 82.

7158. Peremptory challenges, order of taking.

SEC. 308. If all challenges on both sides are disallowed, either party, first the state and then the defendant, may take a peremptory challenge, unless the parties' peremptory challenges are exhausted.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1088.

Sec. 354, Stats. 1861, 435, as amended by Stats. 1875, 117, sec. 7, was held unconstitutional in State v. McClear, 11 Nev. 39; State v. Raymond, 11 Nev. 98; State v. Johnson, 11 Nev. 148.

See State v. Pritchard, under sec. 290 of this act.

7202. Defendant may be committed though on bail, when.

7159. Order of trial.

SEC. 309. The jury having been impaneled and sworn, the trial shall proceed in the following order:

1. If the indictment be for felony, the clerk must read the indictment and state the plea of the defendant to the jury. In all other cases this formality may be dispensed with;

2. The district attorney or other counsel for the people must open the cause, and offer the evidence in support of the indictment;

3. The defendant or his counsel may then open the defense, and offer his evidence in support thereof;

4. The parties may then respectively offer rebutting testimony only, unless the court, for good reasons, in furtherance of justice, permit them to offer evidence upon their original cause;

5. When the evidence is concluded, unless the case is submitted to the jury on either side, or on both sides, without argument, or unless a demand be made to have the jury instructed in advance of the argument as hereafter provided in this section, the counsel for the people must open and must conclude the argument;

6. The judge shall then charge the jury, if requested by either party; he may state the testimony and declare the law, but shall not charge the jury in respect to matters of fact; such charge shall be reduced to writing before it is given; and in no case shall any charge or instructions be given to the jury otherwise than in writing, unless by the mutual consent of the parties. If either party request it, the court must settle and give the instructions to the jury before the argument begins, but this shall not prevent the giving of further instructions which may become necessary by reason of the argument.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1093.

The court cannot give any instruction verbally unless the prisoner assents, and that assent must appear affirmatively. People v. Bonds, 1 Nev. 33, 36.

The statute which requires the charge or instructions of the court to be in writing, is not violated by the judge telling the jury that he could not instruct them as to matters of fact. State v. Waterman, 1 Nev. 544, 550.

In a criminal trial, if a district court allows a departure from the ordinary order of proof and permits a reopening of the case, it will be presumed, nothing being shown to the contrary, that its discretion was properly exercised. State v. Harrington, 9 Nev. 91, 94.

Where the defendant in a capital trial was not allowed to close the argument to the jury, but it appeared that two counsel on each side argued the case and that they alternated, the prosecution having the close, was held no error. State v. Pierce, 8 Nev. 291, 296.

The court has the right to give instructions to the jury in a criminal case. Idem.

The privilege of closing the argument in a criminal case belongs to the state. State v. Smith, 10 Nev. 106.

Reading certain sections from the statute as instructions to the jury, is not giving oral instructions. State v. Stewart, 9 Nev. 121, 132.

Where in a criminal case, the state was represented by two attorneys, and after the first had opened the argument to the jury, the defendant's attorney submitted the case and objected to any further argument, but the other attorney for the state was allowed to address the jury, it was held no abuse of discretion. Idem.

The trial of a criminal case does not begin, strictly speaking, until the jury is impaneled and sworn. State v. Jackman, 31 Nev. 511, 518 (104 P. 13).

Misstatements of law made by the prosecuting attorney in his argument to the jury should be corrected by proper instructions and not by motion to strike out. A motion to strike out in such case affords no adequate relief. State v. O'Keefe, 23 Nev. 127 (62 A. S. 768, 43 P. 918).

Where, in a prosecution for homicide, defendant's counsel did not avail himself of the privilege of securing an alleged confession in the possession of the state and offer it in evidence, the fact that the prosecuting attorney in his opening statement erroneously referred to such confession as having been voluntarily made by defendant, and stated some of the facts contained therein, and that he "might" introduce it in evidence, which he subsequently failed to do, did not constitute reversible error. State v. Williams, 28 Nev. 395 (82 P. 353).

Where a prosecuting attorney, in reply to the argument of defendant's counsel that an alleged confession, if introduced, would have been beneficial to accused, stated that defendant could have taken the stand and testified with reference to the confession, referred to by the state but not introduced in evidence, if he had so desired, and the court, in response to an objection, stated that the fact that defendant was not a witness could not be considered against him, the argument of the prosecuting attorney was not reversible error. Idem.

In a prosecution for assault upon a woman with intent to kill, it is reversible error for the prosecuting attorney, in his argument to the jury, to charge the accused with being a "macque" although the court admonished the jury to disregard the statement. State v. Rodriguez, 31 Nev. 342 (102 P. 863).

In a prosecution for uxoricide, in which the defense was sadistic insanity, in objecting to accused's medical witness detailing statements made by accused during a physical examination of him before trial by the witness, the state's attorney stated that he objected to a conversation occurring in a jail three or four days before trial, as it was highly improper, and no doubt was manufactured for the physician's benefit, and that he knew there were eye witnesses to the killing, and that a legitimate defense of insanity would not avail accused. Held, that striking out such remarks and instructing the jury to disregard them cured any injury that might have resulted therefrom, they being merely the expression of the state's attorney's opinion. State v. Petty, 32 Nev. 324.

See Const., sec. 327, ante.

7160. Defendant may testify in own behalf, when.

SEC. 310. In the trial of all indictments, complaints, and other proceedings against persons charged with the commission of crimes or offenses, the person so charged shall, at his own request, but not otherwise, be deemed a competent witness; the credit to be given his testimony being left solely to the jury, under the instructions of the court.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1323.

Instruction as to weight to be given defendant's testimony held correct. State v. Streeter, 20 Nev. 404 (22 P. 758).

Cited. State v. Newton, 4 Nev. 112.

In a criminal case the jury has the right to believe such portions of defendant's own testimony as they consider true, and to disbelieve such portions as they consider false; his testimony, like that of other witnesses, is to be weighed and determined by the jury from all the surrounding circumstances of the case. State v. Stewart, 9 Nev. 120, 130.

For instruction as to weight and effect to be given testimony of accused, see State v. Hartley, 22 Nev. 343, 360 (28 L. R. A. 33, 40 P. 372).

Where defendant in a criminal case offers himself as a witness in his own behalf, he is to be held and treated so far as an ordinary witness for the defense that he can be cross-examined and in the discretion of the court be called for further cross-examination. State v. Cohn, 9 Nev. 179, 188.

Though an accused person may become a witness in his own behalf and thereby subject himself to cross-examination, the prosecution cannot make him, against his consent, its own witness. Idem.

If the defendant voluntarily testifies in his own behalf, the same rights exist in favor of the district attorney to comment upon his testimony or his refusal to answer any proper question, or to draw all proper inferences from his failure to testify upon any material matter within his knowledge, as with other witnesses. State v. Harrington, 12 Nev. 125, 129.

7161. Defendant not compelled to testify—Failure not inference of guilt.

SEC. 311. Nothing herein contained shall be construed as compelling any such person to testify; and in all cases wherein the defendant in a criminal action declines to testify, the court shall specially instruct the jury that no inference of guilt is to be drawn against him for that cause.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1323.

See sec. 6857.

Guaranty that an accused person shall not be compelled to testify against himself, U. S. Const., sec. 175; State Const., sec. 237.

This section has no application to a case where the defendant voluntarily makes himself a witness in his own behalf. State v. Harrington, 12 Nev. 125, 129.

7162. Argument may be restricted.

SEC. 312. If the indictment be for an offense punishable with death, two counsel on each side may argue the case to the jury, but in such case as well as in all others the counsel for the people must open and must conclude the argument. If it be for any other offense, the court may in its discretion restrict the argument to one counsel on each side.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1095.

Argument of counsel—Order of. State v. Pearce, 15 Nev. 188

7163. Defendant presumed innocent—Reasonable doubt.

SEC. 313. A defendant in a criminal action is presumed to be innocent until the contrary be proved; and in case of a reasonable doubt whether his guilt be satisfactorily shown, he is entitled to be acquitted.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1096.

In criminal prosecutions, the guilt of the accused must be proved beyond a reasonable doubt, but if such doubt be raised it makes no difference whether it be raised by the evidence for the prosecution or by that for the defendant. State v. McCluer, 5 Nev. 132, 136.

In criminal cases, evidence tending to prove guilt must be established beyond a reasonable doubt; that tending to mitigate or disprove, by a preponderance of testimony. State v. Pierce, 8 Nev. 292, 300, 302.

Cited, State v. McClear, 11 Nev. 48.

7164. Reasonable doubt defined.

SEC. 314. A reasonable doubt is one based on reason. It is not mere possible doubt, but is such a doubt as would govern or control a person in the more weighty affairs of life. If the minds of the jurors, after the entire comparison and consideration of all the evidence, are in such a condition that they can say they feel an abiding conviction of the truth of the charge, there is not a reasonable doubt. Doubt to be reasonable must be actual and substantial, not mere possibility or speculation.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1097.

The charge of the court and instructions given in regard to reasonable doubt, held as favorable to the defendant as the law would warrant. State v. Raymond, 11 Nev. 98, 105.

Instructions as to reasonable doubt refused. State v. Hamilton, 13 Nev. 386, 394.

An instruction upon the term "reasonable doubt" construed and held to be correct. State v. McLane, 15 Nev. 347, 365, 366.

Instruction upon this term held to relate merely to the rules by which the jury ought to be governed in their consideration of the evidence in the case, and not prejudicial to defendants. State v. Potts, 20 Nev. 389, 396, 399 (22 P. 754); State v. Streeter, 20 Nev. 404, 409 (22 P. 758).

The statutory definition of this term held to be well expressed and that judges should follow the exact language of the statute, and not attempt any further information. Idem.

7165. Idem—No other definition to be given.

SEC. 315. No other definition of reasonable doubt shall be given by the court to juries in criminal actions in this state.

7166. When doubt as to degree—Conviction to be of lowest.

SEC. 316. When it legally appears that a defendant has committed a public offense, and there is a reasonable ground for doubt in which of two or more degrees he is guilty, he can be convicted of the lowest of such degrees only.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1097.
See State v. Pierce, under sec. 313 of this act.

7167. Defendants charged jointly—Separate or joint trial.

SEC. 317. When two or more defendants shall be jointly charged with a felony, any defendant requiring it must be tried separately. In other cases the defendants jointly charged may be tried separately or jointly, in the discretion of the court.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1098.

A defendant, jointly indicted with another, who intends to demand a separate trial, must make his motion before the formation of a jury is commenced. State v. McLane, 15 Nev. 345, 358.

Cited, Ex Parte Gafford, 25 Nev. 101, 104 (83 A. S. 568, 57 P. 484).

Two persons jointly indicted were jointly tried. After the state had rested, defendant J. rested and moved that the case be given to the jury at that time, before any testimony was offered on behalf of his codefendant. It was held that the motion was properly denied, for, if granted, it would have given the defendant a separate trial, which could only be granted on application made before the commencement of the formation of the jury. State v. Johnny, 29 Nev. 203, 216 (87 P. 3).

7168. Defendant discharged, to testify for the state.

SEC. 318. When two or more persons shall be included in the same charge, the court may, at any time before the defendants have gone into their defense, on the application of the district attorney or other counsel for the state, direct any defendant to be discharged, that he may be a witness for the state.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1099.
See State v. Johnny, under sec. 317 of this act, and State v. Smith, under sec. 330 of this act.
Cited, State v. Luhano, 31 Nev. 279 (102 P. 260).

7169. Defendant discharged, to testify for codefendant.

SEC. 319. When two or more persons are included in the same indictment and the court is of opinion that in regard to a particular defendant there is not sufficient evidence to put him on his defense, it shall order him to be discharged from the indictment, before the evidence shall be deemed closed, that he may be a witness for his codefendant.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1100.
See State v. Johnny, under sec. 317 of this act.
Cited, State v. Luhano, 31 Nev. 279 (102 P. 260).

7170. Idem—Order deemed bar and acquittal.

SEC. 320. The order mentioned in the last two sections shall be deemed an acquittal of the defendant discharged, and shall be a bar to another prosecution for the same offense.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1101.

7171. Rape, proof necessary.

SEC. 321. Proof of actual penetration, however slight, into the body is sufficient to sustain an indictment for rape, or for the crime against nature.

Kerr, Pen. C., 263.
See sec. 6443.

The slightest proof of penetration will justify submitting the question to the jury, and such proof can be inferred from circumstances. In this case there was proof of penetration. State v. Depoister, 21 Nev. 107 (25 P. 1000).

7172. Brand of cattle prima facie evidence of ownership.

SEC. 322. Upon the trial of any public offense which concerns any neat cattle, horse, mule, or other animal running at large upon any range in this state, the brand and other marks upon such animal shall be prima facie evidence of ownership.

See secs. 6640-6641.

The identification and ownership of cattle may be proved by the marks and brands on the hides therefrom. Whether the evidence upon this point in any given case is sufficient as to the ownership of the cattle, is a question of fact to be determined by the jury. State v. Cardelli, 19 Nev. 319, 328 (10 P. 433).

7173. Conspiracy—Pleading and proof.

SEC. 323. Upon a trial for conspiracy, in a case where an overt act shall be necessary to constitute the offense, the defendant shall not be convicted unless one or more overt acts shall be expressly alleged in the indictment, nor unless one of the acts alleged shall have been proved; but other overt acts not alleged may be given in evidence.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1104.
See sec. 6377.

A statement of an accomplice, who conspired with accused to steal ore, that he had made thousands of dollars for accused, was not admissible in evidence in a prosecution for larceny, it not appearing whether the transaction referred to was illegal, and it not relating to the conspiracy. State v. Smith, 34 Nev.—(117 P. 19).

In a prosecution for larceny by conspiring with others to steal ore, evidence of a statement by one of the conspirators after arrest, that another of them was a big boob or he never would have been caught, etc., was not admissible in evidence; the conspiracy being then at an end. Idem.

7174. Murder, burden of proof.

SEC. 324. Upon a trial for murder, the commission of the homicide by the defendant being proved, the burden of proving circumstances of mitigation, or that justify or excuse it, shall devolve upon him, unless the proof on the part of the prosecution tends to show that the crime committed amounts only to manslaughter, or that the defendant was justifiable or excusable.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1105.

7175. Forgery, proof of corporate existence—Expert testimony.

SEC. 325. Upon a trial for forging any bill or note purporting to be the bill or note of an incorporated company or bank, or for passing, or attempting to pass, or having in possession with intent to pass, any such forged bill or note, it shall not be necessary to prove the incorporation of such bank or company by the charter or act of incorporation, but it may be proved by general reputation, and persons of skill shall be competent witnesses to prove that such a bill or note shall have been forged or counterfeited.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1107.

7176. Proof of corporate existence generally.

SEC. 326. If, upon a trial or proceeding in a criminal case, the existence, constitution, or powers of any corporation shall become material, or be in any way drawn in question, it is not necessary to produce a certified copy of the articles or acts of incorporation, but the same may be proved by general reputation, or by the printed statutes of the state, or government, or country by which such corporation was created.

Mont. P. C., 2086; Utah, 4859.

7177. Abortion or enticing female—Testimony of the woman not sufficient.

SEC. 327. Upon a trial for procuring or attempting to procure an abortion, or aiding or assisting therein, or for inveigling, enticing, or taking away any female of previous chaste character, for the purpose of prostitution, or aiding or assisting therein, the defendant shall not be convicted upon the testimony of the woman upon or with whom the offense shall have been committed, unless she is corroborated by other evidence.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1108; Utah, 4858.

7178. Lottery tickets, sale, proof.

SEC. 328. Upon a trial for violation of any of the provisions of the crimes and punishment act, concerning lotteries or the sale of lottery tickets, it shall not be necessary to prove the existence of any lottery in which any lottery ticket shall purport to have been issued, nor to prove the actual signing of any such ticket or share, or pretended ticket or share of any pretended lottery, nor that any lottery ticket, share, or interest was signed or issued by the authority of any manager, or of any person assuming to have authority as manager; but in all cases proof of the sale, furnishing, bartering, or procuring of any ticket, share, or interest therein, or of any instrument purporting to be a ticket, or part or share of any such ticket shall be evidence that such share or interest was signed and issued according to the purport thereof.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1109.
Lotteries are prohibited by Const., sec. 282.

7179. False pretenses—Evidence in writing or proof by two witnesses.

SEC. 329. Upon a trial for having, with an intent to cheat or defraud another designedly, by any false pretense, obtained the signature of any person, to a written instrument, or having obtained from any person any money, personal property, or valuable thing, the defendant shall not be convicted if the false pretense shall have been expressed in language, unaccompanied by a false token or writing, unless the pretense or some note or memorandum thereof be in writing, subscribed by or in the handwriting of the defendant, or unless the pretense be proved by the testimony of two witnesses, or that of one witness and corroborating circumstances; but this section shall not apply to a prosecution for falsely representing or personating another, and, in such assumed character, marrying, or receiving any money or property.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1110.
See sec. 6704, 6705.

7180. Conviction on testimony of accomplice—Corroboration.

SEC. 330. A conviction shall not be had on the testimony of an accomplice, unless he is corroborated by other evidence which in itself, and without the aid of the testimony of the accomplice, tends to connect the defendant with the commission of the offense; and the corroboration shall not be sufficient if it merely shows the commission of the offense or the circumstances thereof.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1111.
See sec. 7451.

When the wife of an accomplice is called her testimony is entitled to at least the same weight and effect as that of an accomplice. State v. Waterman, 1 Nev. 543, 549.

Where, on appeal in a criminal case, it was claimed that certain evidence given for the purpose of corroborating that of an accomplice was not sufficient, it was held, that the question before the supreme court was not as to the weight of the evidence, but as to whether it was corroborative within the meaning of this section. State v. Chapman, 6 Nev. 320, 324.

The evidence to corroborate the testimony of an accomplice is sufficient if it tends to connect the defendant with the commission of the offense. State v. Streeter, 20 Nev. 403, 405 (22 P. 758).

An accomplice is not incompetent to give testimony, but the weight thereof is for the jury, under proper instruction subject to the restriction of this section. State v. Douglas, 20 Nev. 196, 204 (99 A. S. 688, 65 P. 802).

The finding of a jury as to whether one was an accessory is conclusive. State v. Smith, 34 Nev.—(117 P. 19).

One who feigned participation in a larceny of ore which he was employed to watch in order to assist in the detection of accused, was not an "accomplice" so as to make his testimony subject to rules regarding accomplices' testimony. Idem.

In a prosecution for larceny of ore statements of an accomplice, relating in part to the taking of the ore and its division according to agreement, were admissible in evidence, some ore having been taken thereafter, and the statements being material. Idem.

7181. Mistake in charging offense—Discharged or new prosecution.

SEC. 331. When it appears, at any time before verdict or judgment, that a mistake has been made in charging the proper offense, the defendant must not be discharged, if there appears good cause to detain him in custody; but the court must commit him, or require him to give bail for his appearance to answer to the offense; and may also require the witnesses to give bail for their appearance.

Mont. P. C., 2090; N. D., 8198.

7182. When proof shows higher offense than that charged, proceedings.

SEC. 332. If it appears by the testimony that the facts proved constitute an offense of a higher nature than that charged in the indictment, the court may direct the jury to be discharged, and all proceedings on the indictment to be suspended, and may order the defendant to be committed or continued on, or admitted to bail, to answer any new indictment which may be found against him for the higher offense.

7183. Indictment for higher offense not found or dismissed, proceedings.

SEC. 333. If an indictment for the higher offense be dismissed by the grand jury, or be not found at its next session, the court shall again proceed to try the defendant on the original indictment.

7184. Want of jurisdiction—Discharge of jury.

SEC. 334. The court may also direct the jury to be discharged when it appears that it has not jurisdiction of the offense, or that the facts as charged in the indictment do not constitute an offense punishable by law.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1113.
Cited, State v. Luhano, 31 Nev. 279.

7185. Idem—Defendant discharged—Exception.

SEC. 335. If the jury is discharged because the court has not jurisdiction of the offense charged, and it appears that it was committed out of the jurisdiction of this state, the defendant must be discharged, unless the court orders that he be detained for a reasonable time, to be specified in the order, to enable the county attorney to communicate with the chief executive officer of the country, state, territory, or district where the offense was committed.

N. D., 8202.

7186. Idem—When jurisdiction lies in another county—Defendant held.

SEC. 336. If the offense was committed within the jurisdiction of another county of this state, the court may direct the defendant to be committed for such time as it deems reasonable, to await a warrant from the proper county for his arrest; or if the offense is a misdemeanor only it may admit him to bail in an undertaking, with sufficient sureties, that he will, within such time as the court may appoint, render himself amenable to a warrant for his arrest from the proper county; and, if not sooner arrested thereon, will attend at the office of the sheriff of the county where the trial was had, at a certain time particularly specified in the undertaking, to surrender himself upon the warrant, if issued, or that his bail will forfeit such sum as the court may fix, to be mentioned in the undertaking; and the clerk must forthwith transmit a certified copy of the indictment, and of all the papers filed in the action, to the district attorney of the proper county, the expenses of which transmission is chargeable to that county.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1115.

7187. Idem—Arrest on warrant from proper county, or discharge.

SEC. 337. If the defendant is not arrested on a warrant from the proper county, as provided in the next preceding section, he must be discharged from custody, or his bail in the action is exonerated, or money deposited instead of bail must be refunded, as the case may be, and the sureties in the undertaking, as mentioned in that section, must be discharged. If he is arrested, the same proceedings must be had thereon as upon the arrest of a defendant in another county on a warrant issued by a magistrate.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1116.
See sec. 6940.

7188. Facts not constituting an offense—Discharge or resubmission.

SEC. 338. If the jury be discharged because the facts as charged do not constitute an offense punishable by law, the court must order that the defendant, if in custody, be discharged, or if admitted to bail, that his bail be exonerated, or if he has deposited money instead of bail, that the money deposited be refunded to him, unless in the opinion of the court, a new indictment can be framed, upon which the defendant can be legally convicted, in which case it may direct that the case be submitted to the same or another grand jury.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1117.

7189. Case submitted anew, proceedings.

SEC. 339. If the court direct that the case be submitted anew, the same proceedings must be had thereon as are prescribed in section 243.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1117.

7190. Juror knowing facts concerning case must testify.

SEC. 340. If a juror has any personal knowledge respecting a fact in controversy in the case, he must declare the same in open court, during the trial. If, during the retirement of a jury, a juror declare any fact which could be evidence in the cause, as of his own knowledge, the jury must return into court. In either of these cases, the juror making the statement must be sworn as a witness, and examined in the presence of the parties.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1120.

7191. View by jury—Oath of officer attending.

SEC. 341. When, in the opinion of the court, it is proper that the jury should view the place in which the offense is charged to have been committed, or in which any other material fact occurred, it may order the jury to be conducted in a body, in the custody of the officer, to the place, which must be shown to them by a person appointed by the court for that purpose; and the officer must be sworn to suffer no person to speak or communicate with the jury, nor do so himself on any subject connected with the trial, and to return them into court without unnecessary delay, or at a specified time.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1119.

Cited, State v. Stanley, 4 Nev. 74.

A view of the premises is not taking evidence in the case. It is means provided by statute to enable the jury more satisfactorily to weigh the evidence given in court. When the action of the court is taken and the view is made on motion of the defendant, and no request or expression of a desire on his part to be present was made, his absence is not ground for new trial nor is the absence of the judge legal ground of complaint. State v. Hartley, 22 Nev. 343, 357 (28 L. R. A. 33, 40 P. 372).

The order of court should specify the place to be inspected, and should designate some person who knows the place to point it out to the jury. The person so designated, and none other, except the officer in charge, should conduct the jury to the spot and should leave them to make their own observations without any comment or explanations whatever. State v. Lopez, 15 Nev. 407, 410, 411.

When the jury arrived at the premises, they found a person who had never been sworn as a witness in the case. This person, in response to questions addressed him by members of the jury, pointed out to them all the special features of the premises. It was held a violation of the statute, and a denial of the right of the defendant to be confronted with the witnesses against him. Idem.

When it is shown that a clear, legal right of the defendant has been transgressed it devolves upon the state to prove that he was not harmed thereby. Idem.

7192. Jurors permitted to separate, when—Oath of officer.

SEC. 342. The jurors sworn to try a criminal action may, at any time before the submission of the case to the jury, in the discretion of the court, be permitted to separate or be kept in charge of a proper officer. The officer must be sworn to keep the jurors together until the next meeting of the court, to suffer no person to speak to them or communicate with them, nor to do so himself, on any subject connected with the trial, and to return them into court at the next meeting thereof.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1121.

It is error to allow a jury to disperse after impanelment without the consent of the prisoner. But a jury is not properly impaneled until they are sworn and charged with the case. State v. Squaires, 2 Nev. 227, 232.

Cited, State v. Pritchard, 15 Nev. 100.

The fact that one of the jurors was where he could exchange a single word with a stranger without being overheard by the officer in charge is sufficient to establish a technical separation of the jury. State v. Harris, 12 Nev. 414.

An officer in charge of a jury in a criminal case ought not to permit strangers to have access to a juror out of his sight or hearing, and thus afford an opportunity for tampering with or prejudicing the juror. Idem.

Where the jury separates by consent of counsel and no objection is made by defendant, verdict upheld. State v. McMahan, 17 Nev. 365, 369 (30 P. 1000).

7193. Jury to be admonished at each adjournment.

SEC. 343. The jury must also, at each adjournment of the court, whether they be permitted to separate or be kept in charge of officers, be admonished by the court that it is their duty not to converse among themselves, or with any one else, on any subject connected with the trial, or to form or express any opinion thereon until the cause is finally submitted to them.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1122.

Cited, State v. Lopez, 15 Nev. 411.

The failure of the court to admonish the jury will not affect their verdict when it is clearly shown that the accused was not injured by such failure. State v. Gray, 19 Nev. 213, 222 (8 P. 456).

7194. Sickness of judge or juror, procedure.

SEC. 344. If, before the conclusion of the trial, a juror becomes sick, so as to be unable to perform his duty, the court may order him to be discharged. In that case a new juror may be sworn and the trial begin anew, or the jury may be discharged and a new jury then or afterwards impaneled. If the judge becomes sick he may discharge the jury.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1123; Mont. P. C., 2101.

After a jury has been sworn, and the evidence admitted in a capital case, the court may, in its discretion, excuse a juror against defendant's objection, on proof that he is disqualified, the fact of his disqualification having come to the knowledge of the prosecution during the trial. State v. Vaughan, 23 Nev. 103, 113 (43 P. 193).

Under such circumstances it is error to accept the other jurors without first discharging them and giving the defendant the privilege asked for of reexamining them as to their then state of mind before being resworn to try the case with the new juror. Idem.

7195. Court to decide questions of law.

SEC. 345. The court shall decide all questions of law which shall arise in the course of the trial.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1124.

7196. Jury to determine law and fact in libel case.

SEC. 346. On the trial of an indictment for libel, the jury shall have the right to determine the law and the fact.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1125.
See Const., sec. 238.

7197. Court to decide law, jury to decide fact.

SEC. 347. On the trial of an indictment for any other offense than libel, questions of law are to be decided by the court, saving the right of the defendant to except and questions of fact by the jury. And, although the jury have the power to find a general verdict, which includes questions of law, as well as of fact, they are bound, nevertheless, to receive as law what is laid down as such by the court.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1126.
Cited, State v. Van Winkle, 6 Nev. 349, 350.

7198. Charge to jury, what to be stated in.

SEC. 348. In charging the jury, the court shall state to them all such matters of law as it shall think necessary for their information in giving their verdict.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1127.

The court has the power to charge the jury on its own motion. State v. Burns, 8 Nev. 251.

The charge given by a court on its own motion cannot be considered on appeal, unless it be properly carried up by bill of exceptions. Idem.

Sections 386 and 387 of said former act relate to two distinct classes of instruction; the former to those given by the court on its own motion; the latter, those asked by either party; and it is the latter only which are made, by secs. 426, 450 of said act, a part of the record and deemed accepted. Idem.

It is the duty of the clerk to attach the bill of exceptions to the rest of the judgment roll before it is filed, just as it was left by the judge who signed it. He must not add to it, or subtract from it anything whatever. Idem.

7199. Either party may present written charge to court—Must be given, when.

SEC. 349. Either party may present to the court any written charge, and request that it may be given. If the court thinks it correct and pertinent, it must be given; if not, must be refused.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1127.

See State v. Burns, and State v. Ah Mook, under sec. 348 of this act.

When the court approves an instruction asked, and intends to give it, but by some oversight neglects to do so, it is just as injurious to defendant as if positively refused; and if the instruction is important, entitles the defendant to a new trial. State v. McNamara, 3 Nev. 71, 78.

It is not error to refuse an instruction which has already been given in substance, and in terms as clear, full and favorable to the defendant as those in which the court is asked to repeat it. State v. O'Connor, 11 Nev. 416, 425.

7200. The court to indorse and sign instructions to jury.

SEC. 350. Upon each charge so presented and given, or refused, the court shall indorse its decision, and shall sign it. If part be given and part refused, the court shall distinguish, showing by the indorsement what part of the charge was given and what part refused.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1127.

See State v. Ah Mook, under sec. 348 of this act.

Instructions which are filed with the indorsement of the judge thereon as to his action in giving or refusing them are a part of the record, and the action of the court thereon may be reviewed without any formal bill of exceptions. People v. Gleason, 1 Nev. 173.

See State v. O'Connor, 11 Nev. 416, 425.

7201. Jury to decide in court or retire—Officers sworn.

SEC. 351. After hearing the charge, the jury may either decide in court or may retire for deliberation. If they do not agree without retiring, an officer must be sworn to keep them together in some private and convenient place, and not permit any person to speak to or communicate with them, nor to do so himself, unless by order of the court, or to ask them whether they have agreed upon a verdict, and to return them into court when they shall have so agreed, or when ordered by the court.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1128.

7202. Defendant may be committed though on bail, when.

SEC. 352. When a defendant who shall have given bail shall appear for trial, the court may, in its discretion, at any time after his appearance for trial, order him to be committed to the custody of the proper officer, to abide the judgment or further order of the court, and he must be committed and held in custody accordingly.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1129.

7203. Court may advise acquittal, when—Jury not bound by advice.

SEC. 353. If, at any time after the evidence on either side is closed, the court deem the same insufficient to warrant a conviction, it may advise the jury to acquit the defendant. But the jury shall not be bound by such advice, nor must the court for any cause prevent the jury from giving a verdict, except as provided in sections 318, 319, and 320.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1118.

CHAPTER 30

CONDUCT OF JURY

7204. Room to be provided for the jury—Expense, how paid.
7205. Sheriff to provide food and lodging for jury.
7206. Jury may take written instructions, certain papers, and own notes of trial.
7207. Jury may return for further instructions—Notice.
7208. Jury may be discharged for sickness of juror and other causes.
7210. Discharge without verdict, retrial.
7211. Adjournment during absence of jury.
7212. Final adjournment, effect of.

7204. Room to be provided for jury—Expense, how paid.

SEC. 354. A room shall be provided by the sheriff of each county for the use of the jury upon their retirement for deliberation, with suitable furniture, fuel, lights and stationery, unless the same have been already furnished by the county. The court may order the sheriff to do so, and the expenses incurred by him in carrying the order into effect, when certified by the court, shall be a county charge.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1135.

7205. Sheriff to provide food and lodging for jury.

SEC. 355. While the jury are kept together, either during the progress of the trial or after their retirement for deliberation, they shall be provided by the sheriff, at the expense of the county, with suitable and sufficient food and lodging.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1136.

7206. Jury may take written instructions, certain papers and own notes of trial.

SEC. 356. Upon retiring for deliberation, the jury may take with them all papers, except depositions which shall have been received as evidence in the case, or copies of such public records or private documents given in evidence as ought not, in the opinion of the court, to be taken from the person having them in possession. They may also take with them the written instructions given, and notes of the testimony or other proceedings on the trial, taken by themselves or any of them, but none taken by any other person.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1147.
See State v. McNamara, under sec. 349 of this act.
Cited, State v. Stewart, 9 Nev. 132.

7207. Jury may return for further instructions—Notice.

SEC. 357. After the jury have retired for deliberation, if there is any disagreement between them as to any part of the testimony, or if they desire to be informed on any point of law arising in the cause, they must require the officer to conduct them into court. Upon their being brought into court, the information required shall be given in the presence of, or after notice to, the district attorney and the defendant or his counsel.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1138.

7208. Jury may be discharged for sickness of juror and other causes.

SEC. 358. If, after the retirement of the jury, one of them is taken so sick as to prevent the continuance of his duty, or any other accident or cause occurs to prevent their being kept for deliberation, the jury may be discharged.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1139.

The inability of the jury to agree upon a verdict is recognized as creating a necessity that justifies the discharge of the jury. Ex Parte Maxwell, 11 Nev. 428, 435; State v. Pritchard, 16 Nev. 109.

The power of the court to discharge a jury, without the consent of the defendant, is not an absolute power, and must be exercised in accordance with established legal rules, and a sound legal discretion in the application of such rules to the facts and circumstances of each particular case. Idem.

The fact that the jury could not agree is an essential fact, the existence of which ought to be determined by the court and established by the record. Idem.

7209. Jury not to be discharged until verdict rendered—Exception.

SEC. 359. Except as provided in the last section, the jury shall not be discharged after the cause is submitted to them, until they have agreed upon their verdict and rendered it in open court, unless by the consent of both parties, entered upon the minutes, or unless, at the expiration of such time as the court may deem proper, it satisfactorily appears that there is no reasonable probability that the jury can agree.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1140.
See Ex Parte Maxwell, under sec. 358 of this act.

7210. Discharge without verdict, retrial.

SEC. 360. In all cases where a jury are discharged or prevented from giving a verdict by reason of any accident or other cause, except where the defendant is discharged from the indictment during the progress of the trial, or after the cause is submitted to them, the cause may be again tried.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1141.

7211. Adjournment during absence of jury.

SEC. 361. While the jury are absent, the court may adjourn from time to time, as to other business, but it shall nevertheless be deemed to be open for every purpose connected with the cause submitted to the jury, until a verdict be rendered or the jury discharged.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1142.

This section and the following section refers to the situation existing after the jury has been impaneled and sworn and have the case under deliberation, and not to where only seven jurors have been passed, subject to peremptory challenge. State v. Jackman, 31 Nev. 511, 517 (104 P. 13).

7212. Final adjournment, effect of.

SEC. 362. A final adjournment of the court discharges the jury.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1143.
See sec. 4906.
See State v. Jackman, under sec. 361 of this act.

THE VERDICT

7213. Return of jury, effect when part fail to appear.
7214. Defendant required to be present at verdict, when.
7215. Jury to declare verdict.
7216. Forms of verdict.
7217. Acquittal by reason of insanity, confinement in the hospital for mental diseases.
7218. Degree of crime to be found by jury.
7219. Defendant may be found guilty of any offense included in one charged.
7220. Joint defendants, verdict against one or more—Retrial.
7221. Reconsideration of verdict directed, when.
7222. Informal verdict — No conviction unless verdict express.
7223. Jury may be polled.
7224. Verdict to be read to jury and recorded —Disagreement.
7225. Verdict of acquittal—Discharge of defendant.
7226. Verdict of conviction—Commitment.

7213. Return of jury, effect when part fail to appear.

SEC. 363. When the jury have agreed upon their verdict, they must be conducted into court by the officers having them in charge. Their names must then be called, and if all do not appear, the rest shall be discharged without giving a verdict. In such a case, the cause must be again tried.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1147.

7214. Defendant required to be present at verdict, when.

SEC. 364. If the indictment be for a felony, the defendant must, before a verdict, appear in person. If it be for a misdemeanor, the verdict may be rendered in his absence.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1148.

Cited, State v. Murphy, 23 Nev. 391 (48 P. 628).

The slightest proof of penetration will justify submitting the question to the jury and such proof can be inferred from circumstances. In this case there was proof of penetration. State v. Depoister, 25 Nev. 108, 118 (25 P. 1000).

7215. Jury to declare verdict.

SEC. 365. If the jury appear, they shall be asked by the court or the clerk whether they have agreed upon a verdict, and if the foreman answer in the affirmative, they shall, on being required, declare the same.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1149.

7216. Forms of verdict.

SEC. 366. A verdict upon a plea of not guilty shall be either "guilty" or "not guilty," which imports a conviction or acquittal of the offense charged in the indictment. Upon a plea of a former conviction or acquittal of the same offense, it shall be either "for the state" or "for the defendant." When the defendant is acquitted on the ground that he was insane at the time of the commission of the act charged, the verdict must be "not guilty by reason of insanity." When the defendant is acquitted on the ground of variance between the indictment and the proof, the verdict must be, "not guilty by reason of variance between indictment and proof."

Kerr, Pen. C., 1151.

Murder case—Verdict of guilty must state degree. State v. Rover, 10 Nev. 388; State v. Lindsey, 19 Nev. 47 (3 A. S. 776, 5 P. 822).

The court may always suggest to the jury a correction of their verdict as to form. State v. Waterman, 1 Nev. 543.

The court should have disregarded the request of the jury for instructions as to their duty in recommending the defendant to the mercy of the court. The duty of the jury is to find a verdict as to the guilt or innocence of the defendant. State v. Vasquez, 16 Nev. 42.

A recommendation to mercy constitutes no proper part of a verdict; but a refusal of the court to strike it out is not prejudicial to defendant. State v. Gray, 19 Nev. 212 (8 P. 456); State v. Stewart, 9 Nev. 120.

A verdict of acquittal on a good indictment puts an end to all further prosecution for the offense charged in that indictment notwithstanding any errors that may have been committed during the progress of the trial. State v. Hall, 3 Nev. 172.

A defendant tried on a criminal charge and found not guilty by a jury cannot again be put on trial for the same offense. State v. Herrick, 3 Nev. 259.

In a prosecution for an assault with a deadly weapon with the intent to inflict upon the person of another a bodily injury, properly charged, a verdict of "guilty" is in effect a verdict of guilty as charged in the indictment. State v. Lawry, 4 Nev. 161, 167.

7217. Acquitted by reason of insanity, confinement in the hospital for mental diseases.

SEC. 367. Where on a trial a defense of insanity is interposed by the defendant and he is acquitted by reason of that defense the finding of the jury shall have the same force and effect as if he were regularly adjudged insane as now provided by law, and the judge thereupon shall forthwith order that the defendant be confined in the hospital for mental diseases until he be regularly discharged therefrom in accordance with law.

See secs. 7252, 7336.

7218. Degree of crime to be found by jury.

SEC. 368. Whenever a crime is distinguished into degrees, the jury, if they convict the defendant, must find the degree of the crime of which he is guilty.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1157.

7219. Defendant may be found guilty of any offense included in one charged.

SEC. 369. In all cases the defendant may be found guilty of any offense, the commission of which is necessarily included in that with which he is charged in the indictment, or may be found guilty of an attempt to commit the offense charged.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1159.

See sec. 6290.

Where there is no testimony tending to show defendant guilty of an offense of a lower grade than the one charged, it is not error to instruct the jury they must find the prisoner guilty as charged or acquit him. If, however, there is any testimony tending to reduce the offense to a lower grade, the whole question should be submitted to the jury. State v. Millain, 3 Nev. 410, 442.

An indictment charging an assault with intent to commit murder will sustain a conviction of an assault with a deadly weapon with intent to inflict a bodily injury. State v. Robey, 8 Nev. 312, 320.

By virtue of this provision, a person indicted for murder may be convicted of manslaughter. State v. Watkins, 11 Nev. 30, 34.

By virtue of this section, the defendant might have been convicted of "an attempt to commit rape," even if the child consented to all he did, but it was error to instruct the jury that he could, under such circumstances, be convicted of "assault with intent to commit rape." State v. Pickett, 11 Nev. 255, 259 (2 L. R. A. 754).

Defendant was indicted for the crime of an assault with intent to kill, and was found guilty of an "assault." The judgment imposed a fine of $500 and taxed the costs against defendant. From this judgment an appeal was taken. It was held that the supreme court had no jurisdiction (Belknap, J., dissenting). State v. McCormack, 14 Nev. 347; affirmed, State v. Quinn, 16 Nev. 89, 90.

The sufficiency of an indictment must be determined with reference to the crime charged, and if the indictment is good for the crime of "an assault with intent to kill," it is sufficient to sustain a conviction of "an assault with a deadly weapon with intent to inflict a bodily injury." The graver charge includes the less. State v. Collyer, 17 Nev. 275, 287 (30 P. 891).

Under an indictment for murder a defendant may be lawfully convicted of an assault with intent to kill. Ex Parte Curnow, 21 Nev. 33, 34 (24 P. 430).

Where the evidence shows the defendant to be guilty of robbery, he cannot complain that he was convicted of an attempt to commit the crime. State v. O'Keefe, 23 Nev. 127, 132 (62 A. S. 768, 43 P. 918).

Cited, Ex Parte Dela, 25 Nev. 353 (83 A. S. 603, 60 P. 217).

This section applies to all cases then or thereafter defined by statute, and therefore one charged under a later statute with selling liquor to an Indian may be convicted of an attempt to commit that offense. Ex Parte Finnegan, 27 Nev. 57 (71 P. 642).

7220. Joint defendants, verdict against one or more—Retrial.

SEC. 370. On an indictment against several, if the jury cannot agree upon a verdict as to all, they may render a verdict as to those in regard to whom they do agree, on which a judgment shall be entered accordingly, and the case as to the rest may be tried by another jury.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1160.

A judgment against two defendants jointly on a joint verdict, is not void, the court having jurisdiction though the same may be erroneous, but whether erroneous or not, cannot be determined on habeas corpus. Ex Parte Gafford, 25 Nev. 101, 104 (83 A. S. 568, 57 P. 484).

7221. Reconsideration of verdict directed, when.

SEC. 371. When there shall be a verdict of conviction, in which it appears to the court that the jury have mistaken the law, the court may explain the reason for that opinion and direct the jury to reconsider their verdict, and if, after the reconsideration, they return the same verdict, it must be entered; but when there shall be a verdict of acquittal, the court shall not require the jury to reconsider it. If the jury render an informal verdict, the court may direct them to reconsider it, and it shall not be recorded until it is rendered in some form from which it can be clearly understood what the intent of the jury is.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1161; Utah, 4996.

7222. Informal verdict—No conviction unless verdict express.

SEC. 372. If the jury persist in finding an informal verdict, from which, however, it can be clearly understood that their intention is to find in favor of the defendant upon the issue, it shall be entered in the terms in which it is found, and the court shall give judgment of acquittal. But no judgment of conviction can be given unless the jury find expressly against the defendant upon the issue.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1162.

7223. Jury may be polled.

SEC. 373. When a verdict is rendered, and before it is recorded, the jury may be polled, on the requirement of either party, in which case they shall be severally asked whether it be their verdict, and if anyone answer in the negative, the jury shall be sent out for further deliberation.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1163.

7224. Verdict to be read to jury and recorded—Disagreement.

SEC. 374. When the verdict is given, and is such as the court may receive, the clerk must immediately record it in full on the minutes, and must read it to the jury and inquire of them whether it be their verdict. If any juror disagree, the fact must be entered in the minutes and the jury again sent out; but if no disagreement be expressed, the verdict is complete, and the jury must be discharged from the case.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1164.

The provisions of the statute authorizing the court "to receive a verdict or discharge a jury" carries with it the power to have the verdict recorded, and authorizes the court to make such other orders as may be incident to the power given, such as designating a day when it would pronounce judgment on the verdict. State v. Rover, 13 Nev. 18, 23.

7225. Verdict of acquittal—Discharge of defendant.

SEC. 375. If judgment of acquittal be given on a verdict, and the defendant be not detained for any other legal cause, he must be discharged as soon as the verdict is given.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1165.

7226. Verdict of conviction—Commitment.

SEC. 376. If a verdict is rendered against the defendant, he must be remanded, if in custody; or if on bail, he may be committed to the proper officer to await the judgment of the court upon the verdict. When committed, his bail shall be exonerated; or if money is deposited instead of bail, it must be refunded to the defendant.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1166; Utah, 4900.

EXCEPTIONS

7227. Exceptions may be taken by defendant, how.
7228. Idem—Exception may be taken by district attorney.
7229. What deemed excepted to by defendant.
7230. Written charges to form part of record.
7231. What deemed excepted to by either party.

7227. Exceptions may be taken by defendant, how.

SEC. 377. On the trial of an indictment, exceptions may be taken by the defendant to a decision of the court upon a matter of law in any of the following cases:

1. In disallowing a challenge to the panel of the jury, or to an individual juror;

2. In admitting or rejecting witnesses or testimony, on the trial of a challenge to a juror for actual bias;

3. In admitting or rejecting witnesses or testimony, or in deciding any question of law, not a matter of discretion.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1170.

Bill of exceptions. The bill of exceptions, properly settled and signed by the judge, together with the rest of the record as provided for in section 413, is all that the supreme court will notice in the examination of a criminal case on appeal. State v. Johnson, 12 Nev. 121; State v. Roderigas, 7 Nev. 328; State v. Baker, 8 Nev. 141; State v. Ah Hung, 11 Nev. 428; State v. McLane, 15 Nev. 346; State v. Darling, 4 Nev. 413; State v. Wilson, 5 Nev. 43.

Objections to the admission in evidence of certain bills of sale will not be considered on appeal because the bills of sale are not embodied in the bill of exceptions. State v. Potts, 20 Nev. 389 (22 P. 754).

An appeal presented without any statement or bill of exceptions will be dismissed (State v. Fellows, 8 Nev. 311, affirmed). State v. Lamb, 20 Nev. 181 (19 P. 33).

The expression "minutes of the trial," in sec. 413 of this act, means only the minutes as kept by the clerk, and recorded in the minute book containing the proceedings of the trial, that are daily read by the clerk and approved by the court. State v. Larkin, 11 Nev. 314, 325.

The reporter's notes of the proceedings of a trial can only be considered when adopted by the court as correct, and including the bill of exceptions, settled and signed by the judge. Idem.

Cited, State v. Pritchard, 15 Nev. 83.

Evidence stricken and then allowed, any error in former ruling thereby cured. State v. Vaughan, 22 Nev. 285 (39 P. 733).

Challenge to juror and exception. State v. Hartley, 22 Nev. 342 (28 L. R. A. 33, 40 P. 372); State v. Simas, 25 Nev. 432 (62 P. 242); State v. Vaughan, 22 Nev. 285 (39 P. 733).

Alleged errors which do not appear in the bill of exceptions need not be discussed by the supreme court. State v. Lawrence, 28 Nev. 440 (82 P. 614).

The overruling of a general objection to evidence, the grounds of which are not specified, and to which ruling no exception is taken, is not error. Idem.

The particular ground of an objection or exception to the admission of evidence must be stated in order to make the ruling reviewable on appeal. State v. Mangana, 33 Nev. — (112 P. 694).

7228. Idem—Exception may be taken by district attorney.

SEC. 378. The exceptions may be taken by the district attorney, or other counsel for the state, to a decision of the court upon a matter of law in any of the cases specified in the third subdivision of the preceding section.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1172.

7229. What deemed excepted to by defendant.

SEC. 379. The decision of the court in a criminal action or proceeding upon a matter of law shall be deemed excepted to by the defendant in the following cases:

1. In refusing to grant a motion for a change of place of trial;

2. In refusing to postpone the trial on motion of the defendant.

When the verdict of the jury is against the defendant, it shall be deemed excepted to by him.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1173; N. D., 8260; Utah, 4945.

Sec. 423 of the act of 1861, 435, cited, People v. Gleason, 1 Nev. 173, 175; State v. Salge, 1 Nev. 456, 459; State v. Baker, 8 Nev. 141, 145; State v. Huff, 11 Nev. 24; State v. Larkin, 11 Nev. 322; State v. Campbell, 20 Nev. 125 (17 P. 620).

Sec. 424 of the act of 1861, 435, cited, State v. Huff, 11 Nev. 23, 24; State v. Larkin, 11 Nev. 322; State v. Hill, 32 Nev. 187 (105 P. 1025).

7230. Written charges to form part of record.

SEC. 380. When any written charge has been requested and given, or refused, or given by the court of its own motion, the question or questions contained in such charge need not be excepted to, but the written charge, given or refused, with the indorsements showing the action of the court, shall form part of the record, and any error in the decision of the court thereon may be taken advantage of on appeal in like manner as if presented in a bill of exceptions.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1176.

Instructions which are filed with the indorsement of the judge thereon as to his action in giving or refusing them are a part of the record, and the action of the court thereon may be reviewed without any formal bill of exceptions. People v. Gleason, 1 Nev. 175; State v. Waterman, 1 Nev. 559; State v. McNamara, 3 Nev. 71, 79; State v. Stanley, 4 Nev. 71, 77; State v. Dowling, 4 Nev. 413, 414; State v. Forsha, 8 Nev. 137; State v. Burns, 8 Nev. 251, 254, 255; State v. Ah Mook, 12 Nev. 373, 374; State v. Bouton, 26 Nev. 34, 41 (62 P. 595); State v. Burns, 27 Nev. 290, 294 (74 P. 983).

Under former practice, instructions given by the court of its own motion could not be considered on appeal in the absence of exceptions thereto. (See cases above.)

The simple reservation of an exception is not sufficient, the point of the exception must be stated at the time the exception is taken, or it will be disregarded. McGurn v. McInnis, 24 Nev. 370 (55 P. 304).

A contention that the court erred in refusing an instruction must be disregarded, if no objection or exception appears to have been made to the action of the court. McNamee v. Nesbitt, 24 Nev. 400 (56 P. 37).

Under former practice instructions given by the court of its own motion were not a part of the record on appeal unless embodied in the bill of exceptions. State v. Hill, 32 Nev. 185 (105 P. 1025).

7231. What deemed excepted to by either party.

SEC. 381. The decision of the court in a criminal action or proceeding upon a matter of law shall be deemed excepted to by either party in the following cases:

1. In granting or refusing a motion to set aside an indictment;
2. In allowing or disallowing a demurrer to an indictment;
3. In granting or refusing a motion in arrest of judgment;
4. In granting or refusing a motion for a new trial;
5. In making or refusing to make an order after judgment affecting any substantial right of the parties.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1172; N. D., 8259; Utah, 4944.

NEW TRIAL

7232. New trial defined—Effect of granting—Procedure on.
7233. Application must be made before judgment entered.
7234. Grounds for new trial.
7235. Idem—When based upon affidavit.
7236. Idem—Proceedings may be stayed until motion disposed of.
7237. Court may grant not more than two new trials on its own motion.

7232. New trial defined—Effect of granting—Procedure on.

SEC. 382. A new trial is a reexamination of the issue in the same court before another jury, after a verdict has been given. It places the parties in the same condition as if no trial had been had. All the testimony must be produced anew, and the former verdict cannot be used or referred to either in evidence or in argument, nor be pleaded in bar of any conviction which might have been had under the indictment.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1179.

Where one charged with murder is convicted of involuntary manslaughter, and on appeal a new trial is granted him because of a mistrial in the first instance, or for irregularity or prejudicial error committed against him, the reversal and remanding sets aside the result of the former trial and leaves accused in the same position as if he had never been tried; and he cannot plead former acquittal of crimes of a greater degree than the one of which he was convicted. In re Somers, 31 Nev. 531, 533, 536 (135 A. S. 700, 103 P. 1073).

7233. Application must be made before judgment entered.

SEC. 383. The application for a new trial must be made before the judgment is entered in the cause and shall be made upon motion orally or in writing, stating one or more of the grounds specified in the preceding section.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1182.

Cited, State v. Huff, 11 Nev. 24.

7234. Grounds for new trial.

SEC. 384. The court in which a trial is had upon the issue of fact, has power to grant a new trial where a verdict has been rendered against the defendant upon his application, in the following cases only:

1. When the trial has been had in his absence, if the indictment be for felony;

2. When the jury has received any evidence out of court other than that resulting from a view, as provided in section 341.

3. When the jury have separated without leave of the court, after retiring to deliberate upon their verdict, or have been guilty of any misconduct tending to prevent a fair and due consideration of the case;

4. When the verdict has been decided by lot, or by any means other than a fair expression of opinion on the part of all the jurors;

5. When the court has misdirected the jury in a matter of law, or has erred in the decision of any question of law arising during the course of the trial;

6. When the verdict is contrary to law or evidence, but no more than two new trials shall be granted for this cause alone.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1181.

The first four grounds for new trial may be presented simply by affidavit without either statement or bill of exceptions. State v. Stanley, 4 Nev. 71, 74, 76.

The fact that after a verdict of guilty has been rendered, the accused ascertains for the first time that before the jury was impaneled, a juror had formed and expressed an opinion as to his guilt, is not a ground for a new trial. State v. Marks, 15 Nev. 33, 36.

7235. Idem—When based upon affidavit.

SEC. 385. A motion for a new trial, if made for any of the causes mentioned in subs. 1, 2, 3, and 4, of section 384, must be based upon affidavit to which counter affidavits may be filed.

Mont., 2194; Utah, 4954.

7236. Idem—Proceedings may be stayed until motion disposed of.

SEC. 386. The court may make an order staying further proceedings in the case until the motion for a new trial is disposed of.

7237. Court may grant not more than two new trials on its own motion.

SEC. 387. The court may grant not more than two new trials upon its own motion, when, to the actual prejudice of the defendant and the miscarriage of justice, the court has misdirected the jury or erred in the decision of any question of law, or where there has been such plain disregard by the jury of the instructions of the court or the evidence in the case as to satisfy the court that the verdict was rendered under a misapprehension of the instructions or under the influence of passion or prejudice.

ARREST OF JUDGMENT

7238. Arrest of judgment defined—Grounds for.
7239. Idem—By court of its own motion.
7240. Idem—Effect of allowance.
7241. Proceedings after allowance of arrest of judgment.

7238. Arrest of judgment defined—Grounds for.

SEC. 388. A motion in arrest of judgment is an application on the part of the defendant that no judgment be rendered on a plea or verdict of guilty, or on a verdict against the defendant on a plea of a former conviction or acquittal or once in jeopardy. It may be founded on any of the defects in the indictment mentioned in section 247, unless the objection shall have been waived by a failure to demur, and must be made before or at the time the defendant is called for judgment.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1185; Utah, 4901.

Objections to the form of an indictment for defects apparent upon its face cannot be taken advantage of for the first time on appeal. State v. O'Flaherty, 7 Nev. 154, 158.

A motion in arrest of judgment can only be sustained upon the ground that the court has no jurisdiction over the subject of the indictment, or that the facts stated do not constitute a public offense. State v. O'Connor, 11 Nev. 416.

7239. Idem—By court of its motion.

SEC. 389. The court may also, on its own view of any of these defects, arrest the judgment without motion.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1186.

7240. Idem—Effect of allowance.

SEC. 390. The effect of allowing a motion in arrest of judgment is to place the defendant in the same situation in which he was before the indictment was found.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1187.

See State v. O'Connor, under sec. 388 of this act.

7241. Proceedings after allowance of arrest of judgment.

SEC. 391. If, from the evidence on the trial, there is reasonable ground to believe the defendant guilty, and a new indictment can be framed upon which he may be convicted, the court may order him to be recommitted to the officers of the proper county, or admitted to bail anew to answer the new indictment. If the evidence show him guilty of another offense, he shall be committed or held thereon, and in neither case shall the verdict be a bar to another prosecution or indictment. But if no evidence appear sufficient to charge him with any offense, he shall, if in custody, be discharged; or, if admitted to bail, his bail shall be exonerated; or, if money has been deposited instead of bail, it shall be refunded to the defendant, and the arrest of judgment shall operate as an acquittal of the charge upon which the indictment was founded.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1188.

CHAPTER 35

THE JUDGMENT

7242. Court to appoint time for pronouncing judgment.
7243. Time appointed to be two days—Exception.
7244. Upon a plea of guilty, court to determine degree.
7245. Presence of defendant required for judgment in felony case—Misdemeanor, not.
7246. Bench warrant for absent defendant—Bail forfeited.
7247. Bench warrant isued to several counties on application of district attorney.
7248. Bench warrant, form of.

7250. Idem — Arrest and disposition of defendant.
7251. Appearance for judgment—Defendant asked to show cause.
7252. May set up insanity, or cause for arrest of judgment, or for new trial.
7253. Rendition of judgment.
7254. Idem—Facts may be shown in mitigation or aggravation—Notice.
7255. Idem—How prevented—Limitation.
7256. Conviction of two or more offenses—Terms begin, when.
7257. Imprisonment to satisfy fine at rate of two dollars per day.
7258. Judgment for fine constitutes lien.
7259. Court may suspend sentence.
7260. Indeterminate sentences.
7261. Board of pardons to determine period of imprisonment when minimum served.
7262. When complainant to pay costs—Judgment—Execution.
7263. Entry of judgment, record of action, what to include.

7242. Court to appoint time for pronouncing judgment.

SEC. 392. After a plea or verdict of guilty, or after a verdict against the defendant, on a plea of a former conviction or acquittal, or once in jeopardy, if the judgment be not arrested or a new trial granted, the court shall appoint a time for pronouncing judgment.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1191.

The judgment in a criminal case recites that the prisoner was brought into court and plead guilty, "whereupon the court sentenced the said S." If this record shows affirmatively that there was no interval of time between the plea of guilty and sentence, it only shows error on the part of the court, and defendant should have excepted to the action of the court and taken an appeal if dissatisfied. Habeas corpus is not the proper remedy to correct errors. Ex Parte Smith, 2 Nev. 338, 341.

Oral evidence is not admissible to show error in the proceedings of the court below. Idem.

7243. Time appointed to be two days—Exception.

SEC. 393. The time appointed shall be at least two days after the verdict, if the court intend to remain in session so long; or, if not, as remote a time as can reasonably be allowed. But in no case shall judgment be rendered in less than six hours after the verdict.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1191.

7244. Upon plea of guilty, court to determine degree.

SEC. 394. Upon a plea of guilty of a crime distinguished or divided into degrees, the court must, before passing sentence, determine the degree.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1192.

7245. Presence of defendant required for judgment in felony case—Misdemeanor not.

SEC. 395. For the purpose of judgment, if the conviction be for a felony, the defendant must be personally present; if it be for misdemeanor, judgment may be pronounced in his absence.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1193.

7246. Bench warrant for absent defendant—Bail forfeited.

SEC. 396. If the defendant shall have been discharged on bail, or shall have deposited money instead thereof, and does not appear for judgment when his personal appearance is necessary, the court, in addition to the forfeiture of the recognizance, or of the money deposited, may direct the clerk to issue a bench warrant for his arrest.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1195.

7247. Bench warrant issued to several counties on application of district attorney.

SEC. 397. The clerk, on the application of the district attorney, may, accordingly, at any time after the order, whether the court be sitting or not, issue a bench warrant into one or more counties.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1196.

7248. Bench warrant, form of.

SEC. 398. The bench warrant must be substantially in the following form:

State of Nevada, county of..... The State of Nevada, to any sheriff, constable, marshal, policeman, or other peace officer in this state: A. B. having been on the.....day of....., A. D. 19...., duly convicted in the.....judicial district court of the State of Nevada and in and for the county of....., of the crime of (designating it generally); you are therefore commanded forthwith to arrest the above-named A. B. and bring him before that court for judgment, or if the court has adjourned, that you deliver him into the custody of the sheriff of the county of..... Given, by order of the court, under my hand with the seal of said court affixed, this the.....day of....., A. D. 19.... (Seal.) E. F., Clerk.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1197.

7249. Bench warrant served same as warrant of arrest.

SEC. 399. The bench warrant may be served in any county, in the same manner as a warrant of arrest.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1198.

7250. Idem—Arrest and disposition of defendant.

SEC. 400. Whether the bench warrant shall be served in the county in which it is issued, or in another county, the officer must arrest the defendant and bring him before the court, or commit him to the officer mentioned in the warrant, according to the command thereof.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1199.

7251. Appearance for judgment—Defendant asked to show cause.

SEC. 401. When the defendant appears for judgment, he shall be informed by the court, or by the clerk under its direction, of the nature of the indictment, and of his plea, and the verdict, if any there are, and shall be asked whether he have any legal cause to show why judgment should not be pronounced against him.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1200.
Cited, State v. Huff, 11 Nev. 24; Ex Parte Dela, 25 Nev. 350 (83 A. S. 603, 60 P. 217).

7252. May set up insanity, or cause for arrest of judgment, or for new trial.

SEC. 402. He may show for cause against the judgment:

1. That he is insane; and if, in the opinion of the court, there is reasonable ground for believing him to be insane, the question of insanity must be tried, as provided by law. If, upon the trial of that question, the jury find that he is sane, judgment must be pronounced; but if they find him insane, he must be committed to the hospital for mental diseases until he becomes sane; and when notice shall have been given of that fact, as provided in section 542, he must be brought before the court for judgment.

2. That he has good cause to offer, either in arrest of judgment or for a new trial; in which case the court may, in its discretion, order the judgment to be deferred, and proceed to decide upon the motion in arrest of judgment or for a new trial.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1201.
See secs. 7217, 7336.
Cited, State v. Huff, 11 Nev. 24.

7253. Rendition of judgment.

SEC. 403. If no sufficient cause be alleged or appears to the court why judgment should not be pronounced, it must thereupon be rendered.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1202.

Clerk should put judgment in form. When adopted by court, it is part of record. Ex Parte Salge, 1 Nev. 449.

It is indispensable to the validity of a judgment that it be rendered at the time and place prescribed by law. State v. Roberts, 8 Nev. 239.

A judgment which does not specify any time for the imprisonment to commence is not void. The better practice is not to fix the commencement of the term, but merely to state its duration and place of confinement. State v. Smith, 10 Nev. 107.

In the absence of a statute to the contrary, a sentence to imprisonment for a definite term is not void because it fails to state when the term begins. Ex Parte Gafford, 25 Nev. 101 (83 A. S. 568, 57 P. 484).

Where the second sentence of a defendant already sentenced for another offense fails to state the commencement of the term, it will run concurrently with the first. Idem.

An error in a sentence, in assigning a wrong place of imprisonment, may be rejected as surplusage and will not vitiate the entire sentence. Ex Parte Tani, 29 Nev. 385, 13 L. R. A. (N. S.) 518, 91 P. 137.

Imprisonment for nonpayment of fine must be in county jail. Idem.

Imprisonment for unpaid fine must be ordered in the judgment. Ex Parte Patterson, 29 Nev. 226 (87 P. 2).

A person who has been imprisoned the number of days specified in the sentence is entitled to his discharge, though the fine has not been paid. Idem.

7254. Idem—Facts may be shown in mitigation or aggravation—Notice.

SEC. 404. After a plea or verdict of guilty, when a discretion is conferred upon the court as to the extent of the punishment, the court, upon the oral suggestion of either party that there are circumstances which may be properly taken into view, either in aggravation or mitigation of the punishment, may, in its discretion, hear the same summarily, at a specified time, and upon such notice to the adverse party as it may direct.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1203.

7255. Idem—How presented—Limitation.

SEC. 405. The circumstances must be presented by the testimony of witnesses examined in open court, except that when a witness shall be so sick or infirm as to be unable to attend, his deposition may be taken by a magistrate of the county, out of court, upon such notice to the adverse party as the court may direct. No affidavit or testimony, or representation of any kind, verbal or written, shall be offered to or received by the court or a judge thereof, in aggravation or mitigation of the punishment, except as provided in this and the next preceding section.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1204.

7256. Conviction of two or more offenses—Terms begin, when.

SEC. 406. If the defendant has been convicted of two or more offenses before judgment on either, the judgment may be that the imprisonment upon any one may commence at the expiration of the imprisonment upon any other of the offenses.

N. D., 8294; Utah, 4918.

See sec. 6303.

See Ex Parte Gafford, under sec. 403 of this act.

7257. Imprisonment to satisfy fine at rate of two dollars per day.

SEC. 407. A judgment that the defendant pay a fine may also direct that he be imprisoned until the fine be satisfied, specifying the extent of the imprisonment, which shall not exceed one day for every two dollars of the fine, or in that proportion.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1205.

Relators were found guilty of assault and battery, fined in the sum of one hundred dollars each "and the costs of this action." It was held that this was only a judgment for the amount of the fine; that the judgment relating to costs, the amount not being stated, was surplusage and nugatory. State ex rel. Burbank v. Jameson, 13 Nev. 429, 430.

Relator could be imprisoned for the fine. The judgment for costs can be enforced only by execution. State ex rel. Quinn v. District Court, 16 Nev. 76, 77.

The criminal practice act does not provide for a cost bill. The court has the power to tax the costs from an examination of the fees charged by the respective officers. Idem.

If the court erred in allowing any costs that were not taxable against the relator, it was not an excess of jurisdiction, and its action, in this respect, cannot be reviewed upon certiorari. Idem.

The provisions of this section apply to all cases of contempt, when criminal, as well as to other misdemeanors. Ex Parte Sweeney, 18 Nev. 74, 76 (1 P. 379).

A contempt for the disobedience of a decree and violation of an injunction is in the nature of a criminal offense, and the proceeding for its punishment is in the nature of a criminal proceeding. Idem.

Designation of erroneous place of imprisonment for nonpayment of fine, does not vitiate the entire sentence. Ex Parte Tani, 29 Nev. 385, 13 L. R. A. (N. S.) 518, 91 P. 137.

Imprisonment for unpaid fine must be ordered in the sentence. Ex Parte Patterson, 29 Nev. 226 (87 P. 2).

On conviction of a felony, the sentence imposed was within the discretion vested in the district court as to the amount of the fine and the time of alternative imprisonment in the event that the fine was not paid, and was erroneous only in that it declared that such alternative imprisonment should be in the state prison, whereas, it should have declared that the same should be in the county jail. Held, that, in habeas corpus proceedings, such direction as to the place of imprisonment might be rejected as surplusage, and did not vitiate the entire sentence. Ex Parte Tani, 29 Nev. 386, 388, 13 L. R. A. (N. S.) 518, 91 P. 137.

Imprisonment for nonpayment of fine must be in county jail. Idem.

Fines cannot be paid under protest so as to be recovered if judgment reversed on appeal. State v. Pray, 30 Nev. 206 (94 P. 218).

7258. Judgment for fine constitutes lien.

SEC. 408. A judgment that the defendant shall pay a fine shall constitute a lien in like manner as a judgment for money rendered in a civil action.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1206.
See sec. 5277.

7259. Court may suspend sentence.

SEC. 409. Whenever any person shall be convicted of any crime except murder, burglary in the first degee, arson in the first degree, robbery, carnal knowledge of a female child under the age of ten years, or rape, the court may in its discretion, at the time of imposing sentence upon such person, direct that such sentence be staid and suspended and that the defendant be released from custody on such conditions as the court may impose until otherwise ordered by such court.

7260. Indeterminate sentences.

SEC. 410. Whenever any person shall be convicted of any felony for which no fixed period of confinement is imposed by law, the court shall, in addition to any fine or forfeiture which he may impose, direct that such person be confined in the state prison, for a term not less than the minimum nor greater than the maximum term of imprisonment prescribed by law for the offense of which such person shall be convicted; and where no minimum term of imprisonment is prescribed by law, the court shall fix the minimum term in his discretion at not less than one year nor more than five years; and where no maximum term of imprisonment is prescribed by law, the court shall fix such maximum term of imprisonment.

A sentence on a conviction of grand larceny is not void because the court imposes as a part of the penalty "at hard labor." State v. Maher, 25 Nev. 465 (62 P. 236).

7261. Board of pardons to determine period of imprisonment when minimum served.

SEC. 411. The board of pardons may at any time after the expiration of the minimum term of imprisonment for which such prisoner was committed thereto, direct that any prisoner confined in such institution shall be released on parole upon such terms and conditions as in their judgment they may prescribe in each case.

Constitutional powers of board of pardons, sec. 307.

SEC. 412. In all cases of criminal prosecution where the defendant is not found guilty, the court may require the complainant, if it appears that the prosecution was malicious or without probable cause, to pay the costs of the action, or to give security to pay the same within thirty days. If the complainant does not comply with the order of the court, judgment may be entered against him for the amount thereof. Such judgments may be enforced and appealed from in the same manner as those rendered in civil actions.

Mont., 2708, 2709.

7263. Entry of judgment, record of action, what to include.

SEC. 413. When judgment upon a conviction is rendered, the clerk shall enter the same in the minutes, stating briefly the offense for which the conviction has been had, and shall, within five days, annex together and file the following papers, which shall constitute the record of the action:

1. A copy of the minutes of any challenge which may have been interposed by the defendant to the panel of the grand jury, or to any individual grand juror, and the proceedings thereon;

2. The indictment and a copy of the minutes of the plea or demurrer;

3. A copy of the minutes of any challenge which may have been interposed to the panel of the grand jury, or an individual juror, and the proceedings thereon;

4. A copy of the minutes of the trial;

5. A copy of the minutes of the judgment;

6. The decision of the court upon matters of law deemed excepted to, if such decision is in writing, and a copy of the minutes showing any decision deemed excepted to.

7. Any written charges given or refused by the court, with the indorsements thereon;

8. The affidavits and counter affidavits, if any, used on the hearing of a motion for a new trial;

9. The bill of exceptions, if any, when settled, shall be attached to the foregoing and become a part of the record.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1207.

A judgment in a criminal case, showing the parties thereto, the court in which it was rendered, directing the term of imprisonment, the prison in which defendant is to be confined, and reciting the offense for which the defendant is to be punished, is all the statute requires. Ex Parte Salge, 1 Nev. 453.

A certificate of a clerk showing that the judgment or sentence entered is different from that which was orally delivered by the judge, proves nothing. The law does not authorize the clerk to certify what the judge may have said. He can only certify to the records in his court. Idem.

Cited, State v. Forsha, 8 Nev. 137; State v. Burns, 8 Nev. 251, 255; State v. Huff, 11 Nev. 24.

There is no provision of the statute that will authorize the supreme court to review or examine the evidence in a criminal case, unless it is embodied in a bill of exceptions. State v. Larkin, 11 Nev. 314, 321.

"Minutes of the trial" means only the minutes as kept by the clerk and recorded in the minute book containing the proceedings of the trial, that are daily read by the clerk and approved by the court. Idem.

The bill of exceptions, properly settled and signed by the judge, together with the rest of the record as provided in this section, is all that the supreme court will notice in the examination of a criminal case on appeal. State v. Mills, 12 Nev. 403, 405.

The papers that constitute the record or judgment roll in a criminal case are specified in this section, and it is the duty of the clerk to fasten them together and file within five days after entry of a judgment of conviction. State v. Ah Mook, 12 Nev. 369, 373, 374.

See State v. Mills, 12 Nev. 403.

The record in a criminal case consists only of such matter as is required by this section and section 445 of this act. State v. Rover, 13 Nev. 17, 20.

Affidavits as to misconduct of jurors, not embodied in bill of exceptions, or in any properly certified statement, cannot be considered on appeal. State v. McMahan, 17 Nev. 365, 374 (30 P. 1000).

Where there is no statute directing what the record shall be upon an appeal by the state in a criminal case, the alleged errors must be presented by a bill of exceptions. If not so presented the appeal will be dismissed. State v. Murphy, 21 Nev. 332 (31 P. 513).

The recitals of the commitment at the time of passing sentence, are mere matters of procedure and no part of the judgment. Ex Parte Dela, 25 Nev. 346 (83 A. S. 603, 60 P. 217).

Requisites of valid conviction. Ex Parte Webb, 24 Nev. 238 (51 P. 1027).

A judgment reciting that defendant was informed of an indictment found against him for the crime of escaping from an officer and that his plea of guilty was duly entered, and that it was adjudged that he be punished for the crime for which he had "pleaded guilty," sufficiently stated the offense for which the conviction was had. Ex Parte Doyle, 26 Nev. 281 (66 P. 949).

A bill of exceptions, when properly settled, should be filed, and it then becomes a part of the record. State v. Hill, 25 Nev. 185 (105 P. 1025).

Cited, State v. Bouton, 26 Nev. 39 (62 P. 595).

7273. Certificate of inquisition to be signed and filed.
7274. Procedure when defendant found sane.
7275. Idem—When defendant found insane.

7281. Death penalty inflicted by hanging or shooting, at defendant's election.
7282. Warden to make return on death warrant.

7264. Authority for execution, what is.

SEC. 414. When a judgment has been pronounced, a certified copy of the entry thereof in the minutes shall be forthwith furnished to the officer whose duty it is to execute the judgment, and no other warrant or authority is necessary to justify or require the execution thereof, except when judgment of death is rendered.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1213.

While the statute authorizes officers to carry into effect the judgments of criminal courts in all cases where the punishment is less than death, upon receipt of a certified copy of a judgment or sentence, thus dispensing with the necessity of a regular warrant for execution, still it does not prevent the officer from proceeding to execution of the judgment upon receipt of a formal warrant reciting the judgment of the court, and requiring the officer to execute that judgment. Ex Parte Smith, 2 Nev. 338, 340.

Cited, State v. Angelo, 18 Nev. 427 (4 P. 1080); State v. Murphy, 23 Nev. 402 (48 P. 628); Ex Parte Dela, 25 Nev. 349 (83 A. S. 603, 60 P. 217).

See Ex Parte Doyle, under sec. 413 of this act.

Recitals in commitment are no part of the judgment. Ex Parte Dela, 25 Nev. 346 (83 A. S. 603, 60 P. 217).

7265. Execution for fine, same as on judgment in civil action.

SEC. 415. If the judgment be for a fine alone, execution may be issued thereon as on a judgment in a civil action.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1214.
See sec. 5281.

7266. Judgment of imprisonment—Commitment.

SEC. 416. If the judgment be imprisonment, or a fine and imprisonment until it is satisfied, the defendant must forthwith be committed to the custody of the proper officer, and by him detained until the judgment be complied with.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1215.
Cited, State v. Murphy 23 Nev. 402 (48 P. 628); Ex Parte Tani, 29 Nev. 388, 13 L. R. A. (N. S.) 518, 91 P. 137; State v. Pray, 30 Nev. 206, 218 (94 P. 218).

7267. Idem—Delivery to warden of state prison—Return of officer.

SEC. 417. If the judgment is for imprisonment in the state prison, the sheriff of the county must, upon receipt of a certified copy thereof, take and deliver the defendant to the warden of the state prison. He must also deliver to the warden the certified copy of the judgment, and take from the warden a receipt for the defendant, and make return thereof to the court.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1216; Utah, 4927.

7268. Judgment of death—Form of warrant.

SEC. 418. When judgment of death is rendered, a warrant, signed by the judge and attested by the clerk, under the seal of the court, must be drawn and delivered to the sheriff. It must state the conviction and judgment, and appoint a day on which the judgment is to be executed, which must not be less than sixty days nor more than ninety days from the time of the judgment, and must direct the sheriff to deliver the defendant within seven days, or as soon thereafter as travel will permit, to the warden of the state prison of this state, for execution, such prison to be designated in the warrant.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1217.

It is the warrant and not the judgment which fixes the time for executing the death sentence; and the court may at any time issue the warrant in due form of law. State v. Summers, 9 Nev. 269, 270.

7269. Idem—Statement to be transmitted to board of pardons.

SEC. 419. The judge of the court at which a conviction requiring judgment of death shall have been had, shall immediately after the conviction transmit to the governor, as chairman of the board of pardons, by mail or otherwise, a statement of the conviction and judgment, and of the testimony given at the trial.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1218.

Powers of board of pardons, Const., sec. 307.

Statutory provisions relating to board of pardons, sec. 7622, et seq.; rules of the board, sec. 7629.

Cited, State ex rel. Watkins v. Bonnifield, 10 Nev. 401.

It is the duty of the district judge to transmit the testimony in a capital case to the governor. The statute does not authorize the clerk to perform any such duty or to make any charge therefor. State ex rel. Beck v. Washoe Co., 14 Nev. 66, 70.

7270. Suspension of judgment of death.

SEC. 420. No judge, court or officer, other than the governor, can suspend the execution of a judgment of death, except the warden of the state prison to whom he is delivered for execution, as provided in the eight succeeding sections, unless an appeal is taken. When an appeal is taken from a judgment of death, the appellate court, and any judge thereof in vacation, may suspend the execution until the appeal is heard and determined.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1220.

7271. Inquiry into sanity of defendant.

SEC. 421. If, after judgment of death, there is good reason to suppose that the defendant has become insane, the warden of the state prison to whom he is delivered for execution, with the concurrence of the judge of the district court of the county in which such prison is situated, may summon from the list of jurors selected by the county commissioners for the year, a jury of twelve persons, to inquire into the supposed insanity, and must give immediate notice thereof to the attorney-general and the district attorney of said county.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1221.

7272. Idem—Attorney-general and district attorney to attend.

SEC. 422. The attorney-general and the district attorney shall attend the inquisition and may produce witnesses before the jury, for which purpose they, or either of them, may issue process in the same manner as for witnesses to attend before the grand jury, and disobedience thereto may be punished in like manner as disobedience to process issued by that court.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1222.

7273. Certificate of inquisition to be signed and filed.

SEC. 423. A certificate of the inquisition must be signed by the jurors and the warden, and filed with the clerk of the district court of the county in which such prison is situated.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1223.

7274. Procedure when defendant found sane.

SEC. 424. If it is found by the inquisition that the defendant is sane, the warden must execute the judgment; but if it is found that he is insane, the warden must suspend the execution of the judgment until he receives a warrant from the governor, or from the judge of the district court of the county in which such state prison is situated, directing the execution of the judgment.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1224.

7275. Idem—When defendant found insane.

SEC. 425. If the inquisition finds that the defendant is insane, the warden must immediately transmit it to the governor, who may, when the defendant becomes sane, issue a warrant appointing a day for the execution of the judgment.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1224.

7276. Inquiry into pregnancy of female convict.

SEC. 426. If there is good reason to suppose that a female against whom a judgment of death is rendered is pregnant, the warden of the state prison to whom she is delivered for execution, with the concurrence of the district court of the county in which such state prison is situated, may summon a jury of three physicians to inquire into the supposed pregnancy. Immediate notice thereof must be given to the attorney-general and the district attorney of such county, and the provisions of sections 422 and 423 apply to the proceedings upon the inquisition.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1225.

7277. Idem—Execution suspended during pregnancy.

SEC. 427. If it is found by the inquisition that the female is not pregnant, the warden must execute the judgment; if it is found that she is pregnant, the warden must suspend the execution of the judgment, and transmit the inquisition to the governor.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1226.

7278. When governor satisfied defendant no longer pregnant may order execution.

SEC. 428. When the governor is satisfied that such female is no longer pregnant, he may issue his warrant appointing a day for the execution of the judgment.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1226.

See the next succeeding section and secs. 258, 306, 307.

7279. Judgment of death remaining unexecuted, another warrant drawn.

SEC. 429. If for any reason the judgment of death has not been executed, and it remains in force, the court in which the conviction was had must, upon the application of the attorney-general or the district attorney of the county in which the conviction was had, cause another warrant to be drawn, signed by the judge and attested by the clerk under the seal of the court, and delivered to the warden of the state prison. Said warrant must state the conviction and judgment and appoint a day on which the judgment is to be executed, which must be not less than fifteen days nor more than thirty days after the date of said warrant.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1227.

A judgment of conviction of murder in the first degree, which fixes a time for the execution of the sentence more than sixty days from its date, is not therefor void; for the reason that such fixing of time is not properly a part of the judgment and may be rejected as surplusage. State v. Summers, 9 Nev. 269, 270.

7280. Idem—Execution of judgment.

SEC. 430. When the remittitur showing the affirmation of the judgment appealed from has been filed with the clerk of the court from which the appeal has been taken, the court in which the conviction was had must inquire into the facts, and if no legal reasons exist against the execution of the judgment, must make and enter an order that the warden of the state prison shall execute the judgment at a specified time; provided, that the presence of the defendant in said court at the time the order of execution is made and entered, or the warrant is issued, as in this section provided, shall not be required.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1227.

See State v. Summers, under sec. 429 of this act.

7281. Death penalty inflicted by hanging or shooting, at defendant's election.

SEC. 431. The punishment of death shall be inflicted by hanging the defendant by the neck until he is dead, or by shooting him, at his election. If the defendant refuse or neglect to make the election, the court at the time of rendering the sentence must declare the mode of execution and enter the same as a part of its judgment. The execution shall take place within the limits of the state prison, and a suitable and efficient enclosure shall be provided by the board of prison commissioners for the purpose. The warden of the prison where the execution is to take place must be present at the execution, and must invite the presence of a physician, the attorney-general of the state, and at least twelve reputable citizens to be selected by him; and he shall, if requested by the defendant, permit such ministers of the gospel, not exceeding two, as the defendant may name, and any persons, relatives or friends, not to exceed five, to be present at the execution, together with such peace officers as he may deem proper to witness the execution. But no other persons than those mentioned in this section can be present at the execution, nor can any person under age be allowed to witness the same.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1228.

7282. Warden to make return on death warrant.

SEC. 432. After the execution, the warden must make a return upon the death warrant to the court by which the judgment was rendered, showing the time, place, mode and manner in which it was executed.

CHAPTER 37

BILL OF EXCEPTIONS

7283. Bill of exceptions, how prepared, filed and settled—Appeal without —Time shortened or extended—Appeal on errors in record without bill.
7284. Bill of exceptions, what to contain—Judge after his term or supreme court may settle.
7285. Idem—Supreme court may settle if judge does not according to facts.

7283. Bill of exceptions, how prepared, filed and settled—Appeal without—Time shortened or extended—Appeal on errors in record without bill.

SEC. 433. A bill of exceptions in order to become a part of the record of the case must be settled and certified in the following manner: Within ten days after the entry of the judgment, a proposed bill of exceptions shall be filed with the clerk of the court and a copy thereof, upon the same day, shall be served upon the adverse party or the attorney for the adverse party. Within ten days after the service of a copy of such proposed bill of exceptions, the adverse party shall, in like manner file and serve any proposed amendments he may have to such proposed bill of exceptions. Within five days thereafter, the party filing the proposed bill of exceptions may serve upon the adverse party or the attorney for the adverse party a notice in writing that he declines to accept such proposed amendments or any part thereof. If either party as the case may be, shall fail to propose amendments to the proposed bill of exceptions, or shall fail to serve a notice that he declines to accept the proposed amendments or any part thereof, the former shall be deemed to have waived proposing amendments and the latter to have accepted the amendments proposed. If no amendments are proposed or if proposed are accepted, the proposed bill of exceptions shall be presented to the judge who tried the case at the earliest opportunity for settlement and approval. If amendments are proposed which are not agreed to, either party, upon five days' notice to the other, may apply to the court, or judge thereof, to have the bill of exceptions settled. The court of its own motion, or the judge who tried the case of his own motion, may set a time for the settlement of the bill of exceptions, upon not less than two days' notice to both parties. When the bill of exceptions is settled it shall be signed by the judge and the clerk of the court shall embody the same in the record of the case. The time in this section mentioned for the performance of any act, upon stipulation or good cause shown, may be shortened or extended. Errors which appear in the record of the action, when no bill of exceptions is filed, may be taken advantage of upon appeal notwithstanding there is no bill of exceptions.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1170–1178.

The time prescribed by the practice act within which a bill of exceptions in a criminal case is to be signed by the judge is merely directory. State v. Salge, 1 Nev. 459.

In a prosecution for murder, where the record on appeal only stated that the motions made by defendant as to the regularity of the grand jury were denied by the court, there being nothing to show upon what the court acted in denying the motions, are all presumptions being in favor of the proceedings below, it will be assumed that defendant's objections were not supported by evidence. Ex Parte Bronzo, 30 Nev. 311 (95 P. 1001).

Where the record of an appealed case is in two volumes, only one of which is certified "to be a true and correct transcript of the appeal herein," the supreme court can only consider the volume so certified. State v. Hill, 32 Nev. 185 (105 P. 1025).

A bill of exceptions, when properly settled, should be filed, and it then becomes a part of the record. Idem.

7284. Bill of exceptions, what to contain—Judge, after his term, or supreme court may settle.

SEC. 434. The bill of exceptions shall contain so much of the evidence only as is necessary to present the questions of law upon which the exceptions were taken, and the judge shall, upon the settlement of the bill, whether agreed to by the parties or not, strike out evidence and other matters not material to the questions to be raised. If the judge who presided at the trial ceases to hold office before the bill is tendered or settled, he may nevertheless settle such bill, or, in the event of his failure or refusal to do so, either party may, as provided in the next section, apply to the supreme court for leave to prove the same.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1174.

7285. Idem—Supreme court may settle if judge does not according to facts.

SEC. 435. If the judge in any case refuses to allow an exception in accordance with the facts, the party desiring the bill settled may apply by petition to the supreme court, for leave to prove the same. The application and proof shall be made in the mode and manner, and under such regulations as that court may prescribe; and the bill, when proven, must be certified by the chief justice, or, in his absence or inability to act, by one of the associate justices, to be correct, and filed with the clerk of the court in which the action was tried, and when so filed it shall have the same force and effect as if settled by the judge who tried the cause.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1175.

APPEAL

7286. To and from what courts appeal may be taken.
7287. Appeal to supreme court taken on questions of law only.
7288. Designation of parties on appeal.
7289. Intermediate order or proceeding may be reviewed on appeal.
7290. Appeal from judgment or order to be taken within three months.
7291. Appeal taken by filing and serving notice—One notice sufficient.
7292. Idem—Service of notice by publication.
7293. Appeal by state, effect of—Entry of judgment on reversal.
7294. Appeal does not stay execution, unless certificate issued.
7295. Record and notice transmitted, time for.
7296. Dismissal of appeal for substantial irregularity.
7297. Dismissal for failure to make return.
7298. Criminal appeals to be determined at first term after record filed.
7299. Affirmance may be granted without argument, reversal not.
7300. Number of counsel in argument on appeal.
7301. Defendant need not be present.
7302. Court to give judgment without regard to technical errors.
7303. Power of appellate court.
7304. Reversal of judgment—Duty of appellate court—Bail exonerated.
7305. On affirmance original judgment to be executed.
7306. Entry of judgment—Papers remitted to court below.
7307. Orders after remittitur to be made by court to which case remitted.

7286. To and from what courts appeal may be taken.

SEC. 436. The party aggrieved in a criminal action, whether that party be the state or the defendant, may appeal as follows:

1. To the district court of the county from a final judgment of the justice's court.

2. To the supreme court from a final judgment of the district court in all criminal cases. Also, from an order of the district court allowing a demurrer or granting or refusing a new trial.

Jurisdiction of district court on appeal, secs. 321, 4840; of supreme court, secs. 319, 4833.

An appeal in criminal cases may be taken from an order of the district court allowing a demurrer, though final judgment be not entered. People v. Logan, 1 Nev. 110, 113.

An order of the district court quashing an indictment, discharging the defendant and exonerating his bail is a final judgment from which an appeal may be taken. State v. Logan, 1 Nev. 509, 514, 515.

A judgment is final which completely disposes of the action. To make it final it is not necessary that the rights of the parties should be finally determined, or that it be upon the merits. It is final if it disposes of the particular suit in which it is rendered. Idem.

The statute provides for an appeal from an order sustaining a demurrer to an indictment, but makes no provision for a record of such case (Stats. 1861, 485, sec. 469). It was held that such record should be by bill of exceptions and that in the absence of such bill the appeal should be dismissed. State v. Fellows, 8 Nev. 311.

The right of appeal in criminal cases is restricted to cases where the punishment adjudged is a sentence to confinement in the state prison, or to death. State v. McCormick, 14 Nev. 347; State v. Quinn, 16 Nev. 89. See Const., ante, 319.

Alleged errors in a charge or instruction can only be brought to the attention of the supreme court in one of three ways: Either by being embodied in a bill of exceptions, or in a settled statement, or indorsed by the judge as provided by section 380 of this act; and unless presented in one of these ways the supreme court will not notice them. State v. Darling, 4 Nev. 413.

Appeal by state—Bill of exceptions required. State v. Murphy, 21 Nev. 332. (31 P. 513).

Appeal — Insufficiency of evidence. A judgment in a criminal case will not be disturbed by the supreme court on the ground of insufficiency of the evidence, if there be any evidence tending to prove the allegations of the indictment. State v. McGinnis, 6 Nev. 109.

Objections to indictment in appellate court. An objection to an indictment on the grounds that it does not state facts sufficient to constitute a public offense may be taken for the first time in the appellate court, and is not waived by a failure in the district court to make the point on demurrer or on motion in arrest of judgment. State v. Trolson, 22 Nev. 419 (32 P. 930).

Appeal from new trial order—Too late after appeal from judgment disposed of. State v. Summers, 9 Nev. 399.

Cited, State v. Murphy, 23 Nev. 403 (48 P. 628).

See Ex Parte Smith, under sec. 392 of this act.

Certiorari does not lie from the supreme court to review a conviction before a justice on the ground that the statute authorizing the conviction is unconstitutional, since the constitutional question may be raised before the justice and an appeal taken from any judgment rendered by him. Chapman v. Justice Court, 29 Nev. 154, 158 (86 P. 552).

An "appeal" is a statutory right, and is the continuation of the original suit; while a "writ of error" is an independent action, in the nature of a new and original suit. State v. Preston, 30 Nev. 301 (95 P. 918).

Whether one convicted of a crime is entitled to have the judgment reviewed on writ of error cannot be determined on a petition for a rehearing after the dismissal of his appeal, but only on appropriate proceedings for the writ, when all parties interested can be heard. Idem.

7287. Appeal to supreme court taken on questions of law only.

SEC. 437. The appeal to the supreme court from the district court can be taken on questions of law alone.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1235.

Where there is evidence to support the verdict, the supreme court cannot reverse the judgment on the ground of the insufficiency of the evidence. State v. Wong Fun, 23 Nev. 336 (40 P. 95); Watt v. N. C. R. R. Co., 23 Nev. 155 (62 A. S. 772, 44 P. 423); State v. V. & T. R. R., 23 Nev. 284 (35 L. R. A. 759, 46 P. 723); State v. Thompson, 31 Nev. 209 (101 P. 557); State v. Weber, 31 Nev. 385 (103 P. 411).

Habeas corpus proceedings cannot be used to authorize the exercise of appellate jurisdiction. Ex Parte Gafford, 25 Nev. 101 (83 A. S. 568, 57 P. 484).

Substantial compliance with the statute regulating criminal appeals is essential to the supreme court's jurisdiction of an appeal. State v. Preston, 30 Nev. 301 (95 P. 918).

The statutory appeal from a judgment of conviction and from an order denying a new trial clothes the supreme court with power to review every action affecting the rights of accused, provided substantial compliance is had with the statutes. Idem.

The supreme court will not determine questions of fact on which the verdict is based. Idem.

All presumptions are in favor of the regularity of the action of the trial court. State v. Williams, 31 Nev. 361 (102 P. 974).

7288. Designation of parties on appeal.

SEC. 438. The party appealing shall be known as the appellant, and the adverse party as the respondent.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1236.

7289. Intermediate order or proceeding may be reviewed on appeal.

SEC. 439. Upon the appeal, any decision of the court in an intermediate order or proceeding, forming a part of the record, may be reviewed.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1259.

Objections to the form of an indictment for defects apparent upon its face cannot be taken advantage of for the first time on appeal. State v. O'Flaherty, 7 Nev. 154, 158.

7290. Appeal from judgment or order to be taken within three months.

SEC. 440. An appeal from a judgment or order must be taken within three months after its rendition.

Utah, 4959.

Cited, State v. Murphy, 23 Nev. 391 (48 P. 628); State v. Preston, 30 Nev. 303 (95 P. 918).

7291. Appeal taken by filing and serving notice—One notice sufficient.

SEC. 441. An appeal is taken by filing, with the clerk of the court in which the judgment or order appealed from is entered, a notice stating the appeal from the same and serving a similar notice or a copy thereof upon the adverse party or the attorney for the adverse party. When the appeal is from both the judgment and from an order denying a motion for a new trial one notice of appeal so specifying is sufficient.

Cited, State v. Murphy, 23 Nev. 391 (48 P. 628).

The trial court has no authority to make an order staying the execution of a judgment of imprisonment, and no authority to release or order the release of a defendant under a cognizance or otherwise, after judgment of imprisonment has been rendered against him, except after an appeal therefrom has been taken, and any recognizance given for that purpose at such a time is void. State v. Murphy, 23 Nev. 391, 403 (48 P. 628).

A notice that it is appellant's "intention" to appeal is defective. State v. Preston, 30 Nev. 301, 303 (95 P. 918).

When defendant appeals, filing and service of a proper notice are essential to confer jurisdiction on the supreme court. Idem.

A notice that two persons convicted of murder and manslaughter respectively intend to appeal from "the judgment of the district court herein" is fatally defective as insufficiently identifying the judgment or judgments from which appeal was intended to be taken, and for failing to show that each appealed from the judgment against him. Idem.

Substantial compliance with statutes regulating criminal appeals is essential to the supreme court's jurisdiction of an appeal. Idem.

7292. Idem—Service of notice by publication.

SEC. 442. If personal service of the notice cannot be made, the judge of the court in which the action was tried, upon proof thereof, may make an order for the publication of the notice in some newspaper for a period not exceeding thirty days. Such publication shall be equivalent to personal service.

7293. Appeal by state, effect of—Entry of judgment on reversal.

SEC. 443. An appeal taken by the state shall in no case stay or affect the operation of a judgment in favor of the defendant; provided, if the appeal by the state is from an order sustaining a demurrer to an indictment, or granting a motion to set aside an indictment, and upon such appeal said order is reversed, the defendant shall thereupon be liable to arrest and trial upon said indictment. If the appeal by the state be from an order allowing a motion in arrest of judgment, or granting a motion for a new trial, and upon appeal such order is reversed, the trial court shall enter judgment against the defendant.

When there is no statute directing what the record shall be upon an appeal by the state in a criminal case, the alleged errors must be presented by means of a bill of exceptions. If not so presented, the appeal will be dismissed. State v. Murphy, 21 Nev. 332 (31 P. 513).

7294. Appeal does not stay execution, unless certificate issued.

SEC. 444. An appeal to the supreme court from a judgment of conviction shall stay the execution of the judgment upon filing with the clerk of the court in which the conviction shall have been had a certificate of the judge of such court, or of a justice of the supreme court, that in his opinion there is probable cause for the appeal, but not otherwise.

See secs. 7314, 7326.

An appeal from a judgment of imprisonment does not operate as a stay of execution thereof, and the defendant, if in custody, must so continue, unless admitted to bail. State v. Murphy, 23 Nev. 391 (48 P. 628).

Sec. 479, Stats. 1861, 435, cited, State v. Murphy, 23 Nev. 403 (48 P. 628); State v. Pray, 30 Nev. 206, 218 (94 P. 218); State v. Smith, 34 Nev. — (111 P. 929).

SEC. 445. Upon the appeal being taken, the clerk with whom the notice of appeal is filed, must, within ten days thereafter, without charge, transmit to the clerk of the supreme court the notice of appeal and the record in said action, and if the appeal be by the state from an order sustaining a demurrer to or setting aside an indictment, or allowing a motion for a new trial or a motion in arrest of judgment, the clerk shall within said time likewise prepare and forward the indictment, demurrer, order of the court sustaining said demurrer, and notice of appeal, which shall constitute the record on appeal.

On appeal from an order granting a new trial in a criminal case where a reversal is urged on the ground that there was no statement or bill of exceptions in the court below, the transcript must affirmatively show that there was no such statement or bill of exceptions. State v. Stanley, 4 Nev. 71.

The certificate of the clerk to a transcript on appeal, that no statement or bill of exceptions on a motion for a new trial had been filed in his office, is not sufficient evidence that none was presented to the court below to authorize a reversal on that ground of an order granting a new trial. Idem.

There is no law authorizing the review of an action of the lower court upon the simple certificate of the clerk as to how or upon what evidence it acted. Idem.

The failure to file a statement or bill of exceptions on motion for new trial in a criminal case would not justify a reversal of an order granting a new trial, the transcript not affirmatively showing that none was presented to the court. Idem.

On appeal from an order sustaining a demurrer to an indictment, the record should be by bill of exceptions. State v. Fellows, 8 Nev. 311.

The record in a criminal case consists only of such matter as is required by this section and section 413 of this act. State v. Rover, 13 Nev. 17, 20.

Where there is no statute directing what the record shall be upon an appeal by the state in a criminal case, the alleged errors must be presented by means of a bill of exceptions. If not so presented the appeal will be dismissed. State v. Murphy, 21 Nev. 332, 333 (31 P. 513).

Cited, State v. Murphy, 23 Nev. 403 (46 P. 628); State v. Bouton, 26 Nev. 39 (62 P. 595); State v. Hill, 32 Nev. 187 (105 P. 1026).

The supreme court, in the examination of the transcript on appeal in a criminal case, cannot look at anything contained therein that is outside of the record provided for by statute. State v. Ah Mook, 12 Nev. 369, 372.

7296. Dismissal of appeal for substantial irregularity.

SEC. 446. If the appeal is irregular in any substantial particular, but not otherwise, the appellate court may, on a day in term, on motion of the respondent, upon five days' notice, with copies of the papers upon which the motion is founded, unless the irregularity can be cured by amendment and is so cured, order the same to be dismissed.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1248.

See sec. 7469.

A record is fatally defective in not showing the fact that the defendant neglected to appear upon some one of the occasions designated in sec. 486 of this act. State v. Murphy, 23 Nev. 391 (48 P. 628).

Fine cannot be paid under protest so as to be recovered if judgment is reversed on appeal. State v. Pray, 30 Nev. 206 (94 P. 218).

An appeal will be dismissed where the judgment is for a fine only when the fine has been paid. Idem.

Though the supreme court has adopted a liberal practice in granting applications to amend defects in transcripts, where no move is made to obviate a valid objection to a transcript, there is no other alternative than to sustain the objection. State v. Hill, 32 Nev. 185 (105 P. 1025).

7297. Dismissal for failure to make return.

SEC. 447. The court may, also, upon like motion, dismiss the appeal, if the return be not made as provided in section 445, unless for good cause it shall enlarge the time for that purpose.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1249.

7298. Criminal appeals to be determined at first term after record filed.

SEC. 448. All appeals in criminal cases shall be tried and determined at the first term of the appellate court after the record is filed.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1252.

7299. Affirmance may be granted without argument—Reversal not.

SEC. 449. Judgment of affirmance may be granted without argument, if the appellant fail to appear. But judgment of reversal can only be given upon argument, orally or upon written brief, though the respondent fail to appear.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1253.

See supreme court rule 11, p. 1423.

Where the appellant fails to appear and file any points or authorities in a criminal case, the supreme court may affirm the judgment appealed from without examining the assignment of errors in the record. State v. Myatt, 10 Nev. 163, 166.

When the defendant in a criminal case fails to put in an appearance in the appellate court, the judgment of conviction will be affirmed upon motion. State v. Chin Wah, 12 Nev. 118.

7300. Number of counsel in argument on appeal.

SEC. 450. Upon the argument of the appeal, if the offense is punishable with death, two counsel shall be heard on each side, if they require it. In any other case the court may, in its discretion, restrict the argument to one counsel on each side.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1254.

7301. Defendant need not be present.

SEC. 451. The defendant need not appear in the appellate court.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1255.

7302. Court to give judgment without regard to technical errors.

SEC. 452. After hearing the appeal, the court shall give judgment without regard to technical error or defect which does not affect the substantial rights of the parties.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1258.

See sec. 7469.

Error in admitting the evidence of one witness of a confession by an accused is harmless where the same confession is proved by other witnesses. State v. Buster 23 Nev. 346, 348 (47 P. 194).

The judgment of the trial court will not be reversed for errors which do not affect the substantial rights of the defendant. State v. Depoister, 21 Nev. 107 (25 P. 1000); State v. Vaughan, 22 Nev. 285 (39 P. 733); State v. Hartley, 22 Nev. 342 (28 L. R. A. 33, 40 P. 372); State v. Buster, 23 Nev. 346 (47 P. 194); S. N. M. Co. v. Holmes M. Co., 27 Nev. 108 (103 A. S. 759, 73 P. 759); State v. Williams, 31 Nev. 360 (102 P. 974); State v. Jackman, 31 Nev. 511 (104 P. 13); State v. Skinner, 32 Nev. 70 (104 P. 223); State v. Simpson, 32 Nev. 138 (104 P. 244); State v. Petty, 32 Nev. 384 (108 P. 934); State v. Martel, 32 Nev. 395 (108 P. 1097).

Cited and explained, State v. Smith, 34 Nev.—(117 P. 25).

7303. Power of appellate court.

SEC. 453. The appellate court may reverse, affirm, or modify the judgment appealed from, and may, if necessary or proper, order a new trial.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1260.

On a murder trial, the court instructed the jury that under the law and evidence it would not be justified in finding a verdict for any higher grade of offense than manslaughter. It was held that this was not necessarily a charge that the state had made out a case of manslaughter. State v. Little, 6 Nev. 281, 282.

Where the defendant in a criminal case is convicted and appeals, and the judgment is reversed, it was held that the supreme court may order a new trial, although the defendant did not move for one, and denies the power of the court to grant it. State v. Rover, 10 Nev. 388, 400.

Powers of court on appeal. State v. Preston, 30 Nev. 301 (95 P. 918).

7304. Reversal of judgment—Duty of appellate court—Bail exonerated.

SEC. 454. If a judgment against the defendant is reversed, without ordering a new trial, the appellate court shall direct, if he is in custody, that he be discharged therefrom, or if he is admitted to bail, that his bail be exonerated, or if money be deposited instead of bail, that it be refunded to the defendant.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1262.

7305. On affirmance original judgment to be executed.

SEC. 455. On a judgment of affirmance against the defendant, the original judgment shall be carried into execution, as the appellate court shall direct.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1263.

7306. Entry of judgment—Papers remitted to court below.

SEC. 456. When the judgment of the supreme court shall have been given, it must be entered on the minutes, and a certified copy of the entry, together with the papers transmitted to the supreme court on appeal, remitted to the clerk of the court from which the appeal shall have been taken.

See supreme court rule 40, p. 1424.

7307. Orders after remittitur to be made by court to which case remitted.

SEC. 457. After the certificate of judgment has been remitted, the appellate court shall have no further jurisdiction of the appeal, or of the proceedings thereon, and all orders which may be necessary to carry the judgment into effect shall be made by the court to which the certificate is remitted.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1265.

7345. Idem—Who may take bail.
7346. Form of undertaking on recommitment.
7347. Qualifications of bail.

7308. Bail defined.

SEC. 458. Admission to bail is the order of a competent court or magistrate that the defendant be discharged from actual custody upon the taking of bail.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1268.
Excessive bail not to be required, Const., sec. 235.
Bonds by surety companies, sec. 695.
Bail held excessive. Ex Parte Douglas, 25 Nev. 425 (62 P. 49).

7309. Taking of bail, of what it consists.

SEC. 459. The taking of bail consists in the acceptance by a competent court or magistrate, of the undertaking of sufficient sureties for the appearance of the defendant, according to the terms of the undertaking, or that the bail will pay to the State of Nevada a specified sum.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1269.

7310. Who may be admitted to bail—Grounds.

SEC. 460. A person charged with an offense may be admitted to bail before conviction, as follows:

1. As a matter of discretion in all cases where the punishment is death;
2. As a matter of right in all other cases.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1270, 1271.
See Const., sec. 236.

7311. Person charged with offense punishable with death not to be admitted, when.

SEC. 461. No person shall be admitted to bail where he is charged with an offense punishable with death, when the proof is evident or the presumption great.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1270.

A nisi prius court has the right, upon the application of a petitioner, who is charged with murder, and whose case has been resubmitted to another grand jury to hear the testimony and decide for itself whether the proof of defendant's guilt was evident or the presumption great. Ex Parte Isbell, 11 Nev. 295, 299.

When it appears that the presiding judge has acted upon petitioner's application for bail, no other court or judge would be warranted in discharging petitioner or admitting him to bail, unless it clearly appears that the presiding judge had acted arbitrarily in the premises. Idem.

As the petition for the writ of habeas corpus contained allegations which, if true, showed the offense of petitioner to be manslaughter only, he was entitled to have the evidence of the witnesses before the grand jury reviewed for the purpose of enabling the court or judge to ascertain whether the proof is evident or the presumption great and thereby to determine whether the offense committed—as shown by this and other testimony—is a bailable offense. Ex Parte Finlen, 20 Nev. 141, 144, 152 (18 P. 827).

7312. Notice to district attorney, when to be given.

SEC. 462. When the admission to bail is a matter of discretion, the court, or officer by whom it may be ordered, shall require such notice of the application therefor as he may deem reasonable to be given to the district attorney of the county where the examination is had.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1274.

7313. Admission to bail before conviction.

SEC. 463. Before conviction, a defendant may be admitted to bail:

1. For his appearance before a magistrate, on the examination of the charge, before being held to answer;
2. To appear at the court to which the magistrate is required to return the depositions and statement upon the defendant being held to answer after examination;
3. After indictment, either before the bench warrant issued for his arrest, or upon an order of the court committing or enlarging the amount of bail, or upon his being surrendered by his bail to answer the indictment in the court in which it is found, or to which it may be sent or removed for trial.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1273.

7314. Admission to bail after conviction.

SEC. 464. After conviction of an offense not punishable with death, a defendant who has appealed may be admitted to bail:

1. As a matter of right, where the appeal is from a judgment imposing a fine only;
2. As a matter of discretion in all other cases.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1272.
See secs. 7294–7326.
Cited, State v. Murphy, 23 Nev. 403 (48 P. 628).

7315. Bail after conviction and upon appeal.

SEC. 465. After conviction, and upon an appeal, the defendant may be admitted to bail as follows:

1. If the appeal be from a judgment imposing a fine only, on a recognizance of bail, that he will pay the same, or such part of it as the appellate court may direct, if the judgment be affirmed or modified, or the appeal be dismissed;

2. If judgment of imprisonment has been given, that he will surrender himself in execution of the judgment, upon its being affirmed or modified, or upon the appeal being dismissed, or that, in case the judgment is reversed and the cause is remanded for a new trial, he will appear in the court to which said cause may be remanded, and at all times render himself amenable to the orders and process of the court, and if again convicted, shall appear for judgment and render himself in execution thereof.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1273.

Cited, State v. Murphy, 23 Nev. 400 (48 P. 628).

The defendant was convicted of larceny, and refused bail on application to the trial court. It was held that, as the discretion of the trial judge is not to be disturbed except for clear abuse, the defendant would not be admitted to bail by the supreme court, especially when the case would shortly be heard on its merits. State v. Smith, 34 Nev. — (111 P. 929).

Upon application to the supreme court to be admitted to bail, notice to the district attorney of the county in which the offense was committed was held to be a necessary prerequisite. Idem.

7316. Bail, when defendant has been held to answer.

SEC. 466. When the defendant has been held to answer upon an examination for a public offense, except as otherwise provided in capital cases, the admission to bail may be by the magistrate by whom he is so held, or by any magistrate who has power to issue the writ of habeas corpus.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1277.

7317. Bail, how put in—Form of undertaking.

SEC. 467. Bail is put in by a written undertaking, executed by two sufficient sureties (with or without the defendant, in the discretion of the court or magistrate), and acknowledged before the court or magistrate in substantially the following form: "An order having been made on the..... day of....., A.D. 19...., by A. B., a justice of the peace of..... county (or as the case may be), that C. D. be held to answer upon a charge of (stating briefly the nature of the offense), upon which he has been duly admitted to bail in the sum of.....dollars; we, E. F. and G. H. (stating their place of residence), hereby undertake that the above-named C. D. shall appear and answer the charge above mentioned, in whatever court it may be prosecuted, and shall at all times render himself amenable to the orders and process of the court, and, if convicted, shall appear for judgment and render himself in execution thereof, or, if he fail to perform any of these conditions, that we will pay to the State of Nevada the sum of .....dollars (inserting the sum in which the defendant is admitted to bail)."

Kerr, Pen. C., 1278.

Concerning undertakings by surety companies, see sec. 695.

A recognizance which gives the name of the offense for which the principal is held is sufficient. State v. Birchim, 9 Nev. 95 99, 100.

The reasons for setting forth the particulars of the offense in a commitment do not exist in the case of a recognizance; and therefore the construction requiring such particularity given to the words "briefly stating the offense," as used in the statutory form of commitments (sec. 142 of this act) is not applicable to the same words as used above. Idem.

It seems that a failure to follow the statutory form in giving a recognizance would not, if the obligations were in other respects plain, release the obligors from their liability. Idem.

An action upon a bail bond is an action upon an obligation founded upon an instrument in writing, and is not an action for a forfeiture or penalty to the state which must be commenced within two years after right of action has accrued. The right of action is, therefore, barred by the six-year clause of the statute. State v. Murphy, 23 Nev. 390, 398 (48 P. 628).

A contention that a recognizance is void, for the reason that no time, place or court is named therein, is not tenable, as the law designates the time, place and court in which the defendant must appear and surrender himself in execution of the judgment. Idem.

Where the transcript on appeal shows that the recognizance was made a record by order of the court, and the complaint avers that it was filed, a contention that the recognizance is void for the reason that it was never filed or became a record in the cause or court, is not tenable. Idem.

In a recognizance the details of the offense need not be stated with the particularity required by the indictment, but it suffices if any word is used by way of recital which is commonly employed to designate the particular offense. State v. O'Keefe, 32 Nev. 331 (108 P. 2).

A recognizance reciting that "an indictment having been found charging W. with the crime of uttering and passing false paper," etc., sufficiently designated the crime without stating that the false paper was passed with intent to defraud. Idem.

7318. Qualifications of bail.

SEC. 468. The qualifications of bail are as follows:

1. Each of them must be a resident, and a householder or freeholder within the state;

2. They must each be worth the amount specified in the recognizance, exclusive of property exempt from execution; but the court or magistrate, on taking bail, may allow more than two bail to justify severally in amounts less than that expressed in the recognizance, if the whole justification be equivalent to that of two sufficient sureties.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1279.

7319. Justification of bail.

SEC. 469. The bail shall, in all cases, justify by affidavit, taken before the court or magistrate, as the case may be. The affidavit must state that they each possess the qualifications provided in the preceding section.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1280.

7320. Examination of bail by magistrate as to qualifications.

SEC. 470. The court or magistrate may thereupon further examine the bail, upon oath, concerning their sufficiency, in such manner as the court or magistrate may deem proper.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1283.

7321. When offense bailable arresting officer must take defendant before magistrate to fix bail.

SEC. 471. When the offense charged in the indictment is bailable, the officer serving the bench warrant must, if required by the defendant, take him before a magistrate in the county in which it is issued, or if he is arrested in another county, before a magistrate in that county or an adjoining county, for the purpose of allowing the defendant to furnish bail in the amount fixed on the bench warrant. If the defendant be taken into custody under a warrant of arrest for an offense which is bailable, the officer must, if so required by the defendant, take him before a magistrate for the purpose of allowing the defendant to be admitted to bail in the amount fixed in the warrant of arrest, and in accordance with the provisions for admission to bail when the defendant is taken into custody under a warrant of arrest.

SEC. 472. If the offense charged is not bailable, or if bail be not given, the officer arresting the accused shall deliver him into custody according to the command of the bench warrant or the warrant of arrest.

Cited, Ex Parte Finlen, 20 Nev. 150 (18 P. 827).

7323. Defendant to be held by sheriff unless bail ordered on habeas corpus.

SEC. 473. When the offense is not bailable, and the defendant is delivered into custody, he shall be held by the sheriff unless admitted to bail on examination upon a writ of habeas corpus.

7324. Bail on bench warrant, form of undertaking.

SEC. 474. When the defendant has been arrested upon a bench warrant, the bail must be put in by a written undertaking, executed by two sufficient sureties (with or without the defendant, in the discretion of the court or magistrate), and acknowledged before the court or magistrate, in substantially the following form:

An indictment having been found, on the.....day of.....A. D. 19...., in the court of the district of.....(as the case may be), charging A. B. with the crime of (designating it generally), and he having been duly admitted to bail in the sum of.....dollars, we, C. D. and E. F. (stating their place of residence), hereby undertake that the above-named A. B. shall appear and answer the indictment above mentioned, in whatever court it may be prosecuted, and shall at all times render himself amenable to the orders and processes of the court, and, if convicted, shall appear, for judgment and render himself in execution thereof; or, if he fail to perform either of these conditions, that we will pay to the State of Nevada the sum of.....dollars (inserting the sum in which the defendant is admitted to bail).

Kerr, Pen. C., 1287.
See State v. O'Keefe, under sec. 467 of this act.

7325. Qualifications of bail.

SEC. 475. The provisions contained in sections 468 and 470, both inclusive, in relation to bail, shall apply to the qualifications of the bail, and to all the proceedings respecting the putting in and justifying of bail, and incident thereto.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1288.

7326. Bail on appeal, who may admit.

SEC. 476. In the cases in which the defendant may be admitted to bail, upon an appeal, the order admitting him to bail may be made by the court or judge who tried the case or by the court to which the appeal is taken or the judge or a justice thereof.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1291.
See secs. 7294, 7314.

7327. Notice of application to be given district attorney.

SEC. 477. When the admission to bail is a matter of discretion, the court or judge by whom it may be ordered shall require such notice of the application therefor as he may deem reasonable to be given to the district attorney of the county in which the verdict or judgment was originally rendered.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1274.

7328. Bail on appeal, qualification of sureties, how furnished.

SEC. 478. The sureties must possess the qualifications, and the bail must be furnished in all respects as before provided, except that the condition of the recognizance shall be to the effect that the defendant will in all respects abide the orders and judgment of the appellate court upon the appeal.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1292.
Cited, State v. Murphy, 23 Nev. 400 (48 P. 628).

7329. Surety companies may be accepted as bail.

SEC. 479. In all cases where bail may be given under the provisions of this act, the party giving such bail may furnish the same with a surety or bonding company, authorized to do business under the laws of this state and to furnish bonds or recognizances in criminal cases, to be approved by the court or magistrate, in lieu of personal sureties.

See sec. 695.

7330. Cash deposit in lieu of bail.

SEC. 480. The defendant, at any time after an order admitting him to bail, instead of giving bail, may deposit with the magistrate or the clerk of the court in which he is held to answer, the sum mentioned in the order, and upon delivering to the officer in whose custody he is, a certificate of the deposit, he shall be discharged from custody.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1295.

7331. Defendant may make deposit in lieu of undertaking.

SEC. 481. If the defendant has given bail, he may, at any time before the forfeiture of the undertaking, in like manner deposit the sum mentioned in the undertaking, and upon the deposit being made, the bail shall be exonerated.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1296.

7332. Money deposited as bail to be applied in satisfaction of judgment.

SEC. 482. When money has been deposited, if it remains on deposit at the time of a judgment for the payment of a fine, the court or the clerk, under the direction of the court, shall apply the money in satisfaction thereof, and after satisfying the fine and costs, shall refund the surplus, if any, to the defendant.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1297.

7333. Bail may surrender defendant—Defendant may surrender—Exoneration of bail.

SEC. 483. At any time before the forfeiture of their undertaking, the bail may surrender the defendant in their exoneration, or he may surrender himself to the officer to whose custody he was committed at the time of giving bail, in the following manner:

1. A certified copy of the undertaking of bail shall be delivered to the officer, who shall detain the defendant in his custody thereon as upon a commitment, and shall, by a certificate in writing, acknowledge the surrender.

2. Upon an undertaking and a certificate of the officer, the court in which the action is pending may, upon notice of five days to the district attorney of the district, with a copy of the undertaking and certificate, order that the bail be exonerated, and on filing the order and the papers used on the application, they shall be exonerated accordingly.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1300.

7334. Sureties may arrest and surrender defendant.

SEC. 484. For the purpose of surrendering the defendant, the sureties, at any time before they are finally discharged, and at any place within the state, may themselves arrest him, or by a written authority, indorsed on a certified copy of the undertaking, may empower any person of suitable age and discretion to do so.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1301.

7335. When defendant surrenders, deposit to be returned.

SEC. 485. If money has been deposited instead of bail, and the defendant, at any time before the forfeiture thereof, shall surrender himself to the officer to whom the commitment was directed, in the manner provided in the last two sections, the court shall order a return of the deposit to the defendant, upon producing the certificate to the officer, showing the surrender, and upon a notice of five days to the district attorney, with a copy of the certificate.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1302.

7336. Undertaking or deposit to be forfeited, when.

SEC. 486. If without sufficient excuse the defendant neglects to appear for arraignment, or for trial or judgment, or upon any other occasion, when his presence in court may be lawfully required, or to surrender himself in execution of the judgment, the court shall direct the fact to be entered upon its minutes, and the undertaking, or the money deposited instead of bail, as the case may be, shall thereupon be declared forfeited.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1305.

This provision is mandatory. It does not require that the record must show that the defendant was called, neither is it necessary thereunder that the defendant should be called. State v. Murphy, 23 Nev. 391 (48 P. 628).

A record reading as follows: "Now, on motion of the district attorney, it is ordered that the bonds of M. be and they are hereby declared forfeited," is fatally defective in not showing that the defendant neglected to appear on one of the occasions designated in section 523 of the former criminal practice act. Idem.

7337. Idem—If defendant appears court may order forfeiture discharged.

SEC. 487. If at any time before the final adjournment of the court, the defendant shall appear and satisfactorily excuse his neglect, the court may direct the forfeiture of the undertaking or the deposit to be discharged upon such terms as may be just.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1305.

7338. Idem—When action on undertaking may be had.

SEC. 488. If the forfeiture is not discharged as provided in the last section, the district attorney may, at any time after the adjournment of the court proceed by action only against the bail upon their undertaking.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1306.

7339. Clerk to pay forfeited bail to county treasurer.

SEC. 489. If by reason of the neglect of the defendant to appear, as provided in section 486, money deposited instead of bail is forfeited, and the forfeiture be not discharged or remitted as provided in section 487, the clerk with whom it is deposited must immediately after the final adjournment of the court pay over the money deposited to the county treasurer.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1307.

7340. Recommitted after bail.

SEC. 490. The court to which the committing magistrate shall return the depositions and statement, or in which an indictment or an appeal is pending, or to which a judgment on appeal is remitted to be carried into effect, may, by an order to be entered on its minutes, direct the arrest of the defendant and his commitment to the officer to whose custody he was committed at the time of giving bail, and his detention until legally discharged, in the following cases:

1. When, by reason of his failure to appear, he has incurred a forfeiture of his bail, or of money deposited instead thereof, as provided in section 486;

2. When it satisfactorily appears to the court that his bail, or either of them, are dead, or insufficient, or have removed from the state;

3. Upon an indictment being found in the cases provided in section 233.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1310.

7341. Order of recommitment, what to contain.

SEC. 491. The order for the recommitment of the defendant shall recite generally the facts upon which it is founded, and shall direct that the defendant be arrested by any sheriff, constable, marshal, policeman, or other peace officer within the state, and committed to the custody of the sheriff of the county where the depositions and statement were returned, or the indictment was found, or the conviction was had, as the case may be, to be detained until legally discharged.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1311.

7342. Arrest on order of recommitment.

SEC. 492. The defendant may be arrested pursuant to the order, upon a certified copy thereof, in any county, in the same manner as upon a warrant of arrest, except that when arrested in another county the order need not be indorsed by a magistrate of that county.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1312.

7343. Commitment of defendant on order when he fails to appear for judgment.

SEC. 493. If the order recites, as the grounds upon which it is made, the failure of the defendant to appear for judgment upon conviction, the defendant must be committed according to the requirement of the order.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1313.

7344. Idem—If for other cause he may be admitted to bail.

SEC. 494. If the order be made for any other cause, and the offense is bailable, the court may fix the amount of bail, and may cause a direction to be inserted in the order that the defendant be admitted to bail in the sum fixed, which shall be specified in the order.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1314.

7345. Idem—Who may take bail.

SEC. 495. When the defendant is admitted to bail, the bail may be taken in the amount specified in the order, by any magistrate in the county having authority in a similar case to admit to bail upon the holding of the defendant to answer before indictment, or by any other magistrate to be designated by the court.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1315.

7346. Form of undertaking on recommitment.

SEC. 496. When bail is taken upon the recommitment of the defendant, the undertaking shall be in substantially the following form: "An order having been made on the.....day of....., A. D. 19...., by the court (naming it), that A. B. be admitted to bail in the sum of.....dollars, in an action pending in that court against him, in behalf of the State of Nevada, upon a (presentment, indictment or appeal, as the case may be), we, C. D. and E. F., of (stating their place of residence), hereby undertake that the above-named A. B. shall appear in that or any other court in which his appearance may be lawfully required upon that (presentment, indictment, or appeal, as the case may be), and shall at all times render himself amenable to its orders and processes, and appear for judgment, and surrender himself in execution thereof; or if he fail to perform any of these conditions, that we will pay to the State of Nevada the sum of..... dollars (inserting the sum in which the defendant is admitted to bail.)"

Kerr, Pen. C., 1316.

A motion by the accused for an order directing the sheriff to pay over to him money unlawfully detained, as shown by an affidavit in support of such motion, was properly denied, as such money could be recovered by civil action, and, if the money was taken from him at the time of his arrest, this section provides for its disposition. State v. Burns, 27 Nev. 289 (74 P. 983).

Recital of offense in recognizance. State v. O'Keefe, 32 Nev. 331 (108 P. 2).

7347. Qualifications of bail.

SEC. 497. The sureties must possess the qualifications and the bail must be furnished in all respects in the manner heretofore prescribed.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1317.

DISMISSAL OF ACTION

7396. Defendant must be tried at next session after indictment, or dismissed.
7397. Idem—Action continued from term to term—Discharge.
7398. Dismissal discharges defendant.
7399. Dismissal on motion of court or district attorney.
7401. Dismissal a bar except in felony cases.

7395. Court may order dismissal of prosecution, when.

SEC. 545. When a person has been held to answer for a public offense, if an indictment be not found against him at the next session of the court at which he is held to answer, and at which a meeting of the grand jury is held, the court shall order the prosecution to be dismissed, unless good cause to the contrary be shown.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1382.

The object of this section in providing that a person held to answer shall be indicted at the next term of the court, is to protect the citizen from imprisonment upon insufficient cause; but such provision has no bearing upon the validity of an indictment found at a subsequent term. State v. Lambert, 9 Nev. 322, 324.

Where petitioner has been held to answer before the grand jury for the crime of murder, the grand jury had met and ignored the charge, and the court, upon sufficient cause shown, ordered that he be held to appear before the next grand jury; it was held that petitioner was not entitled to his discharge under the provisions of this or section 547 of this act upon a writ of habeas corpus. Ex Parte Isbell, 11 Nev. 295, 297.

Where it appears that the court adjudicated upon the facts, the presumption arises that the facts were of such a character as to warrant the court in the exercise of its sound legal discretion to make the order. Idem.

It being recited in the record that the order resubmitting the case to the next grand jury, was made because "sufficient cause" was shown, the presumption is, in the absence of any showing to the contrary, that the court did not act arbitrarily in the premises. Idem.

The district court sustained a demurrer to an indictment for felony against petitioner, and, being of opinion that the objection could be avoided in a new indictment, ordered the case submitted "to the same or another grand jury." The grand jury then in session and a second and third grand jury failed to indict petitioner. A fourth grand jury found an indictment. It was held that the failure of the respective grand juries to find an indictment was not a bar to further prosecution. Ex Parte Job, 17 Nev. 184, 187 (30 P. 699).

It was held that the order resubmitting the case "to the same or another grand jury," was not void for uncertainty. Idem.

7396. Defendant must be tried at next session after indictment or dismissed.

SEC. 546. If a defendant indicted for a public offense, whose trial has not been postponed upon his application, is not brought to trial at the next session of the court at which the indictment is triable, after the same is found, the court shall order the indictment to be dismissed, unless good cause to the contrary be shown.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1382.

If the prosecution makes all reasonable efforts to impanel a jury at the first term at which the case is triable, but without success, and it does not appear that a jury could not be had at the next term, there is a good cause for a continuance on its motion for the term. Ex Parte Stanley, 4 Nev. 113, 116.

The fact that a disastrous fire had occurred destroying the courthouse and so much of the city of Virginia as to render it impossible for the court to find a suitable room in which to meet, was sufficient to authorize the court to continue the trial of causes for the term. Ex Parte Larkin, 11 Nev. 91, 95.

Courts usually require, and ordinarily should require, a showing to be made by affidavits, in order to continue causes for the term, when such continuance is objected to by either party; but when a condition of affairs exists that is notorious, and about which, from its very nature, there could be no conflict, the court is authorized of its own motion, to continue the causes for the term (Ex Parte Stanley, 4 Nev. 116, affirmed). Idem.

This section is intended to prevent arbitrary, wilful or oppressive delays; and whenever this appears to be the case, the prisoner is entitled to be discharged. Idem.

Cited, Ex Parte Maxwell, 11 Nev. 433.

See Ex Parte Isbell, under sec. 545 of this act.

7397. Idem—Action continued from term to term—Discharge.

SEC. 547. If the defendant is not indicted or tried, as provided in the last two preceding sections, and sufficient reason therefor be shown, the court may order the action to be continued from time to time, and in the meantime may discharge the defendant from custody, on his own recognizance, or on the recognizance of bail, for his appearance to answer the charge at the time to which the action is continued.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1383.

Cited, Ex Parte Maxwell, 11 Nev. 433, 441,

See Ex Parte Isbell, under sec. 545 of this act.

7398. Dismissal discharges defendant.

SEC. 548. If the court directs the action to be dismissed, the defendant shall, if in custody, be discharged therefrom, or if admitted to bail, his bail shall be exonerated, or money deposited instead of bail shall be refunded to him.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1384.

7399. Dismissal on motion of court or district attorney.

SEC. 549. The court may, either of its own motion or upon the application of the district attorney, and in furtherance of justice, order any action after indictment to be dismissed; but in such case the reasons of the dismissal shall be set forth in the order, which must be entered on the minutes.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1385.

7400. Attorney-general and district attorney not to abandon prosecution except as provided.

SEC. 550. Neither the attorney-general nor the district attorney shall hereafter discontinue or abandon a prosecution for a public offense, except as provided in the last preceding section.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1386.

7401. Dismissal a bar except in felony cases.

SEC. 551. An order for the dismissal of the action, as provided in this chapter, shall be a bar to another prosecution for the same offense, if it be a misdemeanor, but it shall not be a bar if the offense charged be a felony.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1387.
See Ex Parte Job, under sec. 545 of this act.

7448. Court may order return of property to owner.

SEC. 598. If the property stolen or embezzled has not been delivered to the owner, the court before which a conviction is had for stealing or embezzling it may, on proof of his title, order it to be restored to the owner.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1410.

7449. Sale of unclaimed property.

SEC. 599. If property stolen or embezzled be not claimed by the owner before the expiration of six months from the conviction of a person for stealing or embezzling it, the magistrate or other officer having it in custody shall, on payment of the necessary expenses incurred for its preservation, deliver it to the county treasurer, by whom it must be sold and the proceeds paid into the county treasury.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1411.

7450. Property taken from person arrested—Duplicate receipts.

SEC. 600. When money or other property is taken from a defendant arrested upon a charge of a public offense, the officer taking it shall at the time give duplicate receipts therefor, specifying particularly the amount of money and the kind of property taken; one of which receipts he shall deliver to the defendant, and the other of which he shall forthwith file with the clerk of the court to which the deposition and statements must be sent.

CHAPTER 50

WITNESSES

7451. Witnesses, competency of—Privilege of codefendant.
7452. Witnesses, husband and wife.
7453. Witnesses, affirmation sufficient.
7454. Rules of evidence same as in civil cases, exception.
7455. Reported testimony used on subsequent trial, when.
7456. Defendant's failure to testify not to prejudice him — Cross-examination of defendant.

7451. Witnesses, competency of—Privilege of codefendant.

SEC. 601. The rules for determining the competency of witnesses in civil actions are applicable also to criminal actions and proceedings, except as otherwise provided for in this act. The party or parties injured shall in all cases be competent witnesses; the credibility of all such witnesses shall be left to the jury, as in other cases. In all cases when two or more persons are jointly or otherwise concerned in the commission of any crime or misdemeanor, either of such persons may be sworn as a witness against another, in relation to such crime or misdemeanor, but the testimony given by such witness shall in no instance be used against himself in any criminal prosecution except upon a charge of perjury committed in the giving of such testimony; and any person may be compelled to testify, as provided in this section.

Regarding testimony of accomplice, see sec. 7180.

Cited, State v. Depoister, 21 Nev. 123 (25 P. 1000).

An accomplice is not incompetent to give testimony, but the weight thereof is for the jury under proper instructions subject to the restriction of sec. 330 of this act, provided the conviction cannot be had on the uncorroborated testimony of such accomplice. State v. Douglas, 26 Nev. 196, 204 (99 A. S. 688, 65 P. 802).

Permitting the defendant, who was a witness in his own behalf, to be asked in regard to his conviction for felony, was held not prejudicial error. State v. Roberts, 28 Nev. 351, 379 (82 P. 100).

7452. Witnesses, husband and wife.

SEC. 602. Except with the consent of both, or in cases of criminal violence upon one by the other, neither husband nor wife is a competent witness for or against the other in a criminal action or proceeding to which one or both are parties.

Where, in a prosecution for crime, it appeared that a woman who was called as a witness against defendant had lived with him for a number of years, but had never been married to him, and was during all the time the wife of another, she was not incompetent to testify on the grounds that she was defendant's common-law wife. State v. Hancock, 28 Nev. 300 (82 P. 95).

7453. Witnesses, affirmation sufficient.

SEC. 603. The solemn affirmation of witnesses shall be deemed sufficient. A false or corrupt affirmation shall subject the witness to all the penalties and punishments provided for those who commit wilful and corrupt perjury. The term oath, when used in this act, shall be deemed to include an affirmation.

Comprehension of nature of an oath. State v. Burns, 27 Nev. 289 (74 P. 983).

7454. Rules of evidence same as in civil cases, exception.

SEC. 604. The rules of evidence in civil actions shall be applicable also to criminal actions, except as otherwise provided in this act.

Instruction on circumstantial evidence. State v. Mandich, 24 Nev. 336 (54 P. 510).

If the circumstances, all taken together, exclude to a moral certainty every hypothesis but the single one of guilt, and established that one beyond a reasonable doubt, they are sufficient. Idem.

The fact that portions of the voluntary confession made by an accused out of court were not understood by the person to whom they were made, because made in a language with which he was unacquainted, renders the entire confession inadmissible. State v. Buster, 23 Nev. 346 (47 P. 194); State v. Simas, 25 Nev. 434 (62 P. 242).

Confession, when admissible. Idem.

That one is imbued with fear, occasioned by his arrest for crime, and a knowledge of his guilt thereof, does not alone make his confession inadmissible. State v. Johnny, 29 Nev. 204 (87 P. 3).

A defendant cannot be prejudiced by the admission of his confession which he voluntarily acknowledges under oath is true. Idem.

If it cannot be easily shown that a conversation sought to be proved was voluntary, without leading the jury to surmise that a confession has been made, they ought to be excused until the court can hear the evidence and determine whether the confession ought to be submitted to them. Idem.

It is discretionary to allow leading questions on the direct examination when the witness is unable to understand otherwise. State v. Williams, 31 Nev. 360 (102 P. 974).

Time is provable by the opinion of a witness testifying from his recollection. Idem.

Knowledge of custom may be shown by one who has gained his knowledge in the course of trade and through the statements of others engaged in the same business. State v. Hughes, 31 Nev. 270 (102 P. 562).

7455. Reported testimony used on subsequent trial, when.

SEC. 605. Whenever, in any court of record, the testimony of any witness in any criminal case shall be stenographically reported by an official court stenographer, and thereafter such witness shall die, or be beyond the jurisdiction of the court in which the cause is pending, either party to the record may read in evidence the testimony of said witness, when duly certified by the stenographer to be correct, or otherwise so proved, in any subsequent trial of or proceeding had in the same cause, subject only to the same objection that might be made if said witness were upon the stand and testifying in open court.

7456. Defendant's failure or refusal to testify not to prejudice him—Cross-examination of defendant.

SEC. 606. If a defendant offers himself as a witness, he may be cross-examined by the counsel for the state the same as any other witness. His neglect or refusal to be a witness shall not in any manner prejudice him, nor be used against him on the trial or proceeding.

An accused person cannot be compelled to be a witness against himself, U. S. Const., sec. 175; State Const., sec. 237.

See State v. Ah Chuey, 14 Nev. 79 (33 A. R. 530).

Kerr, Pen. C., 7.

See sec. 3913.

Concerning signature to complaint by mark. State v. Depoister, 21 Nev. 107.

It is not necessary that a signature to a criminal complaint, executed by the complainant's mark, should be attested by a subscribing witness, when the magistrate certifies upon the complaint that it was subscribed and sworn to in his presence. State v. Depoister, 21 Nev. 107 (25 P. 1000).

The use of the word "signature" instead of "mark" by the magistrate, and the misplacing of the words "witness to the above signature" by the magistrate below his jurat are mere informalities. Idem.

7459. Transfer of prisoners.

SEC. 609. When it is necessary for any purpose to have a person who is in prison in any part of the state, brought before a court of criminal jurisdiction, an order for that purpose may be made by the court, and the order shall be executed by the sheriff of the county where it is made.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1333.

7460. Process to be executed according to its terms.

SEC. 610. Process issued by a court or magistrate shall be executed according to its terms.

Kerr, Pen. C., 7.
Process must issue under the style "The State of Nevada," Const., sec. 328.

7461. Magistrate defined.

SEC. 611. The term "magistrate," when used in this act, signifies any one of the officers mentioned in section 79.

Kerr, Pen. C., 7.

7463. Fines to be paid into state treasury—Costs to be separate.

SEC. 613. The full amount of all fines imposed and collected under and for violation of any penal law of this state shall be paid into the state treasury, and costs shall in no case be deducted from the fine fixed by law or imposed by the court, but shall be taxed against the defendant in addition to the fine and separately stated on the docket of the court.

All fines are pledged to educational purposes by Const., sec. 355.

Accused was convicted and fined, with the proviso that in default of payment he should be imprisoned at the rate of one day for each two dollars thereof. An appeal was taken, and the stipulation between counsel for accused and the district attorney showed that the accused paid the fine under protest; that it was held by the clerk pending the outcome of the appeal, and that the district attorney was willing to permit accused to have his full rights on appeal, and the money returned if the appeal resulted in his favor. It was held that neither the clerk nor anyone else had any power to make any disposition of the fine other than that provided by statute, and the arrangement made was void, and, since accused was at liberty without bail, the judgment for the fine could only be treated as paid. State v. Pray, 30 Nev. 206, 219 (94 P. 218).

7464. Costs collected as in civil cases.

SEC. 614. Judgment for costs shall be entered against the defendant, to be collected as judgments in civil cases.

Concerning executions in district courts, see sec. 5280, et seq., and in justice courts, sec. 5783, et seq.

7465. Fees allowed recovered as costs.

SEC. 615. The fees allowed to justices of the peace, and other officers having the jurisdiction and authority of justices of the peace, clerks, peace officers, and district attorneys, shall, when the defendant is convicted, be considered and recovered against him as costs in the suit, and be collected in like manner as costs in civil cases.

Under former act it was held, relator could be imprisoned for the fine, the judgment for costs could only be enforced by execution. State ex rel. Quinn v. District Court, 16 Nev. 76, 77.

7466. Removal of criminal action before trial—Costs.

SEC. 616. In every case where a criminal action may have been or shall be removed before trial, the cost accruing upon such removal and trial shall be a charge against the county in which the cause of indictment occurred.

Where a criminal case is transferred from one county to another, the former is liable for all costs and expenses incurred in the trial of said cause, and it cannot complain of any mere irregularity in the mode of paying the expenses in the first instance, by the latter county (Beatty, J., dissenting, in part). Washoe Co. v. Humboldt Co., 14 Nev. 123, 126, 135, 138.

A county from which the cause was transferred has the right to show that the services charged for were never rendered or that the fees charged are unauthorized by the statute. Idem.

7467. Idem—Clerk to certify account to auditor.

SEC. 617. The clerk of the county to which such action is or may be removed, shall certify the amount of said costs to the auditor of the county in which the indictment was found, which shall be examined, allowed and paid as other county charges.

Where the expenses of a criminal trial have been properly audited in the county where the trial was had, it is unnecessary to have the same claims verified and presented as unaudited accounts to the commissioners of the county from which the cause was transferred (Beatty, J., dissenting). Washoe Co. v. Humboldt Co., 14 Nev. 124, 138.

7468. Superseding of criminal statute no bar to crime committed unless provided in act.

SEC. 618. The superseding of any law creating a criminal offense, shall not be held to constitute a bar to the indictment and punishment of a crime already committed, or to bar the trial and punishment of a crime where an indictment has been already found, in violation of the law so superseded, unless the intention to bar such indictment and punishment, or trial and punishment where an indictment has been already found, is expressly declared in the superseding act.

7469. No judgment to be set aside except for material error.

SEC. 619. No judgment shall be set aside, or new trial granted, in any case on the ground of misdirection of the jury or the improper admission or rejection of evidence, or for error as to any matter or pleading or procedure, unless in the opinion of the court to which application is made, after an examination of the entire case, it shall appear that the error complained of has resulted in a miscarriage of justice, or has actually prejudiced the defendant, in respect to a substantial right.

See sec. 7302.

HISTORY: This section contains substantially the provisions of section 589 of the act to regulate proceedings in criminal cases, approved November 26, 1861, which is superseded by the present act, and the more recent recommendation of the American Bar Association.

See secs. 7060, 7296, 7302, 7414.

The filing of a verdict by the clerk instead of recording it before he reads it to the jury will not invalidate it when it is not claimed that the defendant was injured thereby or that the verdict was not the one upon which judgment was pronounced. State v. Depoister, 21 Nev. 108, 118 (25 P. 1000).

Cited and explained, State v. Smith, 34 Nev. — (117 P. 19).

Error in admitting evidence of a fact which was apparently conceded, and to which other witnesses testified, was harmless to accused. Idem.

No error in criminal proceedings should render them invalid, unless it actually prejudices accused in a substantial right. Idem.

Errors which do not prejudice the accused are not ground for setting aside conviction. State v. Williams, 28 Nev. 421; State v. Smith, 34 Nev. — (117 P. 19).

The act of 1867, 124, sec. 13, was cited as follows: An action for malicious mischief does not involve any question of title or right of possession to real estate. State v. Rising, 10 Nev. 97, 103, 104.

In an action for trespass the plaintiff's right to compensation depends wholly upon his right to the property and not at all upon the motives of the defendant; and in an action for malicious mischief the guilt of the defendant depends not at all upon his right to the property, as against one in adverse possession, but wholly upon his motive. Idem.

Justices of the peace have jurisdiction to try an action for malicious injury to real estate in cases where the defendant claims an adverse title to the property. Idem.

7471. Requisites of complaint.

SEC. 621. All proceedings and actions before a justice's court, for a public offense, of which said courts have jurisdiction, shall be commenced by complaint setting forth the offense charged, with such particulars of

If he does not give his right name, he is thereafter precluded from making any objections on the ground that he is not designated by his right name. There are four kinds of pleas to a complaint: A plea of:

1. Guilty;
2. Not guilty;
3. A former judgment of conviction or acquittal of the offense charged, which may be pleaded either with or without the plea of not guilty;

4. Once in jeopardy, which may be pleaded with or without the plea of not guilty.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1429; N. D., 6753; Utah, 5129.

The jury shall be summoned upon an order of the justice, from the citizens of the city, precinct or township, and not from the bystanders. If a sufficient number of competent and qualified jurors do not attend, the justice shall direct others to be summoned from the vicinity, and not from the bystanders, sufficient to complete the jury.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1435.

A defendant indicted for a misdemeanor may be tried by a jury of eleven men, if he consents to such a jury, and his consent is not a waiver of a jury trial. State v. Borowsky, 11 Nev. 119, 127.

7484. Challenge to jurors same as misdemeanor—Tried by court.

SEC. 634. The same challenges may be taken by either party to the panel of jurors, or to any individual juror, as may be taken on the trial of an indictment for a misdemeanor; but the challenge shall in all cases be tried by the court.

See sec. 7129, et seq.

7485. Oath of jurors.

SEC. 635. The court shall administer to the jury the following oath or affirmation: "You do swear (or affirm, as the case may be), that you will well and truly try this issue between the State of Nevada and A. B., the defendant, and a true verdict give according to the evidence."

Kerr, Pen. C., 1437.

The form of oath as prescribed should always be followed; its substance cannot be dispensed with. State v. Angelo, 18 Nev. 425, 428, 429 (4 P. 1080).

7486. Proofs delivered in public.

SEC. 636. After the jury are sworn, they must sit together and hear the proofs and allegations of the parties, which must be delivered in public, and in the presence of the defendant.

SEC. 638. After hearing the proofs and allegations, the jury may decide in court, or may retire for consideration. If they do not immediately agree, an officer must be sworn to the following effect: "You do swear that you will keep this jury together, in some private and convenient place; that you will not permit any person to speak to them, nor speak to them yourself, unless it be to ask them whether they have agreed upon a verdict; and that you will return them into court when they have so agreed."

Kerr, Pen. C., 1440.

7489. Delivery of verdict—Entry in minutes.

7490. Form of verdict.

SEC. 640. The verdict of a jury on a plea of not guilty must be to the effect that the jury find the defendant "guilty," or "not guilty," as the case may be. On any other plea, the verdict must be "for the state" or "for the defendant."

7491. Several defendants, verdict as to less than all—Judgment.

SEC. 641. When several defendants are tried together, if the jury cannot agree upon a verdict as to all, they may render a verdict as to those in regard to whom they do agree, on which a judgment shall be entered accordingly, and the case as to the rest may be tried by another jury.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1442.

7492. Jury not to be discharged until verdict reached or court orders.

SEC. 642. The jury shall not be discharged after the cause is submitted to them, until they have agreed upon and rendered their verdict, unless for good cause the court sooner discharge them.

7493. Idem—Case retried.

SEC. 643. If the jury be discharged, as provided in the last section, the court may proceed again to the trial, in the same manner as upon the first trial; and so on, until a verdict be rendered.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1444.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1450.

7495. Grounds for new trial.

SEC. 645. A new trial can be granted only in the following cases:

1. If the trial has been had in the absence of the defendant, unless he voluntarily absent himself, with full knowledge that a trial is being had;
2. When the jury has received any evidence out of court;
3. When the jury has separated without leave of the court, after retiring to deliberate upon their verdict, or been guilty of any misconduct tending to prevent a fair and due consideration of the case;
4. When the verdict has been decided by lot, or by any means other than a fair expression of opinion on the part of all the jurors;
5. When there has been error in the decision of the court, given on any question of law arising during the course of the trial;
6. When the verdict is contrary to law or evidence; but not more than one new trial shall be granted for this cause alone.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1451.

verdict is rendered, unless the defendant waives the postponement, or the judgment is arrested, or a new trial granted. If postponed, the court may hold the defendant to bail to appear for judgment. Unless such postponement is demanded, it shall be deemed to be waived.

Where a defendant after conviction escaped and could not be produced on the day fixed for sentence, and sentence was thereupon postponed until such time as he could be produced; and being produced at a subsequent term he objected that at the expiration of the former term the court lost all jurisdiction of the cause and could not afterwards render any judgment, it was held that the objection was frivolous. State v. Pierce, 8 Nev. 291, 297.

The statutory requirement that a day be fixed for sentence is for the benefit of the convicted person; and if he by escape deprives himself thereof, he cannot complain of being sentenced at any day of any term of court thereafter. Idem.

7499. Judgment rendered for fine and imprisonment or costs.

SEC. 649. When the defendant pleads guilty, or is convicted, either by the court or by a jury, the court shall render judgment thereon of fine and imprisonment, or both, with or without costs.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1445.

Relators were found guilty of assault and battery, fined in the sum of $100 each and "the costs of this action." It was held that this was only judgment for the amount of the fine; that the judgment relating to costs, the amount not being stated, was surplusage and nugatory. State ex rel. Burbank v. Jameson, 13 Nev. 429, 430.

7500. Imprisonment in lieu of fine may be directed in judgment.

SEC. 650. A judgment that the defendant pay a fine may also direct that he be imprisoned until the fine be paid or satisfied, at the rate of one day for each two dollars of such fine.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1446.

7501. Acquittal—Malicious prosecution—Prosecutor to pay costs—Undertaking.

SEC. 651. When the defendant is acquitted, either by the court or by the jury, he shall be immediately discharged, and if the court certify in the minutes that the prosecution was malicious, or without probable cause, it may order the prosecutor to pay the costs of the action, or to give satisfactory security by a written undertaking, with one or more sureties, to pay the same to the county within thirty days after the trial.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1447.

7502. Judgment of costs against prosecutor may be entered.

SEC. 652. If the prosecutor does not pay the costs, or give security therefor, as provided in the last section, the court may enter judgment against him for the amount thereof, which may be enforced in all respects in the same manner as a judgment rendered in a civil action.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1448.

7503. Fine without imprisonment—Execution.

SEC. 653. A judgment which imposes a fine without directing that the defendant be imprisoned until the same is satisfied may be enforced in the same manner as a judgment in a civil action, and execution shall issue accordingly.

fine only, and the defendant is not detained for any other legal cause, he must be discharged as soon as the judgment is given.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1454.

7506. Imprisonment until fine paid—Defendant to be held.

SEC. 656. When a judgment is entered imposing a fine and ordering the defendant to be imprisoned until the fine is paid, he shall be held in custody during the time specified in the judgment, unless the fine be sooner paid, and execution may issue for the collection of said judgment, the same as in civil cases.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1456.

7507. Judgment of imprisonment, how executed.

SEC. 657. A judgment of imprisonment must be executed by delivering the defendant into the custody of the sheriff or other officer in charge of the county jail. A copy of the judgment, duly certified by the justice, is a sufficient warrant for the doing of every act necessary or proper in the due execution thereof. The officer shall, upon discharging the defendant, return such copy to the justice, with an account of his doings indorsed thereon, and must at the same time pay over to the justice all money which he may have received from the defendant in payment of the fine.

7508. Fines to be paid into county treasury.

SEC. 658. When a fine is paid or bail is forfeited, the justice must pay the same to the county treasurer within thirty days thereafter.

Cited, State ex rel. Quinn v. District Court, 16 Nev. 77.

7510. Forfeiture of deposit.

SEC. 660. If a defendant is discharged on bail, or has deposited money instead thereof, and fails to appear according to his undertaking, the same shall be forfeited, or the money appropriated in like manner as in the district court.

Kerr, Pen. C., 1458.

7511. Failure to appear, procedure.

SEC. 661. In case of failure to appear for judgment, the court must issue a warrant for the arrest of the defendant, and shall enter judgment whenever the defendant appears, or is brought before it.

APPEAL

7512. Appeal must be taken within ten days.

SEC. 662. Any defendant in a criminal action tried before a justice of the peace may appeal from the final judgment therein to the district court of the county where the court of such justice is held, at any time within ten days from the time of the rendition of the judgment.

7513. Appeal to district court—Bail—Trial in appellate court.

SEC. 663. The party intending to appeal must file with the justice, and serve upon the district attorney a notice entitled in the action, setting forth the character of the judgment, and the intention of the party to appeal therefrom to the district court. He may also, at any time thereafter, if he desire to be released from custody during the pendency of the appeal, or desire a stay of proceedings under the judgment until the appeal be disposed of, enter bail for the due prosecution of the appeal, the payment of any judgment, fine, and costs that may be awarded against him on the appeal, and for failure to prosecute the same, and for the rendering of himself in execution of the judgment appealed from, or of any judgment rendered against him in the action appealed from in the court to which the same is appealed.

7514. Justice to transmit papers on appeal and copy of docket.

SEC. 664. The justice must, within ten days after the notice of appeal is filed, transmit to the clerk of the district court all papers relating to the case and a certified copy of his docket.

N. D., 6786; Utah, 5163.

7515. Witness may be required to give bonds, or be conditionally examined.

SEC. 665. When an appeal is taken, the justice must, if application is made by the district attorney, cause all material witnesses on behalf of the prosecution to enter into an undertaking in like manner as in a case where a defendant is held to answer on a preliminary examination. And when it shall satisfactorily appear by examination on oath of the witness or any other person that the witness is unable to procure sureties, such witness may be forthwith conditionally examined on behalf of the state. Such examination must be by question and answer in the presence of the defendant or after notice to him, if on bail, and reduced to writing, and the witness must thereupon be discharged. The testimony as given, subscribed by the witness and duly certified to by the justice, may be read in evidence by the state, or by the defendant, upon any subsequent trial of the same case in the district court on appeal, upon it being satisfactorily shown that such witness is either dead, unable to attend, or out of the state.

N. D., 6785; Utah, 5164.

7516. Trial anew in district court—Dismissal of appeal.

SEC. 666. An appeal duly perfected transfers the action to the district court for trial anew. The appeal may be dismissed on either of the following grounds:

1. For failure to take the same in time;

Utah, 5165.

N. D., 6787; Utah, 5166.

7518. Defendant to plead anew, procedure.

SEC. 668. If the defendant does not object to the complaint for any of the causes above specified, or if his objections are overruled, he must be required to plead as to an indictment without regard to any plea entered before the justice. 7584. Idem—Warden to make rules—How posted and distributed.
7585. Commissioners to require labor—Schedule of credits allowed—How forfeited—Convict entitled to notice and hearing—Restoration.

7583. Warden to classify and separate prisoners—How graded—Clothing regulations.

SECTION 1. Immediately upon and after the completion of necessary arrangements therefor, it shall be the duty of the warden of the state prison to classify and separate the prisoners into three grades, as follows:

In the first grade shall be included those appearing to be corrigible or less vicious than the others, and likely to observe the laws and discipline of the prison and maintain themselves by honest industry after their discharge. In the second grade shall be included those appearing to be incorrigible or more vicious, but so competent to work and so reasonably obedient to prison discipline as not to seriously interfere with the productiveness of their labor, or of the labor of those with whom they may be employed. In the third grade shall be included those who are incorrigible or so insubordinate as to seriously interfere with the discipline of the prison or with the productiveness of its labor.

The prison garb or dress of the prisoners as above classified shall be as follows: The outer dress of those prisoners comprising the first grade shall be of one color throughout, said color to be selected by the state prison commission. Those prisoners comprising the second grade, as hereinbefore classified, shall be dressed in clothing of the regulation prison stripes. And the outer clothing of those prisoners comprising the third class shall be, trousers of the regulation stripes, but their shirt and coat shall be red in color.

7584. Idem—Warden to make rules—How posted and distributed.

SEC. 2. The warden shall also make and adopt rules for the separation and classification of prisoners for their promotion and reduction from one grade to another, and from time to time to change and amend the same as circumstances may require. In making such rules and regulations, the warden shall, as far as practicable, consistent with the discipline of the prison, adopt such rules as shall, in his judgment, be most conducive to the reformation of the convicts. A printed copy of the rules and regulations shall, with the approval of the prison commissioners, be furnished every officer and guard at the time he is appointed and sworn, and so much thereof as relates to the duties and obligations of the convicts shall be hung up in a conspicuous place in each cell and shop, and such rules shall, so far as practicable, be written or printed in a language known to the convict occupying the cell.

SEC. 3. The state board of prison commissioners shall require of every able-bodied convict confined in the state prison as many hours of faithful labor in each and every day during his term of imprisonment as shall be prescribed by the rules and regulations of the prison. Every convict who shall have no infraction of the rules and regulations of the prison, or laws of the state, recorded against him, and who performs in a faithful, orderly and peaceable manner the duties assigned to him, shall be allowed for his term, instead of and in lieu of the credits heretofore allowed by law, a deduction of two months in each of the first two years, four months in each of the next two years, and five months in each of the remaining years of said term, and pro rata for any part of a year where the sentence is for more or less than a year. The mode of reckoning credits shall be as shown in the following table:

SCHEDULE OF CREDITS

Number of years of sentence	Good time granted	Total good time made	Time to be served if full time is made
First year	2 months	2 months	10 months
Second year	2 months	4 months	1 year, 8 months
Third year	4 months	8 months	2 years, 4 months
Fourth year	4 months	1 year	3 years

Ninth year	5 months	3 years, 1 month	5 years, 11 months
Tenth year	5 months	3 years, 6 months	6 years, 5 months and so on through as many years as may be the term of the sentence. Each convict shall be entitled to these deductions unless the board of commissioners shall find that for misconduct or other cause reported by the warden he shall not receive them. But if any convict shall commit any assault upon his keeper or any foreman, officer, convict or person, or otherwise endanger life, or shall be guilty of any flagrant disregard of the rules of the prison, or commit any misdemeanor, or in any manner violate any of the rules and regulations of the prison, he shall forfeit all deductions of time earned by him for good conduct before the commission of such offense, or that under this section he may earn in the future, or shall forfeit such part of such deductions as to the prison commissioners may seem just; such forfeiture, however, shall be made only by the prison commissioners after due proof of the offense and notice to the offender; nor shall any forfeiture be imposed when the party has violated any rule without violence or evil intent, of which the commission shall be the sole judges. The commission shall have power to restore credits forfeited for such reasons as by them may seem proper.

See secs. 7580, 7581, 7600.

Stats. 1909, 98, providing for greater credits to prisoners for good behavior than were authorized by prior acts, is void so far as it attempts to commute any part of a sentence imposed prior to its passage, because it interferes with the functions of the judiciary. Ex Parte Woodburn, 32 Nev. 136 (104 P. 245).

Stats. 1887, 108, which forbid any county officer, except county commissioners, to contract for the payment or expenditure of any county moneys whatever, being expressed in negative terms, repealed this section, and left the sheriffs without authority to bind their counties by a contract for the board of prisoners. Where the statute authorizes the sheriff to employ a jailer and provides that he shall be allowed a fair and adequate monthly compensation for such services, the county commissioners have no authority to fix the compensation on a per diem basis and confine it to such times as prisoners were confined in the county jail. See secs. 7500, 7503, 7507.

On conviction of a felony, the sentence imposed was within the discretion vested in the district court as to the amount of the fine and the term of alternative imprisonment in the event that the fine was not paid, and was erroneous only in that it declared that such alternative imprisonment should be in the state prison, whereas, under the express provisions of this section, it should have declared that the same should be in the county jail. It was held that such direction as to the place of imprisonment might be rejected as surplusage, and did not vitiate the entire sentence. Ex Parte Tani, 29 Nev. 385, 386, 388, 389, 401, 13 L. R. A. (N. S.) 518, 91 P. 137.

3. No application for the remission of a fine or forfeiture, or for a commutation of sentence or pardon, shall be considered by the board unless presented in the form and manner required by the act of February 8, 1867, as amended February 20, 1875 (secs. 7625–7629); provided, that no application that has been filed with, or considered by, the board of parole commissioners at any session next preceding the regular meeting of the board of pardons shall be heard or considered by this board unless consent be given by a majority thereof.

6. Action by the board upon every case shall be in private, unless otherwise ordered by the consent of all the members present.

7. After a case has once been acted upon, and the relief asked for has been refused, it shall not, within twelve months thereafter, be again taken up or considered upon any of the grounds specified in the application under consideration, except by the consent of a majority of the members of the board; nor in any case except upon new and regular notice as required by law in case of original application.

Papers shall be filed separately, or attached before they are read in evidence, and shall not be withdrawn without the order of the board.

13. On behalf of an applicant for pardon who has been convicted of felony, evidence of facts relating to the commission of the crime other than that contained in the record may be presented only by witnesses, who know the circumstances, appearing and testifying under oath, or by depositions or affidavits, copies of which shall have been served upon the district judge and district attorney of the county in which the indictment was found, at least thirty days before the hearing, unless for good cause shown this time be shortened by the board.

See secs. 7625–7627.

APPENDIX C

Corresponding Sections of Former Nevada Compilations

Three previous compilations of the laws of Nevada have been issued by the State, namely:

"The Compiled Laws of the State of Nevada, embracing Statutes of 1861 to 1873, inclusive, published under authority of law, by M. S. Bonnifield and T. W. Healy, compilers, in two volumes; Carson City, Charles A. V. Putnam, State Printer, 1873." [Authorized by Acts of 1873, page 222.]

"The General Statutes of the State of Nevada, in force from 1861 to 1885, inclusive, with citations of the decisions of the Supreme Court relating thereto, arranged and annotated by Dav. E. Baily and John D. Hammond; Carson City, Josiah C. Harlow, Superintendent of State Printing, 1885." [Authorized by Acts of 1885, page 82.]

"The Compiled Laws of Nevada, in force from 1861 to 1900 (inclusive), with annotations from Volumes I to XXV, of the decisions of the Supreme Court of the State of Nevada, compiled and annotated by Henry C. Cutting of the Nevada Bar; Carson City, Nevada, Andrew Maute, Superintendent of State Printing, 1900." [Authorized by Acts of 1899, page 19.]

Many of the citations of statutes are made by reference to the various sections of the above compilations. For the convenience of those not possessing the same, tables are herewith appended containing a list of said section numbers, and set opposite the same is the corresponding section of the present compilation. In a number of instances, however, the section has been changed by amendment, and thereby made radically different from the former reading. The word "Repealed" after a section number indicates that such section has been repealed. The word "Suspended" following certain sections in the following tables refers to "An act for the relief of insolvent debtors and protection of creditors" (Stats. 1881, p. 124), the operation of which is suspended during the pendency of the national bankruptcy law. (See note, page 189, supra.)
